Welcome to You, Freshmen!

Welcome Freshmen! You are now embarking on a new course in life, leaving behind you only memories of your high school and grade school days. You are accepting a challenge to further your education in a land of democracy, where you have the freedom to live and work without permission from the government.

Make each year of your college career the best you can, not only in study, but in getting along with others. Friendship is one of the most important assets in a person's life, and he must not lose the opportunity of gaining new friends. By participating in extracurricular activities, one can make use of his talents and at the same time receive much help from these same activities. To develop a rounded personality, one must know his fellow man and acquire that wisdom through experience.

What does it mean to be a freshman? Homesickness, the realization that one is no longer a lordly senior — master of all knowledge, a complete change in way of life — yes. But it means more. It means opportunities unlimited.

One of the first things one should do in college is to discover what clubs and organizations are offered. Many of those opportunities lie there. Hinds has some of the best clubs and activities found on any junior college campus and these organizations are seeking new members to carry on their traditions and their contributions to you and to society. No matter what your future career will be, there are enough clubs for you to join one or two.

Many times these hobbies or extra-curricular activities have developed into full time careers.

There are many other opportunities at Hinds if one seeks them out. One way to discover them is to familiarize oneself with his surroundings. Hinds is a big enterprise.

Located across the highway from the campus is a cold storage plant that handles an unbelievable amount of produce and meat. It also provides the college cafeteria with fresh meat and quick-frozen produce.

The school farm is composed of 539 acres, some located just across the highway, some at the airport. These acres provide food and a laboratory for agriculture students.

That airport is another item. Recently constructed hangars and administration building make it one of the best in this section. It boasts all direction runways so that planes may take off and land no matter which way the wind blows.

The vocational trades training department offers some 15 full time trades training programs — one of the best such departments in the South, government and state officials say.

Located on the campus is a 36-acre lake — the scene of many outdoor parties. It's just over the hill from the big barn.

These aren't all. All the advantages and opportunities at Hinds would take a huge book. Don't pass up half of your college opportunities. Be a part of Hinds and let Hinds be a part of you.

—Wadsworth.

Thought For The Week . . .

We face the 1952-53 session with much enthusiasm. We are looking forward to having one of the finest school years ever, and we earnestly solicit your cooperation and suggestions in making it such. Our hopes are anchored in our students who make Hinds Junior College what it is.

'Beat Hinds' Is Motto at Wesson As Wolves Prep for Eagle Invasion

"Beat Hinds" is the cry at Wesson as the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves and the Co-Lin student body prepare for the invasion of the Hinds Eagles there Saturday night for this week's most outstanding junior college game.

It will be Wesson's first home game, and the Wolves will be out to hand the Eagles a setback, since Hinds and Wesson have become strong rivals through the past years in football and basketball.

Both Hinds and Wesson will be going into the game with one-sided victories behind them. Hinds defeated the Northwest Rangers here 40-0 in a touchdown parade of backfield stars. Wesson's Wolves tossed the Southwest Bears of Summit for a 25-0 loss on Summit's own field.

The Wolves and the Eagles are both fielding the smallest squads ever to represent the colleges, from the standpoint of numbers, but both teams showed Saturday night that every member on the squads is an effective player.

In the Senatobia game, Hinds' fast backfield was spearheaded by several flashy backs — Larry Troxler, Bob Smith, Freddy Knight, and Deryl Burr; while the line featured such stars as Earl Leggett, J. B. Middleton, Durwood Graham, Charles Dees, and Donald Soileau, who broke up the Ranger's ground and air offense and knocked holes through the Rangers' line.

In the Summit-Wesson game, Wesson's quarterback, Warren Harper, was responsible for two touchdowns as well as the game strategy.

One touchdown each was racked up by Carl Grenn and Jim Norton.

In the game the Wolves displayed a strong and variable offensive backfield, led by Leroy Bullock, halfback, set up several of the touchdown plays with long runs into scoring territory.

Pass receivers for the Wolves are their two ends, Charlie King and Cedric Couch, both of whom snagged long ones in Saturday's game.

A spectacular half-time show featuring the Hinds Hi-Steppers and the Co-Lin Colettes is also scheduled. The Hinds group will present the blacklight show seen here Saturday night, "Cavalcade of Mississippi."

Transportation to the game for students and faculty members is being arranged.

WALLACE CHIMERS SLATED AS FIRST LYCEUM NUMBER AT THURSDAY ASSEMBLY

Baby Eagles Lose To Florence, 12-6

A large crowd looking for an easy home victory got a rude surprise at Florence High, Friday night as the Hinds Baby Eagles held the strong Florence Eagles down to a 6-6 halftime tie, and then lost 12-6 after a fourth period threat.

Starters for Hinds included Billy Bateman, RE; Ralph Butts, RT; Garth Guy, RG; Terry Worrell, C; Bobby Boyd, LG; John Broome, LT; Melvin Lancaster, LE; Billy Conlee, QB; Jerry Smith, LHB; Gerald Chapman, RHB; and Tommy Lee Foster, FB.

The starting 11 played most of the game with some substitution on defense. Substitutes include Joseph Cox, Hugh Gillespie III, Marian Akin, Melvin White, Hugh Saxton, and Franklin Russell.

Billy Conlee and Jerry Smith are co-captains of the Baby Eagles.

Hinds Eagles Romp Over Rangers 40-0 to Win First Game of Season

Behind the scampering of a speedy backfield, the Hinds Junior College Eagles rolled over the Northwest Rangers here Saturday night by a 40-0 score, despite all Ranger efforts to halt the touchdown parade.

The game was remarkably free of first downs, with the Eagles scoring eight and the Rangers four. Too, it was almost free of flag dropping as both sides avoided off-sides penalties.

Assisting the Eagles' scoring was a strong run of luck against Senatobia. Twice the Rangers set up touchdowns for the Eagles with fumbles deep in their own territory.

The first Hinds score came when Bob Smith went off tackle all the way from the Hinds 21, and Bill Graham added the extra point.

The kick off after touchdown brought the first Senatobia hard luck. Thomas Jeffers of the Rangers took the kick-off just before the Rangers' goal line and dropped it. Freddy Knight of Hinds covered the ball behind the line, and Graham added another point to bring the Eagles to a 14-0 lead.

The third Hinds score came just as the quarter ended, when Larry Troxler went around end from the Hinds 39 to score. The attempt for extra point was broken up by a fumble on the snapback.

Bill Graham went off tackle to the Senatobia 33 to set up the next play for Troxler, who went off tackle to score. The kick for point was low.

Charles Dees covered a Senatobia fumble one play after the kick-off on the Ranger's 9. Bob Smith carried it to the 4, where Troxler hurdled the opposing line to score. The kick for point was good.

The third quarter was scoreless with both sides playing good defensive ball, and the Rangers taking to the air.

The final Hinds score came in the beginning of the fourth quarter when Deryl Burr went from the Senatobia 20 to score and Graham added the point.

STUDENT BODY NAMES SEVEN CHEERLEADERS BY POPULAR APPLAUSE

Three boys and four girls were elected cheerleaders last week for the football season after tryouts in the auditorium, Tuesday.

"What do you mean by 'in-between age?'"

"In-between eager and desperate."

Field trips to familiarize students with the actual operation of commercial equipment are a regular feature of the vocational training in this course.

Larry Derryberry as Stanley; Mar-Dungan as Hugo Longacre; Frank Polk as Mr. Wadsworth; Dixie Durbin as Miss Audubon; Peggy Ainsworth as Elsie; Cathryn Green as Elaine; Nancy Arnold as Jane; Shirley Patrick as Sylvia; Mary Dann Stampley as Doris; Eva Lou Williams as Marge; Martha Ann Duke as Faity; Billy Jean Barnett as Rhonda; Bob Harleston as Ted; Larry Deeryberry as Stanley; Marion Ponder as Martin; and Norma Short as Mrs. Allen.

Virginia Barham is prompter and assistant to the director.

No date has been set for the play yet, but Mr. Hart hopes to have it ready in the early part of November.

According to the summary of the play, carried in the play booklets:

"Someone like Miss Brooks has a part in everyone's life. She's a most human and delightful English teacher, and whether she likes it or not, is involved in almost everything that goes on at school. The students love her but take every advantage of her.

"The parents and members of the community behave as though they owned her twenty-four hours of the day. With all its fast-paced action, humorous lines, and hilarious situations, this play has an underlying sweetness and a special meaning for both cast and audience."

HI-STEPPERS SHOW BASED ON SEASONS

With fall already around the corner, the Hinds Band and Hi-Steppers will present a half-time show concerning the four seasons at the Hinds-Pearl River football game Saturday night.

The 22 girls of the precision drill and dance team will dance to music played by the band which will represent fall, winter, spring, and summer.

PRIMARY BAND NOW OFFERED

Beginning band, for students who have not had previous experience with musical instruments, is being offered at Hinds this year, beginning Monday, September 29, according to Mr. W. S. Swinney, band director.

Students interested in taking the band work are asked to contact Mr. Swinney before Monday so that schedules may be arranged.

Good Sportsmanship Counts

The Eagles have done it again. Saturday night marked their second victory for the season, but we hope they continue their winning streak. Those coaches knew what they were doing when they picked Hinds for first place.

But the next games will not be easy. We've a tough contender this weekend and the game will be a close one. Hinds and Pearl River are two of the top teams of the J. C. circuit. Those Wildcats won't let Hinds get away with a victory without a good struggle.

Co-Lin had a good cheering section the other night. They were really anticipating a victory and showed it from the start. Sometimes when you get over anxious things are bound to go wrong, and they did—for Wesson. In friendly rivalry you shouldn't go overboard as they did. Hinds students who saw the signs: "Hate Hinds," could see the Wolves were really out to get our team. Sounded more like they were fighting for blood.

The halftime show must have been amusing to the Co-Lin students. Perhaps they thought we were putting on a black-out show. Guess it was mighty easy to handle those lights, especially if you were cheering for the home team. What they didn't know was that the lights were supposed to have been kept on, because it takes seven minutes for them to reach their intensity so the costumes will show up. Some guy switched the lights off when they should have stayed on.

We students have seen the show and know it's good. If the Co-Lin people would like to see our Hi-Steppers in action, they can attend some of our games. They have done exceptionally well since their organization a year ago, and as the months pass, they'll improve and perhaps be the most outstanding precision drill team in Mississippi and in parts of the South.

Let's all back our team up this Saturday night and the rest of the year. You'll feel proud if Hinds defeats all the junior colleges and comes out on top.

It's Your Grill

Hinds Junior College has one of the best campus grills in the South. It surpasses most of those in even our leading state senior colleges. Students at Hinds have something to be proud of in the Eagles' Nest.

However, it's up to the students—that is, you—to keep it that way.

Several things will help in that respect. They are things that our students "in the know" already know, but some of our newer students haven't learned yet. For their benefit we're calling them to public attention.

1. Don't put your feet on the seats.
2. Don't take bottles from the grill.
3. Don't throw paper on the floor.
4. Return your empties to the counter.
5. Use the ashtrays, not the floor, for your cigarettes.
6. Treat the grill furniture and fixtures as you would that in your own home.

We'd like for those students coming after you to enjoy a nice grill, too.

According to Mr. E. E. Morris, should students not cooperate in keeping the grill, "We shall be compelled to resort to a more restricted use of the grill."

HJC Students Have Wide Choice Of Campus Clubs, Organizations

Students at Hinds are offered a wide variety of extracurricular activities, clubs, and organizations, in addition to the regular schedule of study. These organizations, managed by students under faculty guidance, afford ample opportunities for growth in character, citizenship, leadership, and social poise.

There are four religious organizations cooperating with the local churches, and carrying on a regular program of work on the campus. These groups meet on Sunday night at 7:15, with the exception of the Catholic Youth Organization, which meets on Wednesday nights. The Baptist Student Union, the Westminster Fellowship, and the Wesley Foundation provide inspirational devotionals during the week as well as social services and the opportunity of attending various conferences.

The Y. W. C. A. or Young Women's Christian Association is open to all dormitory girls in the college, and sponsors a number of social and religious activities on the campus. Regular meeting nights are on the second Monday and fourth Wednesday.

The male counterpart of the "Y" is the Y. M. C. A. open to all college men. Its chief purposes are sponsoring social and religious activities on the campus and training young men in religious work. The group meets the second Wednesday at activity period and the fourth Wednesday night of the month.

The Y-Teens is an organization for high school girls. The theme of the program centers around personal and social living. This club meets Wednesday at activity period.

Also meeting on Wednesday at activity period is the Hi-Y for high school boys. The purposes of this club are similar to the Y-Teens.

The only scholastic society for junior colleges at Hinds is the Phi Theta Kappa, which meets once a month. Students whose grades rank in the upper ten per cent of the college enrollment and who receive the unqualified nomination of the faculty, are invited to join.

Sponsored by the Social Science Department is the International Relations Club. Its purposes are to give the opportunity for students to study and express themselves on the international subjects of the day. Membership is limited and only by invitation can a student be in the I. R. C. Thursdays are set aside for the meetings.

The Glee Club is open to anyone who is interested in singing, whether as a hobby or a career. Those who wish to join are requested to see the music director, as to the time of meeting.

Anyone wishing to join the Debating Club, which gives students an opportunity to take part in inter-class and inter-collegiate debating is requested to see the sponsor, Miss Ruth Boyd.

Provision is made for members of the 4-H Club to carry on their work while at Hinds. Regular meetings are held on the campus and are under the supervision of the county agents.

Those who have special interest in the teaching profession may join the Future Teachers of America, which meets on Fridays. Membership in the national organization may be obtained through this activity. Its purpose is to familiarize the student with this particular profession.

Another club with a limited membership is the Gaveliers, which meets at the regular activity period once each week.

College home economic students may join the Lamplighters Club, which has as its purpose the furthering of home economics in the personal and community relationships of everyday life.

For high school girls taking home economics, the Seventeen and Modern Miss Clubs help to prepare them for worthy home membership.

Students who take Vocational Agriculture are eligible to join the Future Farmers of America, which is a national organization for high school agricultural students. To develop aggressive rural leadership and a better knowledge of farm life are the two chief purposes.

The HINDSONIAN, the weekly newspaper, is published by students who win places on the staff after a period of try-outs. This organization affords opportunity for expression of student opinion and for exchange of campus news with other schools.

The EAGLE, Hinds yearbook, has positions open for both high school and college students.

The annual attempts to present a pictorial history of each school year, and positions on it, too, are won after a period of try-outs.

For both college and high school students, there is a Dramatic Club. Members of these groups have a chance to take part in the publicity, costuming, acting, and staging of the plays.

Displaying her wedding gifts, the bride came to one from the groom's Army buddy. "I just adore these personalized gifts," she said. "We received towels and washcloths with HIS and HERS on them, but," she blushed, "this is even more personal."

And she help up an olive-drab blanket with the letters US stamped in the middle.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

Let us pause for a moment to meditate on the great heritage which is ours: freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of worship, and freedom of public assembly. Let us cherish these freedoms, protect them, use them to the best of our ability for the betterment of society as a whole, and may we never abuse them!

'Search for a Hero' Brings Praise For Former Hinds Student, Phillips

SEARCH FOR A HERO

THOMAS HAL PHILLIPS

Did you know that the author of Search For A Hero is a graduate of Hinds Junior College? Did you know that this is his third published novel? The other two are: The Bitterweed Path and The Golden Lie.

We were proud of Hal before he became nationally famous and are now doubly proud to find him approved by the critics in such publications as TIME, April 30, 1951; New York Times Review, April 29, 1951; and Saturday Review Of Literature, June 2, 1951.

Hal is a graduate of Mississippi State College and of the University of Alabama, where he was one of fourteen to be selected out of 1400 applicants to study creative writing under Hudson Strode.

He later taught creative writing at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Texas, and spent one year in France as a Fulbright Scholar. He was one of the fifteen Southern writers who appeared as lecturers at the Literary Institute of Southern Writers presented at Millsaps last winter.

Those who are interested in young people who are ambitious and who are willing to overcome obstacles in order to win their goals will be interested in Search For A Hero.

The father wanted his sons to be football heroes. In this Don's twin brothers were more successful than he was. You will like to read about Don's experience working in a small store, and in his finally getting out on his own. At the end of the story, Don receives a hero's rating. The story of his home coming is gripping.

Hal's experience as a Naval Officer is probably the background for Part Three—"Josef the Tailor," and Part Four, "Music of the Dead." Here he presents both the light and the serious sides of life at sea—including the stealing of the captain's false teeth.

Search For A Hero is so written that none of it is easily skipped, and it would be spoiled by summarizing.

There are many good spots such as:

"All I heard was new time growing old."

"You must never love just part of something."

"Somewhere, something had gone wrong with Mama — bad wrong; maybe she knew what it was, but no one would ever find it out from her lips."

"We felt ourselves a part of something that would last forever even if we ourselves did not endure."

"I was the first to finish. I had not yet learned that one should never be first."

Who knows how many of our present students will receive national praise?

Co-Lin Wolves Fail to Bury Eagles As Hinds Takes Second Game 21-13

By BOB HARLESTON

Spotting the Co-Lin Wolves seven points, the Hinds Eagles refused to be buried Saturday night, and came back to rip the Wolves 21-13 on their own field in a game that drew more rivalry and strong feelings than Hinds has encountered in recent years.

The Wolves drew first blood after five minutes had elapsed in the first quarter. A bad pass from center on the fourth down was the factor in their scoring. The ball was recovered on the two yard line for the Wolves, and after one attempt Wesson scored and made the extra point, which put them in the lead, 7-0.

In the second quarter the Eagles tied the score with Byron O'Quinn's pass to Bob Smith, who took the ball forty yards for a touchdown. Bill Graham made the extra point.

After a series of plays the Eagles pulled ahead in the game, and with Smith scoring again and Graham making the conversion, Hinds pushed the score up seven more points.

In the last of the second quarter, Co-Lin pulled within one point of the Eagles score when an end slipped behind the Eagle defenders and took a pass from Quarterback Warren Harper. The try for the extra point was a failure and Hinds still led by one point. The lights on the playing field went out for ten minutes and shortly after they came on the half ended. The Eagles were ahead 14-13.

Midway in the third quarter Hinds' Larry Troxler, 150 pound halfback, scored again, taking the ball from the two yard line. Graham's conversion was good and the Eagles ran the score up to 21 points.

The Wolves came back, trying to score again; but the strong Eagle line held. In the closing minutes of the game the Wolfpack had the ball, but their passes fell incomplete as Derl Burr, Freddy Knight, Dan DuBose, and Jack Bass broke them up.

Due to the shortage of players, Coaches DeVall and Renfro had the boys playing more than one position during the game. When the final whistle blew, the score was Hinds 21 - Co-Lin 13.

These five Eagles have scored 61 points for Hinds Junior College. For details read the adjoining columns. Larry Troxler is leading the scoring parade with 24 points, while Bob Smith is second with 18.

Top-Ranking Junior College Game Matches Eagles, Pearl River 'Cats

Top game of the junior college circuit this week will feature the Hinds Junior College Eagles of Raymond against the Pearl River Wildcats of Poplarville, pre-season candidates for championship honors.

This game, with the flashy half-time show planned by the Hinds Hi-Steppers and Eagle Band, is expected to draw a capacity crowd to the Eagle stadium when the whistle blows at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

Both the Eagles and the Wildcats are going into the game with two victories behind them. Hinds defeated Northwest of Senatobia 40-0 in the season's opener, then trounced a determined Copiah-Lincoln of Wesson 21-13.

The game promises to shape up into a backfield battle, featuring two of the year's best backfield groups. Hinds sports Larry Troxler, Bob Smith, Bill Graham, Freddy Knight, and Derl Burr; while Pearl River's Wildcats will be spearheaded by Bill Mitchell, Alton Shell, and Ralph Mays.

For Hinds Larry Troxler, 150-pound halfback, has turned in four touchdowns for the Eagles in two games; while Bob Smith, Florence flash, has crossed the line three times. Freddy Knight of Hattiesburg and Derl Burr both have added one to the Eagles' scores.

Chief ground gainer for the Eagles has been Bill Graham, 180 pound fullback, who has brought the ball to scoring territory several times. In addition he is extra-point specialist for the Eagles and has made seven of eight attempted conversions. The one he missed was one he attempted from an extra five yards out after a "delaying" penalty.

For the Wildcats, Bill Mitchell, a Poplarville native, has scored three touchdowns on short runs. Alton Shell and Ralph Mays, both 160-pound left halfbacks, have added two each. Both of Mays' were made on passes thrown by Quarterback Robert Morris.

In the Wesson battle, Coach DeVall had high praise for his smaller squad, and both he and the team singled out Donald Soileau, who played the whole game except two plays. During the game he played at both tackle and both guard positions.

Hinds Baby Eagles Open Home Play Meeting Undeclared Utica Eleven

Arch rivals, the Hinds High Baby Eagles and the Utica eleven, tangle here Friday night, when the Eagles open their home season after two close defeats on the road.

The Utica squad will be coming here undefeated, having beaten both Redwood and Wesson High in their first two games. The Baby Eagles have lost to Puckett and Florence by single touchdown margins.

With the addition of Ray Boyd, last year's co-captain, to the backfield, though, Coach Louis Boteler declares that he believes his squad can now meet almost any comparable squad on even terms and give them a rough go of it. Boyd has been out since an operation.

Other standouts in the backfield are Billy Conlee, Jerry Smith, Gerald Chapman, and Tommy Lee Foster.

Expected to add much to the Eagles' power is a reserve squad of Franklin Russell, Melvin White, Hugh Gillespie III, Cameron Ferguson, Hugh Saxton, Frankie Kynard, Carlos Zacarias, Joseph Cox, Tom Keith, and Willard Johnsonson.

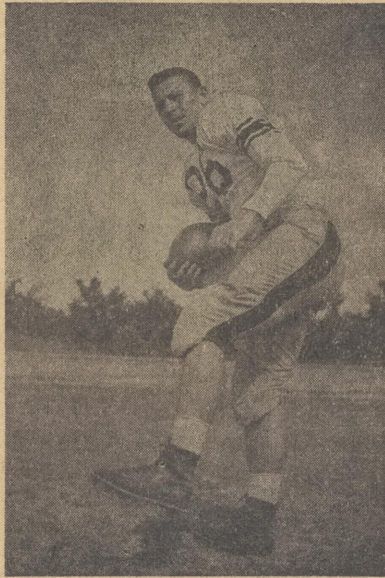

"We're expecting a hard game, but we've been pointing for Utica," Coach Boteler summarizes.

HINDS FROSH TALK TRAITS

"What About My College Record?" was the theme of the freshman class meeting Monday at activity period. Booklets emphasizing the desirable traits of college students were given to all freshmen students, and some of these traits were discussed.

The mistress of the house was sympathizing with her maid. "So your married life was a failure, Chloe? What was it, a case of December wedded to May?"

"Lan' sakes, no, mum!" was the hasty reply. "It was jest a case of Labor Day wedded to the Day of Rest."

Let's Make It Another

Another game, another victory—or so we hope to say. The Eagles face Perk Saturday night and we want it to be another win. The Hinds team showed improvement in their playing and with hard workout this week they ought to be even stronger.

Pearl River had a large crowd of fans cheering Saturday night, and possibly most of them were from Poplarville. If we could have a large attendance at our out-of-town games, we certainly could show the opposing teams we were out to win. The school offers transportation to all the games, and the price is so low, all students can afford to take the opportunity, and the ride.

New Bible Revision Now On Sale

The Revised Standard Version of the Holy Bible went on record yesterday as history's greatest publishing project. There are 825,000 copies of the first edition of this new revision as well as 50,000 two-volume Old Testaments.

This first revision in 51 years was undertaken by a select group of Protestants, representing 40 religious denominations in the United States and Canada, who worked more than 15 years poring through old manuscripts, to translate the scriptures into the modern language of today. Also many of the errors and inaccuracies of the King James version have been corrected.

The New Testament section was published in 1946, but the original texts of the Old Testament were not completed until October, 1951.

Some of the discoveries that the translators found were:

The finding of the Chester Beatty papyri in 1931—fragments of eight Old Testament manuscripts, three New Testament manuscripts, and one containing part of the Book of Enoch. They were Third Century copies of Biblical texts.

The discovery by Syrian shepherds in 1947, in a cave by the Dead Sea, of manuscripts of Isaiah and Habakkuk, along with fragments of other books, probably written about the time of Christ.

Obsolete and archaic words in the King James version that have changed their meaning today, were the main problems confronting the revision committee.

The greatest problem, however, arose with words and phrases whose meanings have undergone change since 1611. For example: "Prevent" in the King James version was used to mean "precede," "take no thought" for "be not anxious," and "ghost" for "spirit."

Heading the board of 32 scholars as chairman was Dr. Luther A. Wiegler, dean emeritus of Yale Divinity School. Each change in the text was subject to review by entire committee. The group also had the council of an advisory board representing the various cooperating Protestant denominations.

Take advantage of the new version of the Bible. Reading will be better, and understanding of the scriptures will be clearer.

HJC Storage Unit Being Remodeled To Up Capacity

Hinds Junior College's Cold Storage and Locker Plant, under the direction of Mr. Grady L. Sheffield, is undergoing a remodeling program and adding new equipment to improve services to the school and the county.

New equipment in the slaughter unit for hogs, will allow the plant to speed up the handling of hog slaughtering. New equipment in the meat curing department will allow more than one method of curing pork, and allow for holding more goods.

The plant is now handling the largest volume of beef in its history, Mr. Sheffield reports, attributing it to the slump in the beef market. People can save and maintain beef by putting it in storage.

The pork season this year, also, is expected to be heavy. The yearly average of pork handled at the plant is approximately 150,000 pounds; while the yearly average of beef is 100,000 pounds. The plant also processes a variety of other meats, principally poultry.

TWO LOST ARTICLES MAY BE RECLAIMED

Two students may reclaim lost articles by making application at the registrar's office, according to Miss Mildred Herrin.

One student lost a set of keys when hitch-hiking from Jackson to Vicksburg; while another student lost a serviceman's ring.

The set of keys may be secured by writing the Texan, while the ring may be claimed upon proper identification.

Boys In White Responsible Factor For Hinds Eagles' Potential Success

Though the Eagles count on the scoring power of their backfield and the strength of their line for defense, another big factor in the Eagles' potential success this season will be their three boys in white—Charlie Bennett, Buster Warren, and Raymond Tomlinson.

The three are responsible for a large amount of equipment, necessary for a full-scale athletic program; serve as a medical corps for the squad, and have a variety of other tasks.

The modern football player requires some 27 pieces of equipment in practice and game — including shoes, cleats (seven per shoe), socks, pants, jerseys, headgear, shoulder pads, hip pads, thigh pads, and knee pads. Full-dress games require a different set of pants and jerseys, since the boys do not practice in their new dress uniforms.

The laundrying of the socks, pants, and jerseys used in practice and games requires a number of hours of work.

Minor repairs on the various pads is necessary; as is a close check of shoes to keep them in top shape, lest some backfield star come up limping the night of the big game.

Charlie Bennett, dean of Hinds' managers, is from Jackson. A high school football star, he came to Hinds to try out for the Eagles but gave up the idea because of a bad leg. Manager last year, he has followed through this year, and is responsible for all equipment and for several other duties such as keeping the gymnasium and dressing rooms clean, lining off the playing field before games, making changes in program line-ups after issuing new jerseys, helping with first-aid, taping, or treatment of injuries.

Buster Warren, of Vicksburg, was another high school football team member. An extra point specialist, he helped his squad win championship honors for two years. At Hinds he helps in the care of injuries and stays in the dressing room most of the time working on equipment.

Raymond Tomlinson, Jackson, joins Bennett on the field most of the time to help him there. He also helps on the other projects.

Though Bennett is nominally in charge of the managers, they all three work as a team, which has drawn praise from Coaches DeVall and Renfro.

Eagles Defeat Wildcats, 20-0, Here In Top-Rated Game of League Loop

Behind a powerful defensive wall, the Hinds Junior College Eagles cleared another hurdle to their championship hopes, defeating Pearl River of Poplarville 20-0, in a close, hard-fought game here Saturday night before a capacity crowd that set a new attendance record for Eagle Stadium.

Touted as the top-game of the jaycee conference, the match saw the Eagles roll up 11 first downs to the Wildcats 6; complete 2 of 2 passes attempted to the Wildcats 3 of 10; and hold off all scoring drives of the determined 'Cats.

After receiving the opening kickoff, the Eagles started a drive downfield that was climaxed with a touchdown. With the backs alternating carrying the ball, O'Quinn tossed a pass to Jack Dryden which was good for six points. The play covered 25 yards. Bill Graham converted and the Eagles led 7-0. With a series of plays and punts by each team the quarter ended with the Eagles leading 7-0.

Shortly after the second quarter was underway, the Eagles scored again. Pearl River ran a series of plays, but the Eagle line refused to give and the 'Cats were forced to punt. With Smith and Troxler back as double safety for Hinds,

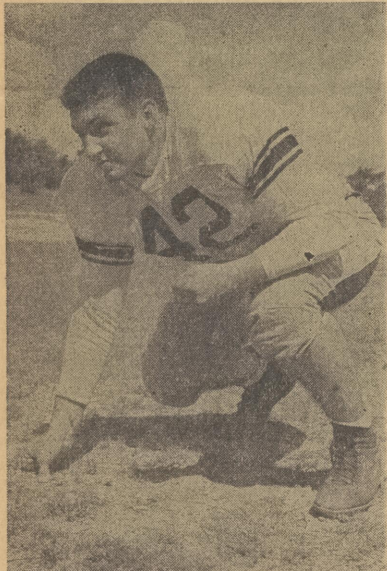

Smith took Morris' punt on his own 25. Behind some excellent downfield blocking, he raced down the sideline for 75 yards and a touchdown. Graham again converted but the play was called back and Hinds was penalized 15 yards. Then Pearl River was penalized 5 yards. Graham attempted the conversion with the ball resting on the 20. It was good and the Eagles led 14-0. A few minutes later the first half ended. Score, Hinds 14 and Pearl River 0.

The third quarter went scoreless, as neither team could cross the goal line. The Pearl River attack was held in check constantly by the Eagle line, which was led by Earl Leggett, Don Soileau, Charlie Dees, Dale Bates, Joel Soileau, J. B. Middleton and Jack Dryden. The quarter ended with Hinds still leading 14-0.

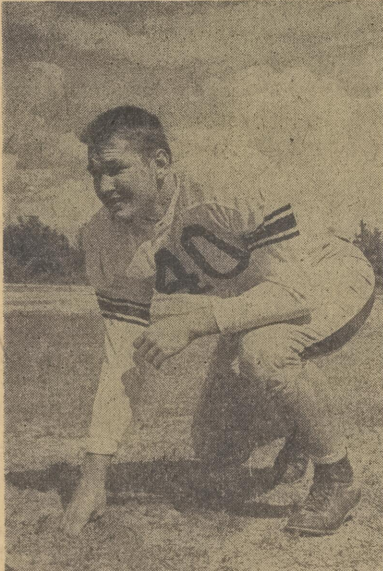

About midway of the final quarter, Bill Graham was the main factor in Hinds' final score. Carrying four straight times, he crossed the goal line from about the 2 yard line. This drive started on the Pearl River 50. The attempt by Graham for the extra point fell short. Hinds led 20-0.

Final score: Hinds 20, Pearl River 0.

OUTSTANDING LINESMEN AGAINST PEARL RIVER

DON SOILEAU

EARL LEGGETT

DALE BATES

CHARLIE DEES

These four Eagles added power to the Hinds Eagles' line in the game against Pearl River here last weekend. The defensive line was the chief factor in the Eagles' 20-0 blanking of the 'Sats, the first time the Pearl River squad has been scoreless since 1948.

Strong Perk Squad on Grid Menu For Battered Eagles This Weekend

Battered and bruised, the Hinds Junior College Eagles were back on the gridiron this week, preparing for their third hard game in a row. Saturday night they meet the Perkinson Bulldogs at Perkinson in what may be the hardest game they face in the early part of their season.

'No More Losses For Baby Eagles,' Boteler Announces

The Raymond Baby Eagles lost their third straight football game 18-7 to Utica, Friday night at the Eagle Stadium.

Raymond got off to an early lead when Ray Boyd intercepted a pass on the Eagles' 25 and ran 75 yards for a touchdown. Jerry Smith dropped-kicked the extra point as Raymond took a 7-0 lead.

Utica fought back early in the second quarter with a long ground attack to score their first six points. The score was in favor of Raymond 7-6 as the first half ended.

In the third period Utica scored again with another strong rushing surge. They failed to make the extra point, and the score was 12-7, with Utica leading.

The strong Utica ground attack was again in process in the final quarter when they faked an end run and passed over the Eagle's backs for the last touchdown.

Coach Louis Boteler said that he didn't expect any less from the Utica game as his boys weren't in good shape. "But we've lost our last game," he said, "and that's final."

Intramural Tournament Continues Through Tuesday With Two Brackets Added

So popular that two new brackets have been added, the intramural ping-pong tournament continued this week with games scheduled through Tuesday of next week.

In the opening rounds for the boys, Gus Allen defeated Ronald Walch, then defeated Paul Duks. Rudy Thompson met Durwood Graham, then defeated Marian Aiken, victor over Tom Poe.

In the game matching Billy Toles and Ray Johnson, Johnson won by default; then lost to Mike Safie, who had defeated Bobby Trotter.

Garth Guy defeated Warren Willard to enter the second round against Bobby Holcomb, winner by default over Howard McKissack. Guy took the match from Holcomb, 2-0.

The second bracket matches Salvador Canahuati with Bill Lampkin; Joe Lee with Hyeun Lee; Robert Jones with Robert Smith; W. McKinney and J. Lawrence; Earl Leggett with Bill Dungan; and J. B. Middleton with Raymond Tomlinson.

Senatobia with a 40-0 victory, the Eagles then met Co-Lin of Wesson and Pearl River of Poplarville for two battering games.

Perkinson, largely ignored in pre-season dope ratings, has proved a surprise in the conference. Until this past weekend it was undefeated, when it lost by one touchdown to the strong Southwest of Summit squad.

According to junior college coaches, the Perk squad is a seasoned group, composed principally of carryovers from last year's team. It is rated as a team that can defeat any other team of the conference any weekend.

This rating the Perkinson group proved by defeating last year's champions, oJnes of Ellisville, 9-0, in the season opener. They have also beaten Holmes of Goodman.

Two of their backfield men are winning a wide reputation in the league loop. They are Bob Branch, called the best "T" quarterback in the conference, a letterman last year; and Ed Evans of Perkinson, whom Coach DeVall rates as the "best fullback the Eagles will face this year."

In preparation for the game, Coaches DeVall and Joe Renfro are attempting to build up reserve strength. Limited by team numbers, the Eagles used only 17 men against Wesson and 18 against Pearl River.

Hinds Ranks Top In J. C. Ratings; Decatur Second

After a rough weekend, only three of Mississippi's 13 junior college teams remained undefeated — Hinds of Raymond, East Central of Decatur, and East Mississippi of Scooba.

Pearl River of Poplarville and Perkinson of Perkinson dropped from the undefeated column. Hinds eliminated Pearl River 20-0, while Southwest of Summit dropped Perkinson with a 12-6 decision.

In other games of the weekend East Central beat Jones of Ellisville, 7-6, in an upset; East Mississippi defeated Copiah-Lincoln of Wesson, 28-14; Sunflower defeated Holmes 6-0; and Northeast of Booneville defeated Northwest of Senatobia 13-7.

The conference standings:

Meanderings . . .

The State Fair has gone and the money we had a week ago went with it; so we must wait another year to see the 'peep' shows, try for that panda bear, and ride in the tunnel of love . . . Election time is just around the corner and in the political view the two candidates are working up the votes, or so they hope. As one commentator stated, "Truman is working harder than any one man, not to be running himself" . . . Of interest to Dorothy Dix readers, a book on the life of Miss Dix, appropriately titled 'Dear Dorothy Dix,' has been written, telling of her unhappy marriage and how she started writing her column . . . Attention all female brunettes — Mr. John Robert Powers says not to "convert your locks to gold," because a poll of the male contingent proves there is just no truth to the claim that "gentlemen prefer blonds." He says to stick to your type and never try to change it, although you can achieve your most striking, attractive self by making the most of your endowments . . . Grade reports are due tomorrow. For the benefit of those new at Hinds, your death sentence (if the chance may be) will appear on a yellow sheet of paper. To those of you who are fortunate to have "good" written on the paper, that means you made the honor roll . . . The Freshmen are going to look a sight with starched hair tomorrow. Now we sophomores can really see how a person looks when his hair stands on end . . . The 4-H Club girls ought to be congratulated, for they really took the honors at the fair last week . . . If any of you have the money and the time, see "The Greatest Show on Earth," which will be in Jackson, Thursday—and I don't mean the picture show, but the real Barnum and Bailey Circus . . . Any of you interested in handling the circulation department of the HINDSONIAN? We need a couple of students to keep our papers going out to all parts of the state. They have gone as far as Japan, Korea, and many of the western states. Contact me or Mr. Turnage if you would like the job — it's not difficult to do.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

A person enrolled in high school or college is usually provided with the necessary facilities to obtain thorough training. If you as a student will take stock of your present efforts and see that you are preparing your lessons adequately from day to day, you could not render yourself a better service.

We are alarmed at the reports we receive from teachers as to the lack of preparation — particularly of Monday recitations. One would think that with the weekend free you would set aside a specific time and put forth whatever effort is required to have Monday's lessons thoroughly prepared.

—G. M. McLendon, President.

Hinds Girls Give Views On Boys;
Some Want Money, Others Muscles

By DIXIE DURBIN

What do girls like and what do they dislike about boys? That question was asked a number of Hinds Junior College girls. Several even permitted their answers to be printed, and here they are—printed for the benefit of the boys.

Wanda Massey — I like their ability to enjoy life; I dislike their feeling of superiority over women.

Ann Singletary — I don't like him for his looks, but for his personality and actions. I dislike a boy who is always handing out a line.

Joy Ray — I like for a boy to be honest. I don't like for a boy to be stingy.

Nina Merle Holmes — I like a boy with sparkling personality, but I don't like for a boy to be conceited.

Lee Owen — I like a boy with muscles and plenty of spunk, and I dislike the puny dried-up boy who's afraid of the world.

Joe Ann Marshall — I like for boys to be six feet two, have green eyes, brown hair and be named Ted. I dislike boys who think they're "it" and "know it all."

Carolyn Hall — About boys, I like everything. I don't like conceit, though.

Dean Marbury — I like nice, considerate boys. I dislike jealousy.

Mary Collum — I like blue eyes and black hair. I dislike possessiveness.

Jane Bishop — I like boys who have brown eyes and are friendly and ambitious, but I dislike boys who are independent and undependable.

Jean Dossett — I like politeness. I dislike stubbornness.

Christine Holmes — I like a man who is a MAN. I don't like boys who act as though they own you.

Dot Lewis — I just like 'em, that's all.

Shirley Patrick — I like them just being men. I don't like their thinking they're "God's gift to women."

Ethelda Oakes — I like a boy who will treat a girl like something special. I dislike boys who think they're the only thing worth talking about.

Barbara Herrin — What a subject! It doesn't really matter; 'cause you couldn't change them anyway.

Artist Discusses Meaning of Cross
At B.S.U. Service

Paul Brown, Mississippi College ministerial student and chalk artist, presented a chalk talk on "The Old Rugged Cross," at the B. S. U. meeting Sunday night. Martha Sumrall and George Dukes provided the music for the program.

The picture presented by the artist was that of three crosses on a hill, representing Christ and the two thieves on Calvary. Paul gave the significance of the cross of Christ and what it should mean to people today.

Candidate: "Sir, I'll go to Washington entirely unpledged, or I'll not go at all."

HJC Cagers Under Coach Ricks Begin Practice For 52-53 Season

With two returning lettermen of last year's team and two former Eagles back from the Dixie Division, the Hinds Junior College basketball team opened practice Monday under the direction of Coach Troy A. Ricks, who is issuing an invitation to any interested students to report for the team try-outs.

Returning lettermen are Tom Poe and Howard McKissack of last year's team. Returning from the Dixie Division are Bud Clements and Wesley McKinney; while Jimmy Russell is another ex-service-man expected to do well for the Eagles.

The Eagles, though, have lost several good players. Among them are Benton Fortenberry, an all-state player; Charlie Roberts, Bob Ellis, and Sonny Oliphant.

Three players from Jackson are trying out for the team this year, Coach Ricks reports. These are Julian Sandifer, Bobby Matthews, and Kelly Waggoner. Orville Wright of Clinton and Porter of Redwood are other contestants for team positions.

The schedule for this season has not been set as yet, but Coach Ricks reported he is expecting to attend a meeting "any day now" to work it out. He also reported that there is a possibility of Hinds entering a pre-season tournament in November.

Collegiate Loop

Most of the colleges and high schools in Mississippi have begun their school sessions with a big bang, according to the campus newspapers received in the HINDSONIAN office.

This column is written to bring you the latest news of the colleges, universities, and high schools in the state and in the nation. Every week you can read bits about what other schools are doing in the way of academic and social activities.

Jones County Junior College has a film library which contains approximately $2,000 worth of films and film strips that fit into all phases of the school program.

This is Station WMMI . . .

The students at Meridian Junior College have established their own broadcasting station, located on the campus. Broadcasting will be from 10:30 to 12:30 Monday through Friday and will feature a variety of programs, including sports broadcasts. Except for two teachers in charge the station employs all students on the campus.

Ah, the Life of a Freshman . . .

Some of the freshman rules at Mississippi College make you feel glad you aren't a freshman (if you aren't). Here're a few:

1. Freshmen are required to know presidents of all campus organizations.
2. Frosh are required to know the number of times M. C. has vanquished Millsaps on the gridiron, games tied, and the times referees have given "saps" the game.
3. Freshmen are required to know names and positions of members of football team; also the football schedule.

These are only a few but aren't they enough?

A new system has been instituted at M. S. C. which I think is most effective. It is an inventory system which places each student financially responsible for any damage other than ordinary wear and tear. In the inventory office a record of room furniture will be kept, and as the paper stated, "... as well as on the door of each room."

Girls Camouflage, Too . . .

One of the column writers for the Broadcaster, high school paper of Whitehaven, Tenn., informed the boys in his story (especially those who didn't have a sister) these facts about girls' facial equipment:

"It might be of interest to you to know that there are between 65 and 75 items on your gal's dresser. Count them! Not each bobbie pin as one either. The typical cartoon shows the boy waiting on the girl. She's ready but her make-up isn't. Also as many as 13 different things can go on a girl's face that weren't already there. I didn't venture further but there were six drawers full of "junk."

"... Of all the goo girls can wear, I have never seen yet the boy who was sorry for lipstick. Most boys wear their expressions as a "red badge of courage." All in all, boys, should we give up our girls and go on a date with the make-up? It would be a lot cheaper and that's about all we see anyway."

Well, there you have the male opinion. Do you Hinds boys agree with him? Let's hope not.

250 Y-Teen Delegates To Assemble Here October 25

Hinds Junior College will be host to 200 girl delegates and 50 adult sponsors at the Fourth District Y-Teen Conference, which will be held on the campus, Saturday, October 25.

Of the 200 delegates attending, only 125 will remain over-night. Prominent leaders of the Y. W. C. A. and Y-Teens from all parts of Mississippi will be present.

IN THE HINDS LIBRARY

Secretarial Work, Journalism Featured in New Library Books

BOOK REVIEWS

Among the new books in the library is one on journalism, So It Seemed, which will be of interest to those who have yens to become journalists. The reviewer says that "Nowhere else will you get so much journalism education for your money." The author, William L. Chenery, was for many years editor of Collier's and later its publisher. The reviewer adds that, "All the lectures you will get in schools of journalism will fall somewhat short of what you'll absorb in reading what Bill Chenery learned as a newspaper man, writer, and editor. For one thing, you'll find that while times change, the moral concepts that made the author a giant don't—and won't."

Kitty Unfolded is a new book which will interest those preparing to become secretaries. It presents a lot of good advice to business girls and does it in a humorous vein and in narrative form. Interesting stories and attractive illustrations are interspersed with information on how to get the job and keep it, on dress and personality, working and budgeting, loving and living. This is not a book on how to spell and write but a book of advice on how to act and what to expect. It makes interesting reading even for those who are not planning to be business girls.

Collier's Best is a collection of short stories selected from five hundred published in Collier's during 1949 and 1950. The five hundred were selected from around seventy thousand submitted to Collier's.

Nineteen From Seventeen is a collection of nineteen short stories which have been published in Seventeen magazine. They are unusual in that the characters are seldom younger than their early teens and almost never older than twenty.

Applications For Qualification Test Now Available At Local Draft Board

Applications for the December 4, 1952, and the April 23, 1953, College Qualification Test administrations are now available at Selective Service System local boards.

Eligible students who intend to offer this test on either date should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application form and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided. Applications for the December 4 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, November 1, 1952.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administered the test for the Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once, regardless of the testing date he selects. Results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board to use in considering his deferment as a student.

At present two methods are used in deferment. Students who score 70 or above on the test are eligible for deferment, and those students who rank in the upper sections of their class are eligible. However, according to Miss Mildred Herrin, Hinds registrar, all draft eligible students are urged to take the test, for though they may now rank in the upper half of their class, they may fall from that position later and be subject to draft.

If they pass the test with a satisfactory score they are eligible to continue college, even though they fail to rank in the upper class sections on their class grades.

Relatives?

The Hindsonian is seeking material for a feature story on students who have had parents, brothers, sisters, or other close relatives attending Hinds. Also, the staff would like to know if there are several members in one family now attending. Please list below any such relatives who may have attended Hinds and the years attended. Hinds Loses To Perkinson 13-7; Defeats Moorhead Trojans 28-0

After meeting defeat, 13-7, at the hands of Perkinson, the Hinds Eagles bounced back into the victory column Saturday night with a 28-0 blanking of the Sunflower Trojans here.

In the Perkinson game, Bobby Nellums, end, did all of Perk's scoring. He caught two passes from Perk Quarterback Hammonds for scores and also kicked the extra point.

Durwood Graham's interception set up Hinds' score. He returned the interception to the Perkinson 18, where O'Quinn passed to Bob Smith for Hinds' only score. Bill Graham converted.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Hinds Eagles hit pay dirt twice in the Moorhead game in the second quarter.

The first touchdown was scored by Bob Smith on a 21 yard run. Midway of the second quarter Smith had an 80 yard touchdown run called back, but the Eagles scored again shortly after this by driving down to the Moorhead 26, where O'Quinn passed to J. B. Middleton for a touchdown.

The third quarter was another scoreless battle with each team running a series of plays with neither able to score.

After the fourth quarter got underway the Eagles scored again. With line of scrimmage at the Moorhead 40, Harry Massey faded back to pass to Larry Troxler on the 10, and Troxler scored standing up.

Late in the quarter Hinds scored again on a Massey to Troxler pass, the play covering five yards.

Bill Graham converted all four points after touchdown.

The Trojans drove down to the Hinds 2 yard line twice. The first time they lost the ball on downs when the Eagles held. The second time the closing whistle of the game ended their drive.

HINDS IN TOP THREE CHAMPIONSHIP RACE

Mississippi's junior college championship race tangled in a three-way tie this weekend as Southwest of Summit defeated a favored East Central of Decatur, last of the undefeated teams, and left, Hinds, East Central, and Perkinson all with a 4-1 record.

In the weeks' games Hinds defeated Sunflower 28-0 and Perkinson defeated East Mississippi 19-7; Jones defeated Holmes 39-6; Copiah-Lincoln smothered Itawamba 42-0; and Itawamba lost a non-conference game with an Arkansas college.

Jerry Smith has been elected president of the eleventh grade of Hinds High School for the year, according to Mrs. W. M. McKenzie, sponsor.

The students are now selling magazines to raise money for the Junior-Senior banquet.

Eagles Travel To Decatur Saturday For Tough Game With East Central

The Hinds Eagles hit the road this weekend to journey to Decatur to meet the strong East Central Warriors, who had been leading the league loop for the past two weeks before losing to Southwest of Summit Saturday.

Scheduled Saturday night, the game should shape up into one of the top games of the conference season, since both squads are tied for first place in the league standings. Hinds unleashed a strong passing attack this past weekend to down Sunflower 28-0, while East Central lost its first game of the year to Southwest 13-7.

In previous games Hinds has scored 116 points in five games; while East Central has scored 87.

Baby Eagles Meet Redwood Eleven Here Friday Night

After two weeks of intensive drills, the Hinds Baby Eagles under the direction of Coach Louis Boteler began getting ready for Redwood High, which invades Eagle Stadium here Friday night.

Coached by J. C. Dorman, former Hinds student, the Redwood squad is somewhat smaller than the Baby Eagles in weight, but every team member scraps all the way.

In preparation for the game, Coach Boteler has shifted several players. Ray Boyd has been shifted to quarterback, bringing Bill Conlee to halfback and fullback. Ralph Butts and Tommy Lee Foster are playing at end positions now, Coach Boteler reports. The group has been working on their passing attack this week, with Ray Boyd handling the passing and Jesse Griffin and Marvin Lancaster doing most of the receiving.

Jerry Smith, too, is in good shape, the coach reported, and should continue to add more points to his record. Smith has scored all but six of the Baby Eagles' points this year.

Hinds has allowed the opposition only 27 points, while Decatur has given up 37.

Hinds' attack this week will probably be built around the hard and shifty running of the backfield, plus the passing attack of O'Quinn and Massey.

East Central, after losing to an underrated Southwest, will be out for a victory this weekend at the Eagles' expense, coaches believe.

Baby Eagles Win Over M. S. D. 12-6

By a score of 12-6, the Baby Eagles of Hinds High won their first football game of the year October 3, defeating the Mississippi School for the Deaf on the M. S. D. field in Jackson.

The Baby Eagles scored first in the opening quarter, when Jerry Smith, left halfback, broke away on an off-tackle play to run 45 yards for a touchdown.

Hinds hit pay dirt again on the same play in the second period with Smith again carrying the ball, this time for 50 yards.

M. S. D. staged a drive in the third quarter, which ended only with a touchdown on a fullback plunge through the center of the line.

The fourth period was an up and down field battle with neither side scoring.

Coach Louis Boteler is continuing his recently intensified scrimmage sessions in preparation for the invasion of Redwood of Vicksburg here Friday night.

Elvin Reeves and Thomas Prince have been elected program chairmen for the Y. M. C. A. for the year. The group has ordered program material from the state "Y" to assist in their planning. A devotional and a program is planned for each meeting.

EAGLE SALES LAGGING; NEED STUDENT SUPPORT

Miss Fancher declared, "We would appreciate people placing their orders as soon as possible. You cannot have an annual without proper student backing."

Scrapbook Items

It seems that every week of the year is designated as such and such week, and this one is National Macaroni Week. If you want to help celebrate it, buy a box of macaroni (not spaghetti, please) . . . Florence Chadwick is now looking for new waterways to conquer. She says she may tackle the Dardanelles next year, and in the future she hopes to swim the Strait of Gibraltar. In 1950 she made record time for women when she swam the English Channel.

A new ink well has been invented, one that you can roll, drop, and tip, yet the ink won't spill. Only a pen point can get ink from the well, which is made by Page Pen Co. in Mass. A nice invention you can carry along on trips.

Another Contest

If you use Dial soap, you may be interested in entering the contest the company is putting on. With one wrapper you can enter. You only have to name your choice of presidential candidate and in 25 words or less, tell why you chose him. It's simple and worth trying. For more information, look for a Dial soap ad in the newspapers and magazines . . . Next time you see a baby wearing polka dotted diapers, don't think you are having hallucinations, for colored and figured diapers are the latest fad for babies. After all they do a lot of sitting and they may as well sit pretty. White is no longer the favorite, because babies are wearing pink and blue for everyday wear, and on dressier occasions coin dotted prints in lemon drop, jelly-bean blue and pistachio, are for them. Other designs are elephants and donkeys imprinted.

Rita, Aly Again

It appears that Rita Hayworth is going to reconcile with her rich husband, Aly. She certainly must not have married him for his money, although it was a good idea. That's about all he has, for he certainly hasn't got the looks . . . Did you ever wonder who the youngest "ham" operator (radio) is? Someone found the answer. Seven year old Leonard Ross, of Los Angeles, is the youngest "ham," who passed his examination (which includes knowledge of morse code) with a score of 85. So you didn't think you could pass the exam? . . . Well, Truman has dug up another story about Eisenhower. This time he accuses Ike of being friends with the Communists. Why is it when some people try to think of something bad to tell on a person, they always have to drag the word "communist," or "communism" into the conversation. Well, at least it turns peoples' heads.

Love Is Back In Style

The newest version in jewelry is the ancient symbol for love, tiny winged figures playing the pipes of Pan and poised on the horn of plenty. Coro jewelers have introduced the almost-perfect replicas of the Eros-love angels, tiny golden earrings created 2,200 years ago exclusively for Cleopatra's great-great-grandmother and never worn by another woman. Now any gal can dress like a Cleopatra clanswoman for only $3 to $4.

After reading about the young Briton who has come to America to join the Marines and be close to his female pen pal, I'll be willing to bet that there will be plenty of young ladies swamping the American Educational Authority in Washington for male pen pals. The Englishman and his pen pal, a Mississippi girl, have corresponded for a year, and during that year, he certainly exchanged some letters to decide to come here and join the service, and to be near her, I might add.

Elections are just around the corner and at a very close corner. If you are fortunate to be at the voting age, do exercise your rights, and weigh both issues before you place your "x" on the ballot. Don't vote on a candidate because he is very photogenic, or likes the type of food you like; but because you honestly believe he can lead our country as it should be led. Your vote will help elect the right man.

There's always a contest for selecting beautiful girls or handsome men, but this time the Alpha Phi Omega service frat at Southern decided to hold a "Ugly Man" contest. All organizations could enter a candidate if he was a male, had a nose in the center of his face—if it did not exceed six inches—and anyone entering who resembled an ape or had been shot with a .22 rifle was to report to the psychology lab.

The winner of the contest carried off the prizes, which included a wool sport shirt, a necktie, a corduroy sport shirt, a gabardine shirt, a bottle of Tawn shaving lotion, free service at the Laundrette, four free haircuts given by the ugliest barber at the College Barber Shop, and a coke for the winner and his girl every day for a month. The only prize he couldn't keep was a date with Jessie Wynn Morgan, former Miss Mississippi of 1951.

Double, Double, Toil and Trouble

The students at East Central J. C. really have the twins—students, that is. Instead of just two sets of twins as we once had, Decatur students are seeing five more sets, making a total of seven sets of twins. Although I must admit some didn't look like twins, or even relatives for that matter. But if you visit the campus, don't think you are having a serious eye disorder, just look again, there are two, you know.

Studentship: 10 Easy Gambits . .

Professor Robert Tyson of Hunter college has written these "Ten Ways to Get Through College Without Even Trying," which may prove helpful to some of Hinds' students:

1. Bring the prof newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. If you don't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.

3. Nod frequently and murmur "How true!" To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.

4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.)

5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke.

6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology class and psychology in math class, match the books for size and color.

9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he couldn't answer, and in your younger brother's second reader at that.

10. Call attention to his writing. Produces an exquisitely pleasant experience connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

Anyone who tries these methods, please contact me at the end of the year, so I can start the practice next year.

Iambic Candidate? . . .

To Mr. Nixon from the Daily Californian, California U: "Bare-foot boy with cheek of tan, what have you done with the 18 grand?"

Usually registration causes a lot of confusion, and a coed at North Texas State college almost got the worst of it.

She was going through registration lines when she was ushered into a separate room. There a nurse told her that since she had no record of a previous vaccination, she would have to take one now.

"But," the young lady stammered, "will that work? I'm registering for my husband."

Penny Fair Plans Now Underway; Coronation Will Highlight Program

With class campaigns already underway for king and queen elections, plans for the annual Penny Fair are being made by the Y. W. C. A., sponsors of the activity.

Monday, at activity period, each class in high school and college nominated two candidates for king and queen to compete against the other classes. The campaign officially began Tuesday morning, and will close Friday, October 31, at six o'clock.

Regulations for the royalty elections that must be observed by all classes are:

Each penny contributed counts one vote. Groups are urged to use any lawful, legal, and socially approved method of collecting funds for the respective candidates. Campus residents expect to be entertained by some of these methods.

All funds are to be turned in at the English office, located next-door to the library, by six o'clock October 31.

Each class will divide funds equally between its candidates for royalty. This will insure one class winning, furnishing both king and queen for the official crowning at the floor show scheduled at eight o'clock.

Royalty nominees from the high school classes are as follows:

Seniors: Earl Leggett and Lou Kendrick; juniors, Durwood Graham and Jackie Andrews; sophomores: Billy Ginn and Anna Pearl Stricklin.

College sophomores elected Larry Troxler and Clara Clement. The freshman class and the vocational department have not elected their candidates.

Funds from the Penny Fair are used for the college contribution to the World Student Service Fund, a fund to aid underprivileged and war devastated students in war torn countries receive an education, and it also covers Y. W. C. A. budget responsibilities.

Joint 'Y' Vespers Scheduled Tonight In Music Building

Vesper services will be held tonight at 7:00, under the direction of the Y. W. - Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

These services, held every Wednesday night, are campus-wide and non-denominal. Students and faculty members participate in these brief programs, and at intervals, different groups and individuals direct the programs.

Recently, the B. S. U. presented Professor J. R. Harris in an inspirational address. Last week, with Mr. Don Maxwell as script reader, the Wesley Foundation arranged a film program based on the manuscripts, excavations, and translations connected with the Revised Standard Version of the Bible. Earlier in the term Rev. R. L. Wallace of Raymond spoke to the vesper audience.

These meetings are held in the auditorium of the Music Hall.

Ko-Vets' Checks Arrive This Week; Counselor Reports

Subsistence checks for Hinds Junior College veterans under PL 550 began coming in this week, according to Mr. Knox Broom, counselor and advisor for veterans at Hinds.

Approximately 20 checks are to be received by Hinds veterans under the provision of Public Law 550, new G. I. Bill for Korean veterans.

"In view of the complications involved in the administration of this educational program, and since it is a comparatively new program, Hinds Junior College compares favorably with other colleges of the state," Mr. Broom declared.

HJC Boys Give Traits of Ideal Girl; Most Prefer Personality, Figure

By J. P. MERRITT

Replying to the girls' brick bats and bouquets, Hinds boys have come back to give their likes and dislikes of the females. In general, Hinds boys prefer them to be small, have a good figure, be broadminded, and have a lot of personality.

A survey of some of the Hinds boys revealed these qualities and aversions:

Salvador Canahuati: "I prefer a girl that is cute and friendly, and humble."

Marion Akin: "I like girls who are perfect brunettes, have a nice figure, are middle size, and nice looking. In my opinion, a girl like Jerry Pitts."

David Franks looks for the way a girl handles herself, while Ray Boyd wants the type he can pick up to kiss, and those that are broadminded.

Harry Massey just wants one 5' 5 1/2", a long pretty figure, brown eyes, and a pretty nose."

Bobby Harris prefers a small girl clean and neat, but doesn't care for the stuck up or snooty type; whereas, Dale Bates isn't particular about the size, just so it's within reason. He wants the sweet type, with a good personality.

College Home Ec. Club Selects Four Officers; Williamson Is President

LaNelle Williamson has been elected president of the Lamp-lighters Club, college home economics group, according to Miss Fleta Whitaker, sponsor.

Catherine Brown was named vice-president; Carolyn Hall, secretary; and Qujetta Greenlee, treasurer.

The present membership numbers 30. The organization meets every Wednesday at activity period in Room 1, Library Building.

Jerry Terry isn't too particular, he just wants his girl "attractive, but not necessarily beautiful; good personality, and enjoy the things I like to do. I prefer her to be around 5' 4 1/2", blue eyes, blond hair, and weigh around 110 pounds."

The broadminded and the wide open type is what Dan Dubose likes, and he adds, "the trusting kind." Chester Jones likes just any girl from Jackson, but dislikes the conceited type.

Bobby Phillips: "I like girls with a personality, but not the snobbish type. Girls is girls in my opinion."

Brains heads Mr. Don Christmas' list, besides good personality and looks. He adds, "She must be gentle as a kitten, and then I like for her to purr."

Mr. A. G. Liss, the only married man who gave his opinion, looks for a girl who is intelligent, conservative, and possesses a nice disposition.

Freddy Knight and James Giles both like girls with good figures, good personalities; but, Freddy prefers the blonds, while James would rather have a brunette.

Johnny Durst says, "What do I look for? Oh, well, somebody like S. D. of HJC!"

Hinds-Jones Grudge Battle Friday Expected To Bring Capacity Crowd

Hinds Junior College's Eagles got set this week for their "game of the year," as they prepared for their arch rivals, the Jones Bobcats of Ellisville, who come to Eagle Stadium Friday night.

Bitter rivals for the past decade or more, the two are expected to provide the top entertainment in the junior college league this week. In the past it has been the one game that all Hinds fans have turned out for, for it is the most unpredictable game of the junior college season.

Few predictions can be made on the basis of past records, but those few include a close game and a bang-up battle royal, with the Bobcats out for a taste of Eagle feathers.

The Hinds-Jones rivalry hit a new peak of bitterness in 1946 when the two beagn a series of tie and near-tie ball games. In the regular conference game the Hinds and Jones squads tied 6-6 during the conference season that year. In 1947, the score still stood 6-6.

Feelings were still higher after the Eagles won two Lions Bowl championship games with a one-point margin in their favor in the first and a 13-0 victory in the second.

Again in 1948 the Hinds and Jones game was close, with the Eagles taking that one 27-26.

Getting hot, Ellisville smeared Hinds in the '49 game by a 26-6 score. But Hinds climbed back into the victory column in 1950 with an 8-6 score.

Last year the Jones squad, junior college champions, rolled over the Eagles 32-28.

This year the Eagles, small in numbers but high in determination, are ready for another hard game from the Jones squad.

Four Hinds Stalwarts for Friday Night

These four stalwarts of the Hinds Eagles saw plenty of action in Decatur last weekend, and are expected to see even more here Friday night, when the Hinds Eagles tangle with the Jones Bobcats. Billy Ricketts, center, is a carryover from last year's squad. Tipping the scales at 205, he was a high school star in football, basketball, and baseball. Jack Bass, 190 pound Jacksonian, attended Texas Tech last year, but is now playing fullback and guard for Hinds. A native of Vicksburg is Durwood Graham, 200 pound guard, who lists among his non-athletic honors the totle of "Greenest Freshman," earned in Vicksburg Byron (Sally) O'Quinn masterminds the Eagles' attack. A native of Fayette, he is one of the Eagles' chief scoring threats with his passing attack.

Baby Eagles Prep For Yazoo Team After Second Win

"Fundamentals pay off," Coach Louis Boteler of the Hinds Baby Eagles, declares, and the Baby Eagles this week were back at work on fundamentals after defeating Redwood High of Vicksburg 12-7 here Friday night.

The Baby Eagles Monday were working on their blocking, tackling, punting, and passing in preparation for their game against Satartia High here Thursday night.

The workouts were a continuation of the hard drills the Baby Eagles began three weeks ago.

In winning the Redwood game Jerry Smith and Bill Lamkin set up the scoring plays, bringing the ball down to Redwood's territory. Billy Conlee and Ray Boyd carried the ball over. Other players doing well in the backfield were Franklin Russell and Melvan White.

The Baby Eagles line held the Redwood squad to a single score, and that on a recovered fumble deep in Raymond territory. Linesmen seeing action were Garth Guy, Ralph Butts, Tommy Foster, Terry Worrell, Hugh Saxton, Hugh Gillespie, Billy Bateman, Marvin Lancaster, Marion Akin, and Harry Puryear.

REEVES NAMED HEAD OF HINDS GAVELIERS; SELF, VICE-PRESIDENT

Elvin Reeves, Florence, freshman, has been elected president of the Gaveliers, parliamentary procedure club of Hinds Junior College, according to Miss Ruth Boyd, sponsor.

Other officers include Carl Self, New Albany, vice-president; Thomas Prince, New Albany, secretary and treasurer.

The club meets every Friday during activity period.

Art Club Officers Elected; Breeden Named President; Vito Patti, Vice-President

Jeanne Breeden, Utica, has been named president of the Hinds Junior College Art Club, in elections held October 1, according to Mrs. A. L. Denton, sponsor.

Other officers include Vito Patti, Honduras, vice-president; Dixie Durbin, Utica, secretary-treasurer; Cleo Battle, Jackson, program chairman; and Faye Buchman, Jackson, social chairman.

Club meetings are held in the Art Room, Administration Building, during activity period on alternate Wednesdays.

when Donald Soileau recovered a blocked punt on the Warriors' 4 yard line. From here Larry Troxler went over for a touchdown and Bill Graham added the extra point to give Hinds a 7-0 lead.

However, the lead was short-lived; as the Warriors came back to tie the score on three rapid plays. Everett carried the ball from the Decatur 20 for the score, and Jackson converted.

Late in the second quarter a fumble in the Eagle backfield was recovered on the Hinds 6 yard line. A pass from Ball to Everett put the Warriors out front 13-7. Their try for the extra point failed.

The Eagles came back in the third quarter to tie the score. After a drive to the Warriors' 6, Bob Smith carried the ball over for the score. Graham's attempt for the extra point was wide, and the game was again tied.

After stellar defensive work by both sides, the quarter ended, still in a tie.

Midway of the final quarter the Eagles pulled ahead to stay. O'Quinn faded back from the 31 to fire a pass to Carter Buford on the left end. Buford took the ball on the 15 and went over from that point. Graham added the extra point to give the Eagles a 20-13 margin.

With 4 minutes left in the ball game, the Eagles drove down to the midfield stripe. Doing a bit of shifty running and picking up some good downfield blocking, Bob Smith went fifty yards for the final Hinds touchdown. The extra-point attempt was wide.

Hinds, Perk Tied For First Place; Poplarville Second

Hinds and Perkinson are again tied this week for the top spot in the junior college league. East Central was dropped from the tie when Hinds defeated them Saturday night, 26-13. Perkinson beat Northeast 41-13.

Hinds to Observe Halloween Friday With Annual Y.W.C.A. Penny Fair

Pennies will jingle and goblins roar Friday night in the Library Building as Hinds celebrates Halloween with its annual Penny Fair, sponsored by the campus Y. W. C. A. to raise funds for the World Student Service Fund.

Committees have been appointed and plans are being made for an elaborate talent show to entertain their majesties, the king and queen of carnival. Meanwhile spirited campaigning is underway on the part of the classes to have their nominees crowned on the basis of penny votes collected.

Sophomore class members threw their weight behind a new candidate, Bob Smith, following the withdrawal of Larry Troxler, who will be unable to be here Friday.

Responsible for decorating the stage for the coronation will be Wanda Massey, Marianne Purser, Bobbie Herrin, John Lawrence, Billie Matthews, Lawrence Cheatham, and Bob Harleston.

The talent show will be under the supervision of Mary Collum, Barbara Herrin, Rita Fay Sowell, Jane Bishop, Mayme Rees, Frank Polk, James Marble, Jack Varner, and Oran Renfro.

Lendon Players' First Production, 'Our Miss Brooks,' Set November 6

"Our Miss Brooks," first production of the Lendon Players has been set for Thursday, November 6, at 8:15 o'clock in the college auditorium at Hinds Junior College, according to Mr. Leonard Hart, sponsor of the club and director.

Principal characters in the play are as follows:

Miss Brooks, played by Barbara Brummett, is a young and attractive English teacher, involved in almost everything at school. Students love her, but take every advantage of her; and parents and members of the community behave as though they owned her 24 hours of the day.

Jane, played by Nancy Arnold, is trying to earn enough money to

Hinds Queen of Homecoming, Maids To Be Chosen in Voting Thursday

Elections for Queen of Homecoming and for her maids will be staged Thursday morning from 8 o'clock until 12:30, with a queen and two sophomore and two freshman maids to be selected by students of the college division.

Candidates for queen and sophomore maids include Joyce Alexander, Catherine Brown, Clara Clements, and Betty McLain. Two freshman maids will be chosen from among Mary Lou Bates, June Liss, Billie Jean Barnett, and Cathryn Green.

The three girls nominated as candidates for queen receiving the most votes Thursday will be the queen and sophomore maids. The freshman maids will be chosen as maids.

Candidates for queen and freshman maids were named by petition of 20 students per candidate, with the petition being filed Tuesday night.

Students were restricted to signing one petition for sophomore queen and one petition for freshman maid.

As students went to the polls, the steering committee of homecoming event listed a program of activities for the event. Registration of visitors will begin at 2 p. m., followed by tours and open house in the dormitories. A program of entertainment will be staged in the auditorium at 4 o'clock, followed by supper in the new cafeteria.

A reception for the visitors will be held in Main Dormitory after the game.

Flight Instruction Now Being Offered At Hinds Airport

Flight instruction is now open to Hinds Junior College students and faculty, according to Mr. Ken- nis Bryant, airport manager and instructor. Two students, Dan Mashburn and Allison Wade, have already enrolled, he reported.

The training is being offered at the John Bell Williams Airport, which is under the college's management, and meets CAA regulations. The plane used is the school's Piper Supercruiser, a single motor, highwing, cabin monoplane.

Forty hours of instruction are required to qualify for a private license, according to CAA regulations. Beginning students may complete the training period in less than two semesters, pursuing a normal instruction plan, Mr. Bryant said.

Costs of the instruction total $6.25 an hour at Hinds. This figure is considerably less than the $10 an hour fee, standard at most other airports, he said. Students (Continued on Page 3) go to college. Ronda Allen, daughter of the school board president, is played by Billie Jean Barnett. Her head-strong, ambitious mother is played by Norma Short.

The coach, with worries of his own, is portrayed by Billy Dungan. Ted, an easygoing school "big shot," is played by Bob Harleston. The harassed school principal, who often hides his worries, is portrayed by Frank Polk.

Other cast members are Peggy Ainsworth, Shirley Patrick, Martha Duke, Catherine Green, Marion Ponder, Effelda Oakes, Larry Derryberry, Eva Lou Williams, Dixie Durbin, and Mary Dann Stampley.

In contrast to most plays, "Our Miss Brooks" is being given with a suggested setting — that of a typical high-school English teacher's classroom.

Tickets for the play may be obtained at the door. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for school students.

Publishers Accept Book Written by Former Student

Another Hinds student has joined the ranks of authors, with the announcement of Little, Brown and Company, of the acceptance of a novel written by Pat Smith, 1943-44 graduate.

Mr. Smith, whose book will be published in March, was a visitor on the campus Monday. While at Hinds he was an outstanding student in both academic and extracurricular activities. He was editor of the HINDSONIAN in his sophomore year.

At the present time, the author is working on another novel, which has its setting around the "Singing River" in Pascagoula.

Hal Phillips of Kossuth, another Hinds graduate, has won critical acclaim for several novels, the most recent being Search For A Hero.

Cast Your Ballot Tomorrow

Hinds students will have a jump on the national elections tomorrow, when they will be given a chance to vote for their presidential candidate in the mock election to be held by the social science classes. This election is open to college and vocational students only, since the issue concerns students of college age. Each student is urged to cast his ballot sometime between 8:30 and 4:30, whether or not he is of voting age.

In this election, the results will show how Hinds stands in the political scene. Many colleges have already held their elections and the majority favor Ike, while numerous others prefer Stevenson. All over the nation, college students have banded together and formed "Students for Stevenson" and "I Like Ike" parties. But the largest number of votes are going to little Pogo, the comic strip character. Harvard University is the leading college in the nation that is going "all out" for Pogo. Maybe these college students know what they are doing. Perhaps Pogo would make a better president anyway.

Give Your Pennies Freely

The Annual Penny Fair is close at hand, with only two days more to increase your class funds for king and queen. This event of crowning the royal pair, is the highlight of the fair, and some class will certainly be proud of their efforts made during the past week.

Keep in mind as you donate your few pennies, that you are doing this for a definite purpose. Part of the funds made by the Y. W. C. A. will be sent to some foreign country to help war-torn and devastated students receive an education. This will mean a great deal to a boy or girl when he finds out he will have a chance to go to school, perhaps for a year or two. This education matter is only a minor thought to us, because we have all the opportunities available, and we don't know how to appreciate them as much. But one who has not had this opportunity of learning new facts and truths can use the money that we donate. Give freely, and enjoy yourself at the Penny Fair, Friday night.

All the colleges and junior colleges in Mississippi are preparing for the B. S. U. Convention, to be held this weekend in Jackson. Belhaven, the host college, is expecting around one thousand students to descend on the capitol city. Any of you Baptists who would like to attend the meeting, contact Miss Stewart. We want Hinds to have a large representative group.

The U. S. Office of Education estimated that more than one-fifth of the total American population will be going to school this year. But colleges and universities are in for an enrollment decrease of about ten per cent. The reason: Selective Service.

TWO BOYS' QUARTETS TO BE ORGANIZED HERE;
ELEVEN ARE CANDIDATES

Two boys' quartets will be organized at Hinds Junior College soon, according to an announcement by Mr. Don Maxwell, choral instructor.

Eleven boys who are trying out for the quartets include Roy White, Ted Dunning, Elvin Reeves, Bobby French, Warren Willard, Grady Gill, Cecil Yarbrough, Orlando Hughes, Bobby Holcomb, Bobby Trotter, and Jack White.

The chorus under Mr. Maxwell's direction, is preparing for a Christmas chorale.

This is the first time in five years that the band has used this procedure.

At Central High in Jackson, home economics is offered to the boys as well as the girls. This year, the boys have started off well by making cinnamon rolls. If home ec. could be offered in all the colleges and high schools (including our school), it would be helpful to the boys, to their mothers and to their girls.

Delta State had an interesting speaker recently. He was Robert Vogeler, International Telephone and Telegraph Company executive whose arrest and trial in Communist-dominated Hungary, made world headlines for many months. His whole story is related in his book, "I Was Stalin's Prisoner," which he wrote in collaboration with veteran correspondent Leigh White.

One thought to ponder over for awhile: It is better to know less than to know many things that are not so.

Eagles Drop Jones Bobcats 20-7 With Three Scores in First Half

Trailing 7-0 at the end of the first quarter, the Eagles came back to defeat the Jones Bobcats here 20-7, holding off a strong second half passing attack that brought the ball down to the Eagles' goal line three times.

The Bobcats scored first about midway of the first quarter on a pass from Quarterback Howard Wells to Edwin Taylor. The play went from the Hinds 9 to the end zone. Curtis Brown converted the extra point to put the Bobcats in the lead.

Two plays after the second quarter opened, Hinds tied the score. With the ball resting on the Hinds 49, Derl Burr carried it to the Bobcat 19. On the next play Bob Smith went through the right side of the line to score, and Bill Graham added the extra point.

After an interception of a Bobcat pass by Durwood Graham on the Hinds 30, the Eagles scored on a sustained drive down field. Going through left guard from the 7 yard line, Larry Troxler made the score. Bill Graham's kick for extra-point was blocked.

The final Hinds touchdown was

HJC Eagles Play Holmes Bulldogs Thursday Night

Still in their loop-leading position, the Hinds Junior College Eagles were back at work this week, preparing for their game with the Holmes Bulldogs of Goodman Thursday night. As the Eagles continued their drills, they spent a great deal of their time trying to develop their reserve strength, to alleviate the strain on several players who have gone the entire sixty minutes on several occasions.

Among these reserve men getting special attention this week have been Durwood Martin, Kenneth Bridges, Earl Izard, John Brantley, and Cecil Erwin.

Martin, coaches report, is one of the best freshman passers they have had in recent years. However, with two good sophomore quarterbacks in the line-up, he has not had too much chance thus far to show his ability.

Kenneth Bridges is developing rapidly at guard, and is beginning to see more defensive action at that slot; while Earl Izard has been shifted to end, where he is gaining in experience and value to the Eagles. John Brantley, tackle, and Cecil Erwin, center, are also both showing considerable improvement, Coach L. C. DeVall reports.

The Eagles for the past two games have been handicapped by the loss of two first string men. J. B. Middleton, end, who suffered a shoulder injury, is reported much better and expects to see action again. Bill Graham, outstanding conference fullback, out with a knee injury, is still on the doubtful list, Coach DeVall reports.

scored by Troxler. Behind some good downfield blocking and doing some shifty runnin, Troxler returned a Bobcat punt 55 yards to the 1-yard line. Going through the line on the next play, he scored. Graham converted to give the Eagles a 20-7 lead at halftime.

During the second half neither team was able to score with both teams showing a strong defense.

In the fourth quarter the Bobcats drove to the Eagles 3-yard line where Jack Dryden intercepted a pass to stop the thrust. Behind the passing of Quarterback Wells the Bobcats then drove down to the Eagle 1-yard line twice, only to be held there on downs.

Baby Eagles To Face Bentonla Wildcats

The Raymond Baby Eagles are scheduled to face Bentonla High school at Eagle Stadium Saturday night, at eight o'clock.

The Baby Eagles, after losing their first three ballgames by close scores, have won their last three consecutive games. Raymond is now pointing for a win over Bentonla, which will assure them a .500 average for the season.

Bentonla has had an unsuccessful season so far, but they have shown plenty of fight in many close games.

Baby Eagles Win Third In Row Defeating Yazoo County Team 26-14

The Raymond Baby Eagles made it three straight here Thursday night, grinding out a 26-14 victory over Satartia behind the passing of Ray Boyd and the combined running of Billy Conlee, Jerry Smith, and Bill Lamkin.

Selective Service Names Deadline For College Test

Selective Service officials today reminded college students that the deadline for submitting applications for the December 4 Selective Service College Qualification Test is midnight, November 1 (Saturday), and that applications postmarked after that time cannot be considered.

Test application blanks can be secured from local draft boards in any town.

To be eligible to apply for the college deferment test a student must intend to request a deferment from service as a student, be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction, and must not have previously taken the Selective Service College Qualification Test.

Editor's Note—Previously it was announced that a satisfactory score on the test or a specified rank in class would serve as a basis for deferment. However, it has also been reported that since a large number of soldiers are being released with their term of enlistment expiring, increased numbers of draft-age personnel must be called to fill growing vacancies in the armed forces.

Ray Boyd scored twice in the first half on end runs of six and 12 yards, respectively, with Jerry Smith succeeding with one of the conversions.

In the fading minutes of the first half, Bill Stricklin, outstanding Satartia backfield man, ran around end for 60 yards and Satartia's first score, with Ted Harris adding the extra point.

The second half was a replica of the first with the local squad again scoring 13 points and the visitors seven. Billy Conlee scored Raymond's third touchdown, going around end from the 5 yard line. Smith added the extra point. Later in the period a pass from Boyd to Jesse Griffin was good for the Baby Eagles' final score.

Stricklin passed to Selby and Harris converted for the final score of the game shortly before the closing whistle.

Raymond team members who saw action included Ray Boyd, Billy Conlee, Gerald Chapman, Bill Lamkin, Billy Bateman, Jesse Griffin, Ralph Butts, Garth Guy, Carlos Zacarias, Jerry Smith, Tommy Lee Foster, Harry Puryear, Tom Keith, Hugh Saxton, Terry Worrell, John Broome, Cameron Ferguson, Marion Akin, Glen Smith, Benjie Forgey, Melvin White, Franklin Russell, Frankie Kynerd, Hugh Gillespie, Bobbie Boyd, and Marvin Lancaster.

Four members of the college varsity team have been assisting Coach Boteler lately. These are Jack Bass, Charles Dees, Durwood Graham, and Donald Soileau. The four have been instrumental in drilling the Baby Eagles in fundamentals of blocking, tackling, and line-work, Coach Boteler said.

Close 8 p. m. November 30

Thanksgiving holidays have been changed at Hinds Junior College to begin at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday, November 26, and end at 8 p. m., Sunday, November 30.

The holidays had previously been set November 19 — November 23. The change was made by the administration so that Hinds would be in line with the county schools.

Talking Puppets Lyceum Program Slated Thursday

"Doc Dougherty's Dolls" include all types of puppets, marionettes, guignols (hand puppets), ventriloquist figures, and magic dolls in a program featuring ventriloquism.

"Our Miss Brooks" To Be Presented In HJC Auditorium Thursday Night

Hinds Junior College's auditorium curtains will rise Thursday night at 8:15 on "Our Miss Brooks," first production of the Lendon Players, HJC dramatics group under the direction of Mr. Leonard Hart.

A three-act comedy, adapted from the radio show, "Our Miss Brooks," the play will last approximately two hours. Admission will be 25 and 50 cents.

Final properties have been completed for the show with the addition of a lighting system constructed by Mr. Frank Stephenson, machine shop instructor, and Mr. L. A. Beasley, electricity instructor.

Plans for the lighting were created by Tellfair B. Peet, head of the department of drama at Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Mr. Stephenson, following Professor Peet's diagrams, made the stands for the lights. Mr. Beasley completed the electrical part of the lighting. The stands are made of aluminum and the two have eight spotlights on each.

The lights can be put in the trunk of an automobile for road shows. The Lendon Players, Mr. Hart said, plan several road shows this year.

Asked why the play is scheduled at the hour of 8:15, Mr. Hart pointed out that 8:15 is the standard theatrical time for opening a play.

BREEDEN, BARHAM WIN IN HJC ART CONTEST; PAINTS ARE PRIZES

Jeanne Breeden and Virginia Barham were winners in the art contest staged by the Hinds Junior College Art Club here Wednesday, as part of their regular weekly meeting. Jeanne won the prize, a set of water colors, for the second-year students. Virginia, a first-year student, won a box of crayons.

Todd Conducts Revival At Local Baptist Church

Revival services are being conducted at the Raymond Baptist Church this week, with the Rev. Wayne Todd, pastor of Daniel Memorial Church, Jackson, in charge.

Services are being conducted at 7 o'clock each morning and at 7:30 each evening. For the convenience of students, a bus is being run from Westside at 7:15 each night.

Hinds Debaters Off For Alabama

Hinds Junior College Debaters leave tomorrow for the University of Alabama, where they will take part in a three-day series of discussion panels on the question "Should Congress Enact a Fair Employment Practices Law?"

One of the highlights of the conference will be a speech by former United States Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, who is one of the few Southern political leaders advocating FEPC legislation.

Members of the HJC Debate Club, selected by faculty vote during the assembly program Tuesday, include Charles Adams, John Cook, Robert E. Lee, and Frank Polk — first team; Martha Duke, Herman McCormack, William Morris, and Warren Willard — second team; Billie Jean Barnett, Betty Jo Burns, Eva Lou Williams, and Ann Finger — third team. Jane Bishop and Mary Collum were unable to take part in the try-outs, but will participate in later activities of the club.

Since several members of the club are also "Lendon Players," they will be unable to make the trip because of a conflict in schedule.

That Mealtime Rush

At the first meeting of the Student-Faculty Council, held a few weeks ago, one of the most discussed subjects was the condition of the dinner lines. Since the beginning of the year, students have crowded the doors of the cafeteria trying to be "first" inside. Every day, mostly at noontime and occasionally at supper, this problem becomes worse. Twenty people attempting to push inside one door results in shoving some against the rough sides of the wall and doors. Eventually someone will be hurt, and no one person will be blamed.

If this were a grammar school, perhaps the scene would be quite different, but we are supposed to be maturing men and women, not helpless, silly children. If we ever had any guests, and they saw the overeagerness of Hinds students, they would leave with a bad impression of our school.

For those who insist on being the "first" in the door, let me inform you that the meal is the same whether you are first or last.

After standing three or four minutes in the lines, some bright person gets the idea (that he thinks is great) to rock back and forth. When this gets underway, five or six students can easily be thrown off balance.

When we have been corrected and made to form a straight line, it's been through the efforts of Mr. Denton and some of the other teachers. It's not their place to have charge of us and make us march in meekly to the counter for our food. But since some of the students have no better sense than to get their heads out of the fire, there must be someone to take the initiative.

What is our solution? Certainly the council members can't stand around at the doors, clubs in hand, and order the students to keep in a straight line. We have to solve our own problem. No longer should an instructor have to correct us, for we should need no correcting.

Our answer to this perplexing situation is this: when we enter the cafeteria doors, we must drop in line behind the man who is last; and each of us must stop "saving" places for our friends. When we get our food, we can still sit together just as well. Some students will let ten persons ahead of them, with no thought to the ones in line behind.

I'm not accusing every student of crowding, for I've noticed time after time that the same group is doing the foolishness, and if they think all of it is a cute prank, why don't they just ask some of those who have seen them? It shows that some of them left their manners at home in the closet.

Lana Turner, Corn Bread, TV Among Wishes of 'Stranded' HJC Students

"If you were stranded on a desert island, what three things would you wish for?" This question was asked by Dixie Durbin, HINDSONIAN reporter, and the eighteen replies she received included a variety of answers, from a glass of Kool-Aid to Guy Lombardo's orchestra.

Chuck Adams replied, "I'd wish for Lana Turner, because if I had her, I wouldn't need anything else."

Joree Brown would just want a "cool breeze, a glass of Kool-Aid, and a copy of 'Robinson Crusoe,'" so she could find out how to get home.

HJC would be Charlie Bennett's wish, for he adds, "I couldn't be without it."

"A juke box, J. B. to jitterbug with, and plenty of nickels," would satisfy Barbara Brummett; while Carlos Zacarias would settle for "imported wine, women, and cigarettes."

Funeral Services Held For HJC Student's Father

Funeral services for Mr. Jack Milton, father of Carolyn Milton, Hinds Junior College freshman, were held Tuesday afternoon, November 3, at Baldwin.

Mr. Milton, who had been in ill health for some time, died early Monday morning.

Ralph Faulkinberry thought it just wouldn't pay to say, but Vito Patti exclaimed there was always room for three more.

Television and food headed the wishes for Barbara Herrin and Bill Morris, while a comfortable chair would fix Barbara up fine, and Bill would want companionship.

Mary Lou Bates decided she would want food, water, and a good book, "to fill my leisure time."

Betty McLain wasn't too choicy when she chose Guy Lombardo's orchestra, a good sun tan, and that "yankee."

"A boat, company, and plenty to eat," would be enough for Edwin Dean, whereas Qujette Greenlee would be satisfied with one item, namely, her "brown eyed boyfriend."

Sue Webb exclaimed, "Bob Crosby — what else is there to wish for?"

Bobbie Jean Brown would like to have a "Jolly" good fellow, a black Buick, and a scenic highway. Mary Collum had no particular person in mind when she stated, "I'd wish for somebody to help me make up my mind."

Gerald Russell said, "First I'd wish to be back in town, and then I'd wish for a palace and plenty of money."

A hula girl headed the list for Orlando Hughes, but he'd also prefer corn bread and milk.

Students Pick Eisenhower By Slim Margin of 5 Votes; Pogo, Dick Russell Also Ran

Hinds Junior College students picked Dwight Eisenhower as next president of the United States by a slim majority here Thursday, giving "Ike" 124 votes to Adlai Stevenson's 119.

Senator Richard Russell of Georgia got three write-in votes, but trailed Pogo, the comic strip opossum, who netted eight write-ins.

The election was conducted by Mr. J. R. Harris' social science class, with voting restricted to the college and vocational students.

A similar poll was conducted at State College with a scientific analysis of results. The State College poll indicated that Stevenson's strength came chiefly from towns of less than 2,500 population and from students who listed their parents' occupation as farming.

Students from higher income brackets and from the city, the State poll indicated, preferred Eisenhower.

DATING DISCUSSED BY MRS. PAUL WELLS AT FRESHMAN MEETING

Freshman class members gave Mrs. Paul Wells their complete attention here last week as she discussed "dating."

Emphasizing the importance of dates, Mrs. Wells pointed out that the dating period of a person's life is so short, but married life is expected to last many years. "Mates must be chosen while dating," she said.

At the discussion it was decided that girls and boys both should put forth extra effort to appear at their best for special dates. Both sexes should be prompt, too, never keeping the other waiting.

Boys should escort the girls home on time, and in case of a flat tire or other emergency notify the girl's mother, Mrs. Wells suggested.

Commenting after the meeting, Mrs. Wells complimented the audience manners of the freshman class.

NEW BARBERS ENROLL

Three new students have enrolled in the barbering school, Mr. C. M. Burleson, instructor, announces. The enrollees are Roy Robertson, from Pelahatchie; Herbert Mathews, Natchez; and Leroy Johnson, Saucier.

Hinds In History -10 Years Ago-

Ten years ago today:

The P. E. girls were climbing over, under and on top of an obstacle course, at the end of which they had to march to the lake and back. Most of the girls found it "all in a day's work."

The tenth grade was leading in the sale of War Bonds and Stamps. Every member had bought one stamp a week.

Eleven trainees in the Civilian Pilot Training course arrived on the campus. They received ten weeks of elementary ground school training and from 60 to 65 hours of flight instruction. The instruction lasted a month, at the end of which a new class of 15 students was formed.

The Jones Bobcats defeated the Eagles by two points, 9-7. It was a long, hard-fought game.

The math professor and two girls were trapped in a cubby-hole at the local airport. There were bars across the windows and the door was locked (they thought). After trying everything from scaling the walls to bending the bars, they tried the door. It was open.

HI-STEPPERS, BAND TO PARADE IN JACKSON

Hinds Junior College's famed Hi-Steppers and Eagle Band have been invited to perform in Jackson on November 22 for the Mississippi Southern - Louisville University football game.

The Hinds group will take part in the parade preceding the game, Mr. Swinney said.

Details of the actual performances are still incomplete, he said. They are being worked out at Mississippi Southern, Hattiesburg.

Two 4-H Club Members To Give Demonstration

Two Raymond 4-H Club members will give a poultry improvement demonstration Thursday morning at the Mississippi Poultry Improvement Association Convention in Biloxi.

The two 4-H girls are Barbara Furness and Joy Zeringue.

HJC Students Define 'Jambalaya'; Moon, Cajun Girl Among Answers

By J. P. MERRIT

Hinds Junior College students have spent an untold number of nickels in the grill's jukebox to hear "Jambalaya," and as of yet, don't know what the word means.

A survey of the students revealed various definitions of the term, including a seafood, a drunk man, and a banquet.

Ben Lane believed it to be a drink "containing alcohol," and Joe Inman thought it was a seafood.

"A Cajun girl," was Fred Jones' reply, while Mary Collum thought it meant, "Oh, my darling."

Peggy Rice believed it was a dead fish, and Troy Anderson thought it was "kiss me."

Bobby Harris replied, "It's all Greek to me," but Frank Polk and Kelly Waggoner termed it a drunk man.

Christine Holmes' idea was a banquet, and Betty Sue Brister and Mr. Beemon both believed it was a soup, with shrimp, rice, and tomatoes, the teacher adds.

Shirley Patrick thought it meant a "whoopie of a good time," and Billy Dungan added that it was the leftovers of a meal. Billy Wright believed it was something to eat, perhaps turtle pie, and Robert Campbell termed it bologna.

"Why it means somebody, I guess," was Pat Bryson's reply, but having a "feast on the bayou" was the best answer Johnny Durst could give. Thinking it all over, Freddie Smith said, "Why, it's the moon!"

Mr. Webster gives the definition of jambalaya as "jambon ham and another meat usually cooked together." Nowadays people add rice and tomatoes.

day, the classes of 1922, 1932, 1942, and 1952.

For the entertainment of the visitors the program, under the direction of Mr. Leonard Hart will feature vocal solos by Mr. Don Maxwell and Norma Joyce Owen, who will also sing a duet; three instrumental solos by Hinds band members, and a modern dance number by Mr. Hart and June Liss.

Supper in the cafeteria at 5:30 will follow the assembly program. Tickets to this may be purchased at the time of registration.

Coronation of the queen will take place at 7:30 on the football field. According to Miss Emma Fancher the queen and her maids will be driven on the field in convertibles. After circling the field they will be met by their escorts, class officers of their respective classes. Gene Walker, sophomore president, will escort the queen. Other escorts include Roy White, Bob Harleston, Jerry Terry, and Elvin Reeves.

Before a background of the Eagle Band and Hi-Steppers, President G. M. McLendon of Hinds will crown the queen.

The Hinds-Southwest game will begin at 8 o'clock. After the game a reception for visiting alumni and friends will be held in the lobby of Main Dormitory.

STUDENTS TO REVIVE

MADRIGAL SINGING HERE; WAS ANCIENT SONG FORM

Madrigals, popular song form of the 15th and 16th centuries, are to be revived here, according to Mr. Don J. Maxwell, Hinds choir director, who is organizing a group of madrigal singers.

Nine students have already expressed an interest in joining the group, while two or three others will also be interested, he believes.

The madrigal form is a type of music in which each singer carries a melody, no melody being more important than the others.

Collum, Renfroe Halloween Rulers

"I crown you queen, Mary Collum, and you king, Oran Renfroe, representatives of the freshman class, to reign over the 1952 Halloween festivities at Hinds Junior College." With those words Hinds Junior College's annual Penny Fair was climaxed here Friday night.

The coronation and floor show for the entertainment of their royal majesties climaxed a spirited week of class competition on the campus. In seeking votes at a penny each, class funds reached a total of $261.76.

The freshman class led with $133.94; college sophomores were second with $63.15; high school juniors followed very closely with $60.58. The tenth grade contributed $2.18, and the twelfth grade $1.91. The floor show and booths netted $15.31.

The floor show featured a Halloween theme. An hour of music, dances by the famed Hinds Hi-Steppers, songs and impersonations was closed by the skeleton dance finale.

In addition to the king and queen, the royal court included Clara Jane Clements and Robert Smith of the college sophomore class; Jackie Andrews and Durwood Graham, high school juniors; Anna Pearl Strickland and Billy Gin, tenth grade representatives; and Lou Kendricks and Earl Leggett, twelfth grade.

Pope, Wages Graduate

From Machine Shop

Two students in the machine shop received their diplomas last week, according to Mr. Frank Stephenson, instructor.

The graduates are J. W. Pope and F. R. Wages. Wages is now employed in Macon, Ga.

Bolivar, the George Washington of South America, Robert E. Lee, and Andrew Jackson. Six are about authors—Coleridge, Poet of Enchantment, Rudyard Kipling, England's famous twentieth century short story writer and poet, Eugene Field, the Gay Poet, Bret Harte, Story Teller of the Old West, O. Henry, one of the South's skillful short story writers, James Fenimore Cooper, author of the exciting Leatherstocking Tales. (Incidentally, the library has recently received the condensed edition of Cooper's The Deerslayer.) Two of the biographies are of inventors—Marconi, Pioneer of Radio, and Rubber's Goodyear.

Others in the collection are Lief Eriksson, First Voyager to America, Curtain Going Up, the actress, Catherine Cornell, Ty Cobb, Baseball's Greatest Player; Sitting Bull, last of the Sioux chiefs to give up to the white man, Walter Reed, Doctor in Uniform, Jedediah Smith, Fur Trapper of the Old West, Pasteur, Knight of the Laboratory, Six Feet Six, The Heroic Story of Sam Houston, Dr. George Washington Carver, Scientist, Glamorous Dolly Madison, Story of George Gershwin, and the vocational biography, Florence Nightingale, founder of the first school of nursing and fearless champion of the underprivileged.

These are not scholarly biographies but all are well written, readable and short, ranging in length from 180 to 300 pages, illustrated and in large print, Mrs. Rowzee pointed out. "I just don't like to read, anyway."

All these biographies are on the display table in the library and may be checked out for two weeks.

FOUR REPORTS GIVEN AT LANGUAGE CLUB

Four reports on the importance of foreign languages were given at the last meeting of the Modern Language Club, held Thursday, October 30.

The reports given were "Language—The Key to Life," by Joe Ann Marshall; "Foreign Languages and Job Opportunities," Joe Gearhart; "The New Education and Foreign Languages," Jean Ainsworth; and "Study Hints for Language Students," Bobby Trotter.

Also at the meeting the club constitution was read by Elvin Reeves.

PIANOS RECEIVE COVERS; STUDENTS REQUESTED TO TAKE GOOD CARE

Pianos in the music department and in the auditorium have been equipped with new covers, Mr. Don Christmas announces.

The music department requests that any clubs or organization using the music auditorium to close and cover the piano. "Make sure the windows and doors are shut when you leave," the music faculty urged.

Homecoming Tilt Saturday Night Pits Eagles With Summit Bears

With the state junior college championship before them if they get past the next two games, the Hinds Junior College Eagles were working this week getting ready for the Southwest Bears of Summit, one of the toughest teams in the conference. The game is scheduled for 8 o'clock on Eagle Field, immediately after the crowning of the queen of homecoming.

The Eagles are now tied with the Pearl River Wildcats with a seven, won, one loss record. However, their victories include a 20-0 blanking of the Poplarville squad.

In preparation for the game here with Southwest Saturday night, the Eagles were working on their passing attack, which has netted eight touchdowns this year, but is still a hot and cold affair.

Eagle coaches are also working to develop their reserves this week for the hard Summit game. Several of the reserves saw action last weekend against Holmes of Goodman, but their numbers are still too few, coaches feel.

Southwest has lost two games this season, as compared to the Eagles' one loss to Perkinston. The two teams they lost to were Pearl River and Moorhead, both strong squads.

According to junior college coaches, the Summit squad is one of the largest in the conference. Their backfield is sparked by two outstanding halfbacks, Marino and May, with Ferguson and Stewart assisting at fullback.

The line is the largest in the conference, with the smallest man on that forward wall, Orphan, a sixty-minute player.

In preparation for the game the Hinds Hi-Steppers and Eagle Band have prepared their most elaborate and spectacular show to date, Mr. W. S. Swinney reports. "We can't give the show away, but the theme will be a circus," he says.

Hinds Eagles Defeat Holmes 26-7 As Troxler Scores Three Times

Defeating the Holmes Bulldogs 26-7 for their seventh victory in eight games, the Hinds Eagles remained on top of the loop standings this week with a total of 188 points to opponents 53.

Playing at Holmes field in Goodman the Eagles first scored midway of the first quarter when Larry Troxler went 42 yards over the left side of the Eagle line. A key block of Donald Soileau on the 30 allowed Troxler to go all the way. Bill Graham's attempt at conversion was wide.

Shortly before the half was over Hinds added six more points to its score. This time a pass from Byron O'Quinn to Bob Smith was good for 23 yards and six points. Graham's second attempt was again wide.

The Bulldogs got underway in the third quarter and drew up within five points of the Eagles. A pass intercepted by Goodman was returned to the Hinds 39, where George Gilchrist went the remaining distance. The conversion attempt was good.

Fired by the Bulldogs' touchdown the Eagles roared back to score on the second play after kickoff. Larry Troxler went 61 yards for the score, and Bill Graham converted.

Midway of the final quarter Hinds scored again. The score was set up by a pass interception by Dan Dubose. Again it was Larry Troxler who scored for the Eagles, this time on a 15 yard run. Graham again added the extra point.

Hinds threatened to score several other times, driving deep into Bulldog territory, but Holmes held successfully.

The training, offered at the John Bell Williams Airport and under the management of the college, is offered to girls and boys interested in flying. Forty hours of instruction are required to qualify for a private license, according to CAA regulations.

Costs for the instruction total $6.25 an hour at Hinds, and students may pay for the lessons as they take the course, provided that they pay in advance for their actual flying time, said Mr. Bryant.

Anyone under 21 must have the written consent of his parents or guardians, and the minimum age of 16 is also required.

Those interested in taking the course should contact Mr. Bryant or leave their name in the registrar's office.

Hinds Eagles Tops In J. C. Standings

Hinds remained atop the J. C. loop this week by a slim margin, with Pearl River of Poplarville trailing behind in second place. Perkinston dropped out of the running this week as they suffered their third defeat, 38-6 at the hands of Poplarville. In a Thursday night affair Hinds dumped Holmes, 26-7, and East Mississippi defeated Northeast of Booneville, 40-13. Southwest of Summit topped Itawamba of Fulton, 28-8, and Northwest was trampled by Jones, 20-7. East Central remained idle the entire weekend.

This week's standings are:

WJTV Mobile Studio Coming Here

The first performance will be at the second period in the Hinds auditorium and the second performance will feature the consolidated school.

Three-Act Opera To Be Presented

"Bartered Bride," three-act comic opera, will be a major production of the Hinds Junior College Music Department this year, and auditions for the 11 solo parts will be held Tuesday, November 25, at 6 o'clock in the music auditorium, the music department announces.

Auditions will be open to all members of the student body, and no previous vocal experience will be required. Those planning to audition are asked to contact Mr. Don Christmas or Mr. Don Maxwell.

A production of this size, which has not been attempted at Hinds in the last several years, will require the joint participation of the music, speech, home economics, art, and publicity departments and the Hi-Steppers, Mr. Christmas said.

For the opera Mr. Maxwell and Mr. Christmas will be co-producers; Mr. Swinney, orchestral and performance director; and Mr. Leonard Hart, dramatic director. Also lending assistance will be Miss Margaret Smith, who will direct the dances; Miss Fleta Whitaker and Miss Frances Bratschi, costuming; Mrs. A. L. Denton and Mrs. Don Maxwell, scenery design.

Mr. Swinney is making a special orchestral arrangement for the opera.

Plans are now under construction for an extended tour with a possible performance in the city auditorium in Jackson.

Schedule Changes To Begin Nov. 24

Students may begin planning their second semester schedules beginning November 24, Miss Mildred Herrin, Hinds registrar announces.

New courses will be initiated upon the request of students and the availability of instructors. Requests for special subjects should be made on special blanks provided for that, which may be obtained from the registrar's office or from any instructor.

"Students are encouraged to make second semester schedules prior to January 12," stated Miss Herrin. If this is done, sufficient time can be taken to work through a schedule carefully.

Students who wait until after January 12 to plan their schedule will be charged a late registration fee.

Southern Y.W.C.A. Secretary To Be Vespers Speaker Here Wednesday Night

Miss Rosalie Oakes, southern regional secretary of the Y. W. C. A., is a guest on the campus today, according to Miss Gertrude Davis, campus Y. W. C. A. sponsor.

The regional secretary, who has worked abroad with students, will be the vesper speaker tonight at 7:00 in the music auditorium.

Television Show Here Thursday Will Feature Hinds Student Talent

Hinds students will appear on television here Thursday morning during the second period when the mobile unit of WJTV, Mississippi's first television station, gives students and faculty a preview of America's newest recreation device.

Under the direction of Miss Margaret Smith the program will include four dances by the Hinds

Hi-Steppers, two characterizations by Norma Short; piano selections by Cleo Battle, Johnnie Ruth Strong; Betty Stubbs, and Mr. Don Christmas; vocal solos by Miss Thelma Prassell, Bobby Trotter, and Norma Joyce Owen; a cornet duet by Mary Jo Laird and Bob Phillips; a reading by Ann Collier; a selection by the boys' quartet; a piano and acrobatic number by Jean Ainsworth and Harriet Russell; two selections by the Hinds Dance Band; and a vocal duet by Norma Owen and June Liss.

After the show at Hinds the students of the Raymond Consolidated school will put on a program in the same auditorium.

Owned and operated by the Jackson Daily News and the Clarion Ledger, the new television station is scheduled to go on the air in December. It has been assigned Channel 25 of the UHF (ultra-high-frequency) range.

The show here Thursday will be on a closed circuit and cannot be picked up outside the circuit. Television sets will accompany the mobile unit so that the audience will be able to actually see the performance on the sets.

In other shows given in the state the television eye has also been turned on the audience so that they have been able to see themselves watching themselves on the sets.

Comments on the News . . .

Did you ever wonder how you looked from another person's eyes? Well, some of you will actually see yourself on the screen when the television unit visits our campus tomorrow. Who knows, perhaps some talent scout will "discover" the beauties and the beasts that Hinds has.

Of Course He Won

There was some mighty heavy betting on the national elections last week, and by the sleepy looks on some of the students the day after results, you could pick out the Ike and Adali rooters. This great election has made history, and our grand-children and great-grandchildren will have to study what we actually lived through. Now we should sport the motto, "I Like the U. S. A."

In a survey conducted by a Purdue University professor, it was found among 2500 students that the majority believed that girls should ask for dates. Of this number, 48 per cent of the boys said "yes," but only 27 per cent of the girls agreed. One-third of the boys and 54 per cent of the girls said "no." The professor thinks the results indicate both boys and girls are "a bit uneasy about asking for dates and wish the other sex would take the initiative." If we waited around for the other fellow to take the initiative, somebody would be left out. It is a good idea, though girls, for us to do the asking. Then when that dreamboat comes along, we haven't a worry on the world. . . . There were hundreds of people who were disappointed when Matt Cvetic, ex-Communist spy, was unable to come to Jackson to speak. But that same night these people heard another adventure of his thrilling life as a spy, when Dana Andrews presented "I Was A Communist for the FBI."

Rain, Rain, Don't Go Away

There are many thankful hearts for the rain that finally poured down all over the state, ending the nearly two-month drought that parched the earth. There shouldn't be anyone complaining about too much rain, for it is a relief to many farmers, as well as hunters, and weary forest fire fighters. . . . For the interest of all Vicksburg students, there was a very nice write-up about your town last week in the Commercial Appeal. I was expecting someone to tack it on the bulletin board for "all to see and understand." . . . There are more fights and reconciliations in the movie capital than one would dream of. First there was Rita and Aly, just to start off with, then Frankie and Ava, and Eleanor Holm and Billy Rose. They make a big publicity fight, then declare they are still madly in love—I just don't understand.

Those Tests Again

Thanksgiving holidays are just around the corner, and that means term tests beforehand. Next week is the scheduled test week, with a few days the following week to "rest" our weary brains and hands (that did the writing). Make this six-weeks the best you can; you can profit from good grades. . . . It would be nice if Mr. Mac would declare a holiday if we won the game Thursday night. . . . Looks like there are still some hungry pigs crowding the doors of the cafeteria at noon. Now I am convinced they left their manners at home in the closet. . . . The game Thursday night will be Booneville's, so that means that our athletic tickets will not be good, and we must purchase a student ticket at 80c. If each of us bought one ticket, and urged someone, other than Hinds students, to buy one, we could help Booneville to meet their expenses. They are being very kind in transferring the game to our home field, and the least we can do is to buy a ticket or two. . . . Any of you need to improve your writing? Take advantage of the news writing class Mr. Turnage is teaching every morning at 7:30. There's more than one advantage to the course, especially to the college freshmen and high school students. When those themes come up, you'd wish you had taken this course—it is a boon for theme writing.

A Good Deed

Want to do a good deed, or would you rather the other fellow did it? Every time you see a piece of paper on the campus grounds or in the buildings, pick it up and discard it in the nearest trash can. The workers here are doing a fine job of keeping the halls and rooms of the buildings clean and the campus looking pretty, and a kind gesture from each of us would help them a great deal. . . . Football season is bowing out of the picture at the end of the week, and in its place will be basketball. Because football will leave doesn't mean that our spirit must go also, but must remain to cheer the incoming sport and the sports to come. . . . How about smiling the next time you feel like cutting someone's throat, it does a lot more good.

—Wadsworth.

Debaters Attend Speech Festival

The Hinds Junior College debate team, under the direction of Miss Ruth Boyd, returned to the campus Saturday after participating in the annual speech festival, held at the University of Alabama November 6-8.

Thursday night, the Hinds group attended the discussion forum concerning the year's debate question "Should Congress Enact a Compulsory Fair Employment Practices Act?" This forum included professors from the University and visiting colleges.

Actual participation in the discussion tournament got underway Friday morning, when the debate groups organized fifteen discussion panels. Four fifty-minute rounds were held that day, with the final round ending Saturday morning.

Team members and their coaches were guests of the campus sororities and fraternities for lunch Friday, and that evening the visiting groups attended a banquet in Tutwiler Hall.

In order to be back for the homecoming activities, the HJC team, which includes Charles Adams, John Cook, Warren Willard, Robert E. Lee, Herman McCormack, and Ann Finger, was unable to attend the award presentation Saturday morning. Team ratings, according to Miss Boyd, are expected to be furnished within a few days.

STEADY DATING DISCUSSED BY TENTH GRADERS

"Going Steady" was on the minds of the tenth grade during their class meeting, Monday at activity period. Some of the points brought out by the class members were the following:

Helen Cowart thinks that going steady will cause a person to lose out on a lot of fun, while Barbara Furness thinks it's O. K.

"If you roam about, you have the chance to meet other people," says Hugh Tidwell. Mary Liles thinks the time can be spent studying.

As a whole, the students believe it is all right to go "steady" for those important dates, but for the unimportant, go with different persons.

Patton Discusses Draft Regulations

Helpful information on the current draft situation was given to the freshman boys during their regular class meeting, Monday during activity period.

As principle speaker during the program, Colonel J. W. Patton, head of the Mississippi Selective Service System, pointed out the current regulations concerning the drafting of college men. He also advised the freshmen to keep up their studies, as this is one of the more important points concerning whether or not college students will be drafted.

Some of the freshmen had questions which were answered by Colonel Patton.

Hinds to Play Booneville Thursday; State J. C. Championship at Stake

With their state championship title riding on the result, the Hinds Junior College Eagles meet Northeast of Booneville here Thursday night on Eagle field.

If the Eagles win this final game of the season, they will be champions or co-champions. If they lose they will drop to second place. Previously scheduled at Booneville, the been transferred to the Hinds field by popular request.

The Eagles have now won eight of their nine games this season, and for the past four weeks have led Mississippi's tough junior college circuit. The Eagles' latest victory was at the expense of Southwest of Summit, a hard-hitting, heavy team that led the Eagles 20-7 at the half-time of the Eagles' own homecoming.

Previously Coach Les DeVall and Coach Joe Renfroe's boys had defeated Northwest of Senatobia, Copiah-Lincoln of Wesson, Pearl River of Poplarville, Sunflower of Moorhead, East Central of Decatur, Jones of Ellisville, Holmes of Goodman, and, this past weekend, Southwest. Their only defeat was a 13-7 loss to Perkinson.

Thus far the Eagles have scored 216 points to opponents' 73, for a 24-point average for the Eagles as compared to an 8-point average for opponents.

Much of the credit for the Hinds victories in recent games has been due to the Hinds backfield group, one of the best in the conference. The backs have been paced by Larry Troxler and Bob Smith, half-backs, who have rolled up 12 touchdowns each to tie for scoring honors. A third backfield man, Byron O'Quinn, has also contributed much to the victories. Quarterback for the Eagles he has thrown nine touchdown passes this season in the nine games.

The Hinds line, according to Coach DeVall, is one of the most representative groups ever fielded. Hampered by a manpower shortage and playing heavier squads, the first-string linemen have had to learn every position on the line.

Baby Eagles Have Full Hoop Season

The Hinds Baby Eagles' basketball schedule has been announced by Coach Louis Boteler. Fifteen games and three tournaments have been slated he said. The first game is November 17 with Terry, there.

The other games are as follows:

S. D., here; February 6 with Utica, there; and February 6, sub district tournament.

Hinds Eagles Take Hard-Fought Win Over Southwest in Homecoming Game

Moving a step closer to a state championship, the Hinds Eagles defeated the Southwest Bears here Saturday night before a near-capacity crowd that jammed Eagle Stadium for Hinds' homecoming.

The Eagles won, but only after a hard battle that found the Bears leading 20-7 at the end of the first half.

An intercepted pass by Vester

Newcome of Southwest set up the first touchdown of the game. A pass from Don Mario to James White on the Hinds goal line gave Southwest a 6-0 lead. The try by Lawrence Allen for extra point was good and the Eagles trailed 7-0.

The Eagles came back on the kick-off, returning the ball to the Hinds 39. After a two-yard gain, Smith took the ball on the 41 to go the remaining distance to score. The conversion by Bill Graham tied the score.

In the second quarter the Bears continued their drives, scoring two touchdowns. The first was set up by a Hinds fumble on the Summit 25, when the Bears took the ball down to the Hinds 5. From here Truly May scored. Their attempt for extra point was deflected by Jack Bass.

The second Southwest score was the result of a drive from their 38 to the Hinds 4, where John Kramer went over to score on a quarterback sneak. Allen's extra point was good.

Coming back strong in the third quarter the Eagles drove down to the Southwest 10, where O'Quinn faded back to pass but was forced to run, crossing the goal line standing up. After Southwest was forced to punt out, the Eagles drove to the Bears' 38, where O'Quinn passed to J. B. Middleton on the 10, for another touchdown. Graham's extra point put Hinds ahead 21-20.

The fourth quarter, a battle of the lines, resulted in only one score when the Eagles drove to the Bears' 10, where Smith went over for the score. Graham's final conversion was good, giving Hinds a 28-20 decision.

Pinola Trounces Baby Eagles 12-6 In Closing Game

In the second annual Hinds High Homecoming game, the Baby Eagles lost a 12-6 decision to Pinola, playing in Eagle Stadium Friday night.

Pinola scored first in the opening quarter on a line plunge after a blocked Raymond punt set up the touchdown. The extra point attempt failed.

Raymond scored in the second quarter when fullback Billy Conlee went over for a touchdown through the middle of the line a few plays after Quarterback Ray Boyd ran 40 yards to set up the play.

The second half was a close contest on both offense and defense with Pinola making a solitary touchdown in the third quarter and the Baby Eagles driving deep into Pinola territory twice.

Both teams stayed on the field during the half-time intermission to watch crowning of Jewel Mattis, high school senior, as queen of homecoming. The Hinds band and Hi-Steppers also performed at the halftime.

Baby Eagles Beat Anding High, 28-13

The Raymond High Baby Eagles won their fourth straight football game Tuesday night, November 4, when they defeated Anding Central High school of Benton, 28-13 at Eagle stadium here.

Raymond received the opening kick-off and dominated the game from that point on as they fought their way to four touchdowns and a safety to their opponents' two touchdowns.

The Baby Eagles scored first when the combined running of Ray Boyd, Billy Conlee, Jerry Smith and Bill Lamkin set up a pass to Tommy Foster, which in turn set up a touchdown. Lamkin ran the ball over from the two yard line and a pass to Foster was good for the extra point. Later in the first period linebacker Marion Akin intercepted a pass and the Baby Eagles staged another drive which ended only with Smith running over from the two yard line. The conversion was no good, and the score at the end of the first half was 13-0 in favor of Raymond.

Early in the third quarter Raymond scored again with Lamkin going for the final twenty yards around end for a touchdown. Boyd made the extra point. Later in the same quarter Smith scored from twenty yards. The final Raymond tally occurred when Ralph Butts tackled a Benton player behind their goal for a safety and two points.

Benton netted 13 points in the third and fourth periods and the final score was Raymond 28, Benton 13.

Hinds Eagles Bound For Laurel Lions Bowl

Ranked third in the nation, with the state junior college title in their hands, and a contract to the Laurel Lions Bowl, the Hinds Junior College Eagles closed their gridiron season with a record of nine victories and one loss.

The Eagles have also been notified that they are one of two teams being considered to represent the East in the Junior Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. In the Pasadena classic a Western team and an Eastern team are selected. The other Eastern team being considered is Boise Junior College, which at present is undefeated, but faces two hard games before they finish their season. The selection will be made November 30.

Playing with one of the smallest number of men in the conference, usually against heavier opponents, the Eagles wrapped up their title hopes with a 66-14 victory over Booneville here Thursday, clearing the benches in the second half of the game.

Should Pearl River of Poplarville finish its season without further loss, they will tie the Eagles in percentages to hold the co-championship. However, the Hinds squad blanked Pearl River here 20-0 earlier in the season.

In winning nine of its 10 games in one of the nation's roughest conferences, the Eagles rolled up 282 points to opponents' 87. The points for the Eagles could have been greater and the points against fewer, but there was no need for it, Coach L. C. DeVall of Hinds said.

The bid to the Laurel Lions'

Bowl is the sixth bowl invitation the Eagles have won in the past eight years. It is their fourth invitation in that time to Laurel. The other two were to Texas Bowls. The most recent bowl success of the Eagles was in Galveston's New Year Day Oleander Bowl, where the Hindsmen won 27-22 in an inspired fourth quarter spurt.

The opponent for Hinds in the Tickets to the Laurel Lions' Bowl Game on December 6, a sell-out in all recent games past, are available in the office at Hinds Junior College. The tickets are in Section "O," one of the choicest locations in the stadium, President G. M. McLendon said.

Lions' Bowl on December 6 will be South Georgia Junior College.

Behind one of the best lines in recent junior college history the Eagles have piled up 42 touchdowns and 30 extra points. Leading the scoring parade for Hinds have been Larry Troxler and Bob Smith, Hinds' touchdown twins. Going into their final game, both had 12 touchdowns each. Troxler finished the season with 15 and Smith with 14.

Other Hinds scorers were Bill Graham, 36 points, 30 on conversions; J. B. Middleton, 12 points; Derl Burr, 12; Byron O'Quinn, 12; Harry Massey, 12; Freddy Knight, six; Jack Dryden, six; Carter Buford, six; and Charles Dees, six.

At quarterback position, Byron O'Quinn has thrown seven touchdown passes while Massey has thrown two. Larry Troxler also accounted for one.

Scores by games were as follows:

Hinds 40 — Northwest 0; Hinds 21 — Co-Lin 13; Hinds 20 — Pearl River 0; Hinds 7 — Perkinson 13; Hinds 28 — Sunflower 0; Hinds 26 — East Central 13; Hinds 20 — Jones 7; Hinds 26 — Holmes 7; Hinds 28 — Southwest 20; and Hinds 66 — Northeast 14.

Hinds Junior College's Eagle Band and the Hinds Hi-Steppers, famed precision dance and drill group, have been asked to represent the University of Louisville in Jackson on November 22 when Mississippi Southern and Louisville play in Jackson's Memorial Stadium.

As the official band for the Kentucky school, the Hinds groups will hold the Louisville school's spot in the parade that day, present the pre-game show, and sit on the Louisville side as their band.

"The invitation is a distinct honor and recognition for Hinds Junior College," Band Director W. S. Swinney of Hinds said.

The Eagle Band and Hi-Steppers have also been invited to take part in three other shows in the immediate future. On December 1 they will be in the Yazoo City Christmas parade. On December 6 they will be featured in the junior college band festival held in connection with the Laurel Lions' Bowl game, and on December 10 they will be in the Christmas Kiddies Parade in Vicksburg.

Tryouts for "The Bartered Bride" Solo Parts, Scheduled for Tuesday

Try-outs for eleven solo parts in "The Bartered Bride," three-act comic opera, are scheduled Tuesday night at 6 p. m., according to the Hinds Junior College Music Department. The parts are for seven men and four girls.

Students seeking parts do not have to be enrolled in the music department, Mr. Don Christmas and Mr. Don Maxwell said. The production will be the music department's major performance of the year.

The story of the three-act opera is as follows:

It is feast-day in a Bohemian village . . . the day that Kezal, the marriage-broker, has chosen for the meeting of the Krushina and Micha families.

The object of this meeting is to arrange a marriage between Marie, daughter of the peasant Krushina, and Vashe, son of Micha the wealthy landowner.

Marie, however, loves Jenik, a youth recently employed in the village. He returns her love, but feels that he must not disclose his identity.

Kezal, knowing that Micha will pay him handsomely for the transaction, is forcing the match favoring the simple Vashek; and he approaches Jenik with the offer of another bride and three hundred gold pieces.

Jenik accepts the proffered sum, but only on the condition that Marie will be given in marriage to no other person except Micha's son. The marriage-broker readily agrees to the term and the contract is signed.

Marie, heartbroken at her lover's betrayal, is finally persuaded to wed Vashek. The parents and villagers are summoned to see the betrothal. Suddenly Jenik steps forth and Micha recognizes him as the son who left home because of his quarrelsome step-mother.

As Micha's son, Jenik claims his right to the hand of the lovely Marie. Hata, the stepmother, insists that the original plan be followed. Cashek then appears disguised as a bear and Kezal himself realizes his failure at match-making and Micha gives his blessing to Marie and Jenik.

"The cottage is a continuation of our program of attempting to make home economics attractive to girls," Mr. McLendon said.

The cottage, the artist's prospectus shows, will be a one-story, brick finished building, facing the campus drive circle. It will be on the site occupied by the first president's home, which has been used more recently as the art cottage.

Those Poor Pearl River Wildcats

The Lions Bowl officials have selected South Georgia Junior College to play against our team in the bowl at Laurel December 6. This is the second year that a Mississippi team has been matched with an outside team. It had been the custom years before that the top grid teams of the state compete. Last year Ellisville met Little Rock in battle.

If we win over Georgia, and Ole Miss does the same in the Sugar Bowl, won't Mississippi have something to shout about? We did it before, and we certainly can do it again!

CHAMPIONS?

Poplarville's last game will determine whether or not Hinds comes out of the junior college league as champions or co-champions. Down Pearl River way a columnist mentioned in his paper that "Hinds would rather be co-champions than play PRJC again." Frankly, he must have made the news up out of his imagination just to give the people around there a lift in their morale. What he doesn't know is that we could beat the team this time with one hand tied behind.

RECIPE FOR FED-UP PEOPLE

Are you tired of the way the world is treating you? Would you rather be any place but here at school? Take a tip from Morton Zucker of Chicago and get you a schooner and take a trip around the world. He figures he'll be back home in three years. About the annoyances that worry him he stated, "I'm perpetually fed up with the little annoyances; they don't mean much in themselves, but multiply them by 365 and you see what I mean." He is planning to go alone on the cruise, and with his books on philosophy and psychology, he'll be plenty busy. He thinks he will pay for the trip by selling photographs and writing. P. S.—he's a thirty-year-old bachelor.

"LET BROTHERLY LOVE CONTINUE"

The story that appeared in the papers recently about the newspaper man that was run out of Tupelo when his life was threatened, just because he was a "yankee", has had considerable comment by many editors of both college and city newspapers. Now, some of these people believe that all of it was a hoax, that the young man made the entire story up. The original story could easily be true, for we still have Southerners who dislike the northern people and Northerners who hate Southerners, but can that feeling continue? If we are to have "brotherly love," how can we succeed when a tiny spark of hatred for a person from a different section of the country can touch off a fire? The Civil War was fought hundreds of years back, and it should be forgotten. We in America have so many things to be thankful for that we ought to remember and obey Christ's command to "love one another, even as I love you."

THANKSGIVING—BE THANKFUL

Next Wednesday we get out for the Thanksgiving holidays. Many of us will be going to the country, the big city, or just staying at home, but let us not forget to lift our hearts to God and thank Him for the blessings he has given us. That is what the day is set aside for, but many times we do not keep that in mind. The first pioneers who came from England had much to be thankful for, and we in this generation have many more advantages and conveniences than those people did, yet we forget to be thankful.

JINGLE BELLS, JINGLE BELLS

Christmas is already in the air and December isn't here yet. Funny how that season is, starting in late November and ending the day after Christmas. I believe that time is the best of any during the year. The spirit that it brings even makes the harsh, the bitter, and the cruel humble.

Only 30 days of shopping left, for those of you who will do any shopping at all. If you don't have any ideas as to what you want to get your best beau or gal, search the magazine, they offer suggestions for people just like you.

Operation of Television Explained
By Mr. O. C. Hughey for 'Hindsonian'

"What makes T-V work?" Hinds students were asked after the mobile unit of WJTV came to the auditorium Thursday. Mr. O. C. Hughey of the Hinds radio and television department was asked that question by Hindsonian and gave the following non-technical explanation.

The basic units are, of course, the transmitter, or sending set, and the receiver, he said. Each contains a cathode ray tube.

The camera tube of the transmitter is sensitive to the reflection of light from the scene (or image) to be televised. As the camera eye moves across a light-colored surface more light is reflected. Dark surfaces reflect less light.

The reflected light causes the tube in the camera to give off electrical impulses varying with the amount of light reflected. These electrical impulses are amplified (or strengthened) and sent out into the air. (Thursday's program was restricted to a cable, though, he pointed out.)

These electrical impulses are picked up from the air by the antenna and brought into the receiving set.

The cathode ray tube in the receiving set takes these impulses and turns them back into light. The amount of light depends on the strength of the impulse.

The electron beam in the camera moves at an incredible speed across the scene to be televised. It takes it only 63.3 micro-seconds to scan a horizontal line and retrace, ready for another line. It requires 525 of these lines to complete the picture and then the camera returns to the top of the picture and comes down again.

These electrical impulses are received in the receiver at this same rate of speed. The human eye, being much slower than this, sees the assembled picture information, Mr. Hughey said.

Actually the camera does not send one line of picture information right after another, he explained. Lines 1, 3, and 5 will be sent, then lines 2 and 4. It's all done so fast though that the eye sees only the finished picture, he re-emphasized.

About the sound? That requires another transmitter, Mr. Hughey said. For example Channel 25, the new Daily News - Clarion Ledger station operates from 236 to 542 megacycles. The video or sight part of the sending is done at 537.25 megacycles. The sound, though, is sent at 541.75 megacycles. (1000 kilocycles equal 1 megacycle.)

The receiver must separate the sight and sound and the "sync" and the "blanking" pulses of the transmitter and feed them into their respective circuits. The blanking pulse blanks out the picture process during the retracing periods of the camera. The sync pulse is used to keep the receiving set synchronized with the transmitter, that is, locked to the same timing, he said.

Asked specifically about the new UHF television, Mr. Hughey explained that it is that frequency level above present day T-V bands, which include channels 12 through 13. The UHF bands are 14 through 83, he said.

The higher frequency being introduced by UHF allows picture reception which is not affected by man-made static, such as fluorescent lights, auto ignition systems, or similar things. Too, it will offer clearer reception than present day television. It is hoped that the new station will cover a radius of 35 to 40 miles, he added.

Asked about the best type of receiving set to buy, he suggested the purchase of a receiver capable of handling both UHF and also VHF, the present day channels.

He also suggested the purchasing of an "all-wave" antenna to take care of the complete range of frequency for HJF and VHF.

Hyun Lee Speaks To Rotary Club

Hyun Lee, Korean student at Hinds Junior College, spoke to the Bolton Rotary Club, November 20, on the conditions in Korea.

In his talk, Hyun emphasized the lack of educational facilities in Korea today, and pointed out that it is a result of the war. He also stated that the greatest wish of the South Korean people is that more American soldiers be sent there to end the war.

Commenting on civic clubs, he informed the Rotary Club that many more such clubs exist in America than in his own homeland.

In appreciation of Hyun's appearance before the club, the Bolton members took up a collection of $19.90 for his own personal use.

Accompanying Lee on the trip to Bolton was Miss Lula Mae Fowler.

Y. M. Discusses Immigration Value To United States

"Does Allowing Foreigners To Come Into the United States Help Settle Our Country?" was the question of discussion at the Y. M. C. A. meeting, Wednesday, November 12.

Sixteen of the boys voted "yes" to the question, providing that the number of people were restricted. Warren Willard believed 40,000 more each year should be allowed to enter, but Bill Woodward thought there were too many foreigners already in.

Gerald Russell felt some should settle here, but not as many as are now being allowed. Raymond Lott took an optimistic view to the question, stating that by having foreigners, their ideas and customs would help Americans understand them better, "and after staying here awhile would come to appreciate our customs and learn to understand us."

Bob Harleston agreed that they would help us in many ways, but thought fewer should be allowed to immigrate in order to protect the jobs of America's working men.

Only ones recommended by their former governments as good citizens should settle here, stated Marion Ponder, but James Marble thought it wasn't fair to the United States to let such a large number settle here.

Chairman for the discussion was Elvin Reeves.

bath. It connects with the foods laboratory.

The food laboratory contains six units, each a complete kitchen. One of the kitchens will be used as a teacher's demonstration kitchen, and the other five will be used by students in their courses. The washing machine and clothes dryer will also be located in the kitchen unit.

The clothing laboratory will have eight sewing machines, six large cutting tables, three ironing boards, and a half bath.

The total floor space in the building will be 4000 square feet.

With the blueprints being studied now, it is hoped that contracts for the construction can be let by December 5, President McLendon said.

Hinds Wraps up State J. C. Laurels With 66-14 Victory Over Booneville

Cinching the title hopes, the Hinds Junior College Eagles rolled over the Booneville squad, 66-14, Thursday night on Eagle Field.

Hinds received the kickoff and immediately marched down the field for a touchdown, with Larry Troxler going over from the 26 yard line. Graham converted and Hinds was out front, 7-0. After forcing Northeast to punt, Hinds received the ball on Booneville's 47 yard line, and in three plays the Eagles still led with 13 points. Byron O'Quinn scored from the 26. Graham's conversion was wide.

Northeast was forced to punt for the second time and with Derl Burr running 41 yards for the touchdown, the Hinds eleven remained ahead, 20-0, at the end of the first quarter.

During the second quarter Troxler ran 64 yards for the fourth touchdown, with Graham's conversion good, running the score up to 27 points. Charlie Dees, defensive guard scored the next six points when he caught a Booneville fumble in mid air and raced 25 yards. Graham's conversion raised the score to 34.

Northeast broke into the scoring column late in the second quarter when Paul Stovall ran from the 10 yard line to give Booneville their first six points. Wayne Hudson's conversion gave the Tigers 7 points to Hinds' 34.

Bob Smith received Northeast's kickoff and streaked 90 yards for another touchdown, with no man touching him. The try for the extra point failed, but Hinds still led, 40-7. Before the half ended, Hinds' Troxler threw Smith a pass, who covered 56 yards for another 7 points. Bill Graham's extra point put Hinds out front, 47-7 as the half ended.

In the third quarter, Hinds scored only once, when Troxler ran 45 yards. At the end of the quarter, Hinds was out front by a score of 53-7.

Northeast scored in the final quarter when Eddie Hargett scored and Hudson converted, giving the Tigers 14 points. Harry Massey scored twice for Hinds, covering 18 yards for both touchdowns. When the final whistle blew, Hinds was on top by a score of 66-14.

With the exception of the first few minutes of play, the Raymond girls led Terry throughout the contest, despite the efforts of fast breaking Terry forwards.

Rosa Taylor led the scoring for the Raymond lassies with 21 points. Martha Gillespie followed with eight, and Lou Kendrick with four. Outstanding guards were Jewel Mattis, Mary Will McKenzie, and Peggy Stubbs.

Other members of the team include Jackie Andrews, Ratty Banes, Mary Francis Bray, Helen Cowart, Dolly Dendy, Bebe Epperson, Barbara Furness, Dorothy Gill, Mary Lilies, Melanie Matthews, Donna

The tournament had previously been scheduled for November 21-22, but dates were changed because of the Southern-Louisville game on November 22.

Final Standings To Be Determined In Saturday Games

Hinds will have to wait until Saturday to see whether it will have to share its conference championship with the Pearl River Wildcats, a team they defeated 20-0 earlier this year.

Hinds finished its season last Thursday with a 66-14 victory over Northeast of Booneville to earn a record of nine victories and one loss. Pearl River, with one game to play, won its eighth against one loss Saturday by beating East Central 27-20.

The Wildcats end their season against Jones at Poplarville Saturday and the game will either move Pearl River into a deadlock with Hinds or drop Pearl River out of the picture.

Copiah-Lincoln took over third place Saturday by beating Jones 9-7, while East Mississippi lost 33-7 to Southwest. The loss dropped East Mississippi into a fourth place tie with Perkinston, which was idle last week. Southwest pulled into sixth place with the win.

In other games last week, Holmes beat Northwest 21-29 and Sunflower dropped Itawamba 23-13.

Next week's schedule has Holmes at Co-Lin, Jones at Pearl River, and East Central at Perkinston in the last games of the season.

Dr. Me-iung Ting To Speak Tonight At Vesper Service

Dr. Me-iung Ting, native of China and now a refugee in the United States, will speak tonight on "Christian vocations," at the vesper services to be held in the Music Hall auditorium at 7:00.

A graduate of Mt. Holyoke, Mass. and of the University of Michigan, Dr. Ting was head of a hospital at Tiensin for twenty years. She has served as regional president of China's Medical Association, and for several years she was president of the International Relief Committee, doing refugee work.

When the Communist Government took over and confiscated all her possessions in 1950, she escaped to the United States. She is now teaching pre-nursing students at Tougaloo College.

Dr. Ting's appearance at Hinds is sponsored by the campus Y. W. C. A. After her talk she will hold a discussion period in which any student may speak with her.

Choir to Present Christmas Music Thursday Night

Hinds Junior College's Chorus will stage its annual program of Christmas music in the college auditorium Thursday night at 8 o'clock, according to Mr. Don J. Maxwell, choral director.

The 45 voice choir will open its program with "Deck the Halls," then present "Wassai, Wassail" and "I Heard the Bells."

Norma Joyce Owen will sing a vocal solo, "I Travelled the Road to Bethlehem."

The choir will then sing "Lo, How a Rose," "Bring a Torch," and "I Wonder as I Wander," followed by another vocal solo, "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem," sung by Bobby Trotter.

The choir's singing of "The Coventry Carol" and "Silent Night, Holy Night" will close the program.

Preceding the choir's a capella songs, President G. M. McLendon will read a selection of Scripture.

Y. M. C. A. REPORTS HOLIDAY PROJECTS

The Hinds County Home for the Aged will receive a Christmas package from the Hinds Y. M. C. A. this year, according to an announcement by the president, John Lawrence.

The group has also sent a package to the American forces overseas.

At their last meeting the boys discussed "Police Action in Korea" and Raymond Baker had charge of the devotional.

WHO'S WHO

College who's who nominees will be named in balloting Friday, December 11, from 8:30 until 1:30, in the New Administration Building. Only college students will be eligible to vote in the nominating election, or in the run-off election to be held next Monday.

High school who's who elections will be conducted immediately after the Christmas holidays.

HJC DRAMATIC CLUB INVITED BY CO-LIN FOR APPEARANCE THERE

The Hinds Junior College Dramatic Club has been invited by the Co-Lin dramatics group to perform for them in the near future. "The Spinsters Convention," a short skit, will be presented.

At their meeting Friday, the Hinds club selected a lapel pin to order for the dramatics organization.

Job Opportunities In Mississippi Discussed At Freshman Meetings

The days of "just falling into" a job are over, Hinds Junior College students were warned by two employment experts, who discussed employment and vocations at two recent meetings of the freshman class.

The two experts were Miss Eleanor Zevs, of the state department of education and Orville Simmons of the state employment bureau. All Hinds students were invited to hear the discussions.

They warned that there are over 100,000 college graduates; over 1,000,000 high school graduates, and a great many high school and college "drop outs" entering the labor market each year.

They also pointed out that one out of every four employees in America today is dissatisfied with his present employment or particular job. Another one-fourth is found to be inefficient in their present job, meaning that approximately 50 per cent of all employees in America today are in need of vocational guidance or assistance.

They urged students to seek such guidance before they begin preparing for a career, to prevent such unhappiness as can result from the wrong occupation.

Careers should be planned early, so that one does not have to discard half a lifetime of experience and training and begin again. In this complex society of today, they pointed out, this career planning calls for the assistance of experts and trained personnel, particularly in the matter of taking inventory of your abilities and preferences in work fields.

Think Before You Vote

Friday, the college students go "to the polls" to nominate their candidate for the annual Who's Who contest. This is an important undertaking and serious consideration should be taken before someone is nominated for one of the titles. The two most important titles in the entire contest are "Mr. and Miss H. J. C." The two students eligible for these honors should be ones who are capable of leadership, citizenship, and scholarship; who are friendly and respect others; and who are earnest in whatever they do. Some people think the most popular boy and girl deserve the honor, but popularity is only a minor asset. Certainly a person who is known and well-liked should be considered, but there are so many other characteristics that should be judged.

Don't rely on the other fellow to do the nominating, telling yourself that you'll vote if someone will only nominate. Perhaps the other fellow will just sign his best buddy's name and that person may be one of the less liked students on the campus. Another may, all in fun, put down someone's name that is popular but makes low grades, skips classes, breaks rules, and the like; then the persons that truly deserves the nomination will not have a chance in the elections.

Think before you proceed to nominate the persons for those two top titles — they are the most important.

As for the other honors, from "Most Intellectual" to "Greenest Freshman," they will speak for themselves. The brightest boy or the silliest girl will be known and can qualify for the minor positions.

The who's who winners will represent Hinds, and certainly we want the finest students up for these honors. Don't put someone's name down because he happens to sit next to you in chapel or she always wears the shade of lipstick you like or situations to that effect. Nominate with the idea that that person is better for the title than anyone else.

HJC Purchases New Magnecorder To Record Programs for Broadcast

A $600 magnecorder machine for use in recording programs for weekly presentation over station WSLI, has been ordered by Hinds Junior College, according to Mr. Leonard Hart of the Speech Department. "This machine is the best that could be bought in the low-priced bracket," Mr. Hart states, "and it was recommended by the radio engineers of both stations WSLI and WJDX."

The fifteen-minute program that has been presented weekly over WSLI at 6:30 o'clock each Wednesday evening has been produced by the staff of the station; however, just as soon as the new machine arrives here on the campus, Mr. Hart will take charge of the programs. He is planning to use as much student talent as possible, and according to him, "That is the purpose of the programs — to exhibit the talent of Hinds Junior College to the people of this area."

In connection with the radio work, a three-hour course in Radio Production is being offered next semester. Anyone interested must contact Mr. Hart or Miss Herrin.

In addition, Mr. Hart is making out a schedule of programs and any student with talent should talk to Mr. Hart. A two-months program already has been scheduled and following is an example of the type of entertainment to be broadcast to the public: Interpretative Reading by Janie Mashburn; vocal numbers by June Liss and Norma Owen; dramatization of "The Fall of the House of Usher"; news from Hinds; musical numbers by Mr. Don Christmas and his pupils; vocal solos by Miss Thelma Prassel; and an evening of singing by the Boys' Quartet.

'Poultry Demonstrations' Will Be Discussion Topic At Boys' 4-H Club Meeting

"Poultry Demonstrations" will be the topic of the boys' 4-H Club program, Thursday at activity period, according to Mr. W. M. McKenzie, sponsor.

All boys are requested to attend this meeting since pictures for the annual will be made.

Last week at the 4-H meeting, Mr. John High, assistant county agent in charge of poultry, met with the boys and discussed poultry judging.

HINDS JR. SAYS:

The less a fellow knows the more eager he is to prove it to anybody who will listen.

Vocational Class Makes Field Trip

Twenty students in the refrigeration class of the Vocational Department made a field trip to the Midwest Ice Cream Company in Jackson recently, accompanied by their instructors, Mr. Bill Hamilton and Mr. Charlie Williams.

Those attending include G. C. Arnold, H. S. Burt, Billy Hays, M. A. Jenkins, B. E. Tompkins, E. W. Williams, B. E. Haley, D. S. Beard, J. E. Golden, R. J. Overfy, N. O. Price, H. N. Scott, C. C. PHYSICS DEPARTMENT ORDERS EQUIPMENT FOR LABORATORY WORK

New equipment for the college physics laboratory experiments has been ordered and is expected to arrive near the beginning of the second semester, according to Mr. Michael Johnnedes, physics instructor.

This equipment, valued at more than $1000, will give the physics department experiments in electricity, light, and magnetism.

Lab equipment for conducting experiments on heat has already arrived.

The laboratory has been short of apparatus in some fields of experiment since it was destroyed when the Science Building burned in 1950.

Hinds Debaters Receive Ratings From Ala. Confab

Rating sheets on Hinds Junior College's debaters from the discussion conference held at the University of Alabama have been received, according to Miss Ruth Boyd.

Although the Hinds students competed with students from 22 senior colleges and only one other junior college, with most of the competitors being speech majors, the Raymond students rated nine excellent ballots and "good" ratings. In single points they scored three superior grades, 30 excellent grades and 53 good, with a total of 133 of a possible 180 points.

Each student took part in five rounds of discussion, under a different judge for each round. Each judge graded on five different points, giving each student five ballots with five points on each ballot.

Superior points netted 1; excellent, 2; good, 2; average, 4; and below average, 5.

The points on which they were graded were the ability to integrate their own ideas toward a group consensus, personal responsiveness to the question and to the group, analysis, use of evidence, and presentation and delivery.

Mashburn, Wade Successfully Make First Solo Flights

Two Hinds Junior College students lost their shirt tails Friday morning. They were Dan Mashburn and Allison Wade.

Both are flight students of Mr. Kennis Bryant, flight and aircraft and engine instructor. Both have been taking flying instruction.

Friday as each of them took off with Mr. Bryant for their instruction, their teacher said, as they reached the run-way, "Here, let me out now." After climbing out he told the startled boys, "Take it on up."

They both succeeded in solo flights and made perfect landings.

"No Chinese landings yet," Bryant said, explaining the term as meaning: "Wun Wing Lo."

The only trouble anyone had was Mr. Bryant himself. Dan Mashburn was so excited over soloing that he returned the plane to the hangar, leaving Mr. Bryant stranded a half-mile away, rather than returning to his flight starting point.

In keeping with airmen's customs, other members of the class caught Dan and Allison and clipped their shirt tails.

Meeting of Lendon Players To Be Held After Vespers; Will Preview New Play

The Lendon Players are scheduled to meet after vespers tonight in the speech classroom to read the new play, "Only An Orphan Girl," which will be given at a later date.

The play contains parts for nine people.

Excuses For Absentees No Problem For Average Student At Hinds

By J. P. MERRIT

Some excuses are better than others for missing classes, Hinds students have learned from their deans, who are charged with writing their admits to classes and determining if the absence is to be excused or unexcused.

Most original one they have en-

'ETIQUETTE' TOPIC AT FROSH MEETING

"Campus Etiquette" was the theme of the panel discussion at the joint meeting of the freshmen and sophomores Monday at activity period.

Serving on the panel were Mr. J. C. Treloar, chairman; Miss Gertrude Davis, Miss Emma Fancher, Mr. T. T. Beemon, Mr. A. L. Denton, and Miss Margaret Smith, representing the faculty; Jane Bishop, and Johnny Durst from the Freshman class; and Vivian Wadsworth and Billy Dungan from the Sophomore class.

Some of the topics of the discussion included pushing in the lunch line, teacher-student relationship, promptness of girls returning to the dormitory at night, and loud radios.

Conclusions brought out concerning the above subjects were: Be courteous in the lunch lines, await your turn to eat, and avoid pushing or getting up toward the front of the line; a student should be friendly toward his teacher and not be afraid to converse in private; girls should strive to be in the dormitory as soon after 7:15 as possible; and students should be considerate of their dormitory neighbors and avoid turning their radios up full volume.

countered this year was "foggy weather and a sick cow," which Dean A. L. Denton believes will be his top one this year.

"I just had to doctor my sick cow," the student said, "and then it was so foggy I just couldn't make it."

Cars, too, are good excuses, if students can be taken seriously. They never miss on even one cylinder when 3:30 comes Friday afternoon. They run beautifully over the weekends. But like the students, the cars just don't want to head to school Monday; so promptly break down, necessitating students' missing Monday morning's classes.

Some students, though, make no bones of their shortcomings. "I just had to go squirrel hunting," one unabashed absentee announced.

Alarm clocks fail to work, and even roommates can't be trusted to wake one up. Watches stop. The buses run too early. Late breakfast. All these have been offered this year to explain absences.

Near the top of the list of "good" excuses is "ate so much Sunday dinner couldn't make it back."

Another excellent one is the story about having a fuss with a girl friend and taking the day off to make it up.

Other favorite excuses are dental appointments (Hinds boys have the best or worst teeth in the world, Mr. Denton says), VA appointments, and sick grandmothers (one boy has one co-operative grandmother who has died four times already in the past year and a half.)

Story Of The Yule Carols

With the jingle of bells, the scent of cedar trees, and the appearance of holly and mistletoe, no one can doubt that Christmas is near. Every day there are scores of men, women, and children scampering in and out of stores getting the last minute shopping done, and on the lips of many of these people are the words of the familiar carols that are heard playing in various shops — the same carols that warmed the hearts of people last Christmas, and the ones that are known all over the world.

Many of these carols, which play a tremendous role in the season's festivities, date back as early as the 16th century. Not only are they a favorite in America, but in many foreign lands. A great many of them originated in Europe and the Orient, and have been translated in over a hundred dialects.

One of the earliest carols was "The First Noel," written in France during the 16th century. It is a true folk-song, having traditional words and music. The first verse tells of the shepherds, while the following verses tell of the Magi who arrived the Twelfth Night. According to tradition, the verses are supposedly sung by the shepherds and the refrain by the angels.

"O Little Town of Bethlehem" was written by a lover of children in the 18th century. It was Phillips Brooks, popular young rector of Philadelphia, Pa., who was out on the starlit hills of Palestine on Christmas Eve. His sublime experience on the hills above the town of Bethlehem served as the inspiration for the poem, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

This carol is one of the most popular of all carols of American origin. The music to the poem was also written by a lover of children, Lewis Redner, an organist and superintendent of a Sunday School in Philadelphia. He had promised the children that he would write a melody for the poem so that they might sing it at the next service. When he went to bed the following Saturday night, the melody was still unwritten. During the night he suddenly awoke, and seeming to hear an "angel strain," he arose and hurriedly jotted down the notes of the melody, which he presented to the Sunday School the following morning.

An old traditional song from Wales is "Deck the Hall." It is one of the best known of the secular carols and is very popular in English-speaking countries.

Many centuries before the British Isles were Christianized, there was held a winter festival called Yule. This festival was celebrated about the same time that we celebrate Christmas. Yule, always a jolly season, was begun by bringing the Yule log, and followed by decorating with holly and icy, singing and dancing, sumptuous feasting on plum puddings and mince pies, and drinking from the Wassail Bowl. The festivities lasted as long as the Yule log burned, so a large log, green and damp, was always chosen, so that the merry season of leisure might last as long as possible.

"Deck the Hall" is one of the jolly carols of these Yule celebrations. The words make no reference to the Nativity, but tell much about the customs and season of Yule.

When Issac Watts published the "Psalms of David" in 1719, he did not know that he had included any Christmas songs in his collection. His "Psalms" was a collection of hymns and paraphrases based on the Psalms of the Bible. One of these was taken on the 98th Psalm, and was entitled "Joy to the World."

HJC Baby Eagles Sport 3-1 Record

Defeating Madison, Florence, and St. Joseph high schools, the Raymond High cagers are sporting a three won — one lost record now with their next home game scheduled Tuesday, December 16.

In the game with Madison High the boys won 27-25 for their first victory of the season. The Raymond girls' squad, previously victorious over Terry, though lost its first match, 38-24.

Raymond led in the boys' game until the final quarter when Madison came from behind to tie the score. A shot by Joseph Cox cinched the game in the last minute of play.

High scorer in the game was Madison's Axtell, who netted 18 of his team's 24 points. Leading scorers for Raymond were James Giles with 9, Ralph Butts and Jerry Smith with six each.

In the girls game Martha Gillespie with nine points and Lou Kendrick with eight led Hinds' scoring.

In the boys' games with Florence and St. Joseph, Florence was a stubborn opponent, but was edged out 36-33, while St. Joseph proved to be an easier opponent, being defeated 40-29.

High scorer in the Raymond-Florence game was Ralph Butts of Raymond with 17 points. Garth Guy was leading scorer in the St. Joseph game with 14 points and Jerry Smith, also of Raymond, accounted for 11 more.

The Raymond girls defeated Florence and St. Joseph by scores of 27-17 and 39-23, respectively.

Rosa Taylor was high scorer in both games accounting for 13 points against Florence and 23 points against St. Joseph.

The Baby Eagles next game matches them with Jett, there, Friday. The game here next Tuesday against Terry opens at 7:30 p. m. in the Hinds gymnasium.

Eagles Defeat South Georgia 36-6 In Eighth Annual Lions' Bowl Game

Scoring in every way possible except a field goal, and attempting that, the Hinds Junior College Eagles rolled over South Georgia Junior College, 36-6 in the eighth annual Laurel Lions Bowl, Saturday night.

The first score came when Bob Smith ran 35 yards after Hinds received the kickoff clixaming a sustained drive. Bill Graham made the extra point, which put the Eagles 7-0 over their opponents in the first 12 minutes of the quarter.

During the second quarter Hinds again scored after a drive climaxed by Troxler when he went over from the 10. With Graham's conversion, the score was raised to 14-0. After another seesaw battle, South Georgia was forced to punt, but was unable to get the punt off. Jack Bass broke through to block the punt and Durwood Graham fell on the ball in the end zone for a touchdown. The try for the extra point was short and the Eagles had a 20-0 lead.

Late in the second quarter South Georgia finally broke into the scoring column when Frank Hanna covered nine yards on a touchdown, after he received a pass. Pete Cox's attempt for the extra point was wide and the score became 20-6, still in favor of Hinds. But in the last 12 minutes of the second quarter the Eagles came back once more to score, when Larry Troxler went over from the 9 yard line. The extra point was good.

During the third quarter another touchdown was made by the Hinds squad when Jack Bass intercepted a pass from a Georgia quarterback and raced untouched for 30 yards. Again Graham's conversion was good.

The Hinds reserves played during the second half, giving every man of the team a chance to see action. In the closing minutes Hinds attempted to score when Bill Graham tried for a field goal, which fell short. The ball was brought out to the 20 and Georgia took over. Thrown for a loss and a penalty forced the Georgia eleven back in the shadows of their own goalposts. Durwood Graham tackled a Georgia back behind the goal line, giving Hinds two points and a 36-6 lead in the ballgame. After the kickoff by Georgia, Hinds ran the time out.

Immediately following the game the team was presented two trophies by the Laurel Lions Club, one of which is permanent, and the other which will be kept one year.

Changes In Rules Will Speed Playing In Girls Cage Game

By ANN COLLIER

Girls basketball, always a crowd-pleaser at Hinds before, will be even faster this year, according to several new rule changes announced this season, Coach Troy A. Ricks reports.

The new rules for girls puts their game on a near-par with that of the boys, except for the divided court. About the only thing that hasn't been changed is the court and the basic equipment of the game. Even there, if coaches agree, a rubber ball may be used.

Some of the other rules provide:

A girl may dribble all over the end of the court on which she is playing. The three-second rule in the free-throw lane is to be the same as for the boys; that is, a player playing offense cannot stand in the free throw lane more than three seconds at any time.

When the guards have the ball, the ball has to go up the court to the forwards within 10 seconds; and it cannot recross the dividing line unless it has been touched by the opposing team.

Any foul involving only one shot is to be known as 1-1; that is, if the shooter misses the first show, she gets another trial, except in double or multiple fouls and after a try for field goal is successful.

In shooting a free shot a player cannot jump across the line. If she makes a free shot and jumps across the line, the goal is nullified and the opposing team takes the ball on the outside.

If the first free throw is unsuccessful and she jumps across the line, the player gets a 1-1 shot. If a field goal is made the ball goes back to the center of the court as before, but after a successful free shot the ball is put into play at the end.

If the free throw is unsuccessful, the girls will scramble for the ball just as the boys.

All jump balls have to be jumped in the nearest of the three circles. During the last three minutes of the game all fouls bring two free throws, except if they occur on a successful try for field goal, in which case only one shot is allowed.

No foul shot can be waived and the ball taken outside as was the case previously.

Boys' basketball, too, has had some changes, Coach Ricks reports. Like girls' basketball, no foul can be waived and all fouls will draw a 1-1 shot, except the multiple fouls. In lining up for foul shots, the H for home and the V for visitors must be occupied by regular players and they must be within three feet of the lane.

Smith, and Billy Conlee following close behind.

Rosa Taylor was top scorer for the girls with 14 points. Lou Kendrick and Martha Gillespie followed with 10 and 9, respectively.

A Few In Every Crowd

Feel free to use the recreation room between activity priod and 7:30 p. m. every school day. But be sure to bring your own games.

That is the new situation forced on us by a handful of selfish people, who would rather destroy or steal recreational equipment than see the other 600 of us enjoy ourselves.

The new arrangement came as the result of the latest vandalism in the recreation room, when some clever person quite competently stole seven decks of cards.

The theft was noticed immediately. The recreation staff asked the culprits, who had not yet had time to leave, to please return the cards or check them out in the proper manner. They refused, and the rest of us are paying the penalty for them.

The theft of the cards was the final thing in a long series of unnecessary things by that little handful of people who hate for others to have a good time.

At the beginning of the year the recreation room was supplied with games of every description. Some of this was destroyed and stolen. The recreational leadership class and the faculty-student recreation committee replaced the equipment and extended the hours of use for the room.

Two days after the time extension, the cards were stolen—a gesture of appreciation from that little handful of students.

We said that other equipment had been stolen or destroyed. Perhaps you'll remember the expensive electric bowling game. It had one drawback. It required a specific typ of ball to operate. Our little vandals saw that drawback and deprived the student body of the game by stealing the ball.

One of the most popular games was the recently purchased dart game. The little handful of vandals weren't content to play the game as necessary. They preferred to throw the darts the full length of the recreation room. So—no dart game.

Checkers were another popular form of amusement. We have in our office the remains of several checker boards that were deliberately broken in pieces—apparently across someone's knee as a proof that they were strong enough to break a piece of cardboard with their bare hands.

Ping-pong was probably the most popular of all the recreation forms in the room. We also have on exhibit in our office quite a few broken ping-pong paddles and balls. Other paddles and balls were simply carried away.

The list of destroyed games includes almost every thing that has been put in the room since the beginning of the year—quoits, dominoes, checkers, carrom rings. It also includes the ash trays, which have been deliberately unscrewed from the tables and stolen. Even a rubber mat from the floor was stolen.

Years ago the Hinds students had no facilities for recreation other than a few checkerboards and two decks of cards. They used these games, but did not abuse them; so that they lasted for several years.

Seeking to fill a real need the college set up the recreation room and equipped it with everything possible in the way of games. With this variety it was hoped that everyone could use and enjoy the equipment. However, we now have the new situation—all the result of that little handful of people.

—Vivian Wadsworth.

MR. SWINNEY MAKES TRIP

Scrapbook Items

By this time all effects of the New Year's celebrations should be worn off and worry over mid-term exams should be in its place. There isn't one student who hasn't cracked a book, for these tests really determine how much one knows . . . Christmas is far behind now, but there are signs that it came. New shirts, sweaters, shoes, jackets, skirts, and costume jewelry have appeared that never were worn before and will be worn every day of the week until they are put in the bracket of "old and used." . . . There were more space cadets and Gene Autrys after Santa left the homes of thousands of small kids. We never thought of traveling to the moon when we were small, but there were other exciting places in the imagination to go. Wonder where the next generation will be going to?

I RESOLVE . . .

Made those New Year's resolutions yet? A student is smart if he stops to make them, and even smarter if he can keep them a week . . . By now the freshmen have had a taste of these exams and realize what a good job of wrecking the brain and paralyzing the hand they can do. But what a relief when all of the tests are behind and a new lesson can be studied . . . A word to the sophomores and high school seniors—make the most of the last semester, you'll regret you didn't when you look back over your school days and "remember when" . . . Want to buy something economical? You can purchase an annual—a book of memories that will always be treasured. Try that "two dollar down and pay the rest later" method and get your copy of the "Eagle" tomorrow!

CONGRATS . . . THANK YOU

Congratulations are in order to all who's who winners. The HINDSONIAN hated to keep the results secret so long but we wanted it as a surprise for the winners and a big story for this issue . . .

With the end of the semester coming up students must prepare for a long stretch of school days, for there will be no more holidays until Spring, and those dates are not officially set. So settle down to studying, for there'll be plenty of work to do and no rest time except on weekends . . . There are ten students graduating at the mid-term, three of them being high school seniors. To those who will be leaving Hinds, we wish them the best wherever they go . . . There will be quite a number of new students enrolling for the second semester, and it is up to us to help them get adjusted to their new surroundings. Be friendly to them and give them any information they will need.

Around the

By Vivian Wadsworth

Now that the new year has been run in there's no better time than the present to start sticking to those resolutions if you've made them. The students at Bailey Jr. High have made theirs and here's a few from the group, as reported in the BAILEY BUGLE:

"Get a date with at least one girl before March of next year."

"To put a 'Do not jerk' sign on my pigtail."

"Not to flirt."

". . . keep my diary up."

Anyone is lucky who can keep their resolution for a week.

Northwest Jr. College recently donated 100 pints of blood when the bloodmobile went through Senatobia. Students alone gave 97 pints.

In the ENOCHS ECHO, school paper of Enochs Jr. High, Jackson, was a poem reprinted from a neighboring school, which I'd like to reprint. This is the "Freshman's 23rd Psalm." The word "freshman" refers to a high school student in this case.

A man is my teacher, I shall not pass,

Me maketh me to sit in a classroom.

He leadeth me to the blackboard, He handeth me the chalk.

He guideth me in a straight path for my grade's sake.

Yea, thou I walk through the valley of knowledge, I learneth not, for I am dumb.

My notebook and pencil they accompany me.

He maketh me show my ignorance before my fellow students.

He annointeth my head with examples.

My fountain pen runneth over. Surely English and algebra shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the ninth grade forever.

Over at Perkinston Jr. College an editorial was written complaining about the food and the following week another editorial appeared in the paper "BULLDOG BARKS", which stated thus:

" . . . Everyone of us knows why we came to Perk. The main idea is to get an education, not to develop our taste buds and gastric organs.

"Had we taken up residence in the Waldorf-Astoria, we might expect to be served steak, caviar, phesant under glass, etc. . . . We all realize that this school is very inexpensive. We hardly pay more than a dollar a day and all of that does not go for meals. If anyone can eat better outside of Perk for the price we pay, kindly tell us how it's done!"

The fellows who wrote the article had some mighty good points and the same situation can easily be compared to our school as it was several months ago. Maybe they should adopt the "cafeteria style" as we have, and I'll bet there would be less complaints. That's a hint for you folks up Perkinston way.

Feature Editor Predicts New Year Will Bring New Gadgets - Television

A new year means resolutions and resolutions mean predictions, so Dixie Durbin, HINDSONIAN feature editor, has made a list of predictions she believes will happen to Hinds Junior College and to the students.

Her predictions are as follows:

1. Television will be so common that everyone will own an automatic popcorn popper.
2. Hinds basketball teams will astonish themselves by topping all previous records.
3. Westside dormitory will get a new face, while the girls will get a sample of a sardine's life.
4. At least one-tenth of New Year's resolutions will be long-lived.
5. The 1952-53 Hinds "Eagle" will be better than ever (better get your copy right away!).
6. Hinds students will be so eagerly awaiting term exams that all alarm clocks will be set "earlier" this week.

Women Have Troubles With Inmans; Twins Have Double Interesting Life

By GERALD RUSSELL

Twins lead a doubly interesting life, the Inman twins believe. Born in Flora on March 18, 1934, Joe and Willard have also led a confusing life.

In grade and high school their teachers were always getting them confused, punishing one for the other's disobedience; or, if they couldn't make a choice, letting their punishment "ride."

Both lettered in football, basketball, baseball, and track as seniors, and here, too, their physical likeness caused confusion. In a football game a left end had to be replaced. The coach sent Joe in, thinking he was Willard. Joe had been playing tackle, and the resulting confusion cost Flora five yards for delaying the game when the coach realized his mistake.

In basketball Joe fouled a boy accidentally. "I'll get even with you," the boy declared. Two plays

7. Results of term exams will reveal more passes than failures.

8. Because of "lack of business" the grill will have to close its doors.

9. New inventions of all kinds will crowd the market, especially time-saving devices such as automatic book-reading machines to do your studying for you during social hours.

10. Pushing in the cafeteria lines will definitely be a past problem of 1952, since everyone came back from Christmas holidays — over-stuffed!

11. Girls who don't marry in the Spring of '53 will probably look for a fall guy.

12. The most frequent financial crashes will occur when students start breaking their piggy banks.

13. School will undoubtedly be over in May.

14. The only folks who will be sitting on top of the world in 1953 will be the Eskimos.

later he hit Willard.

It's their love life that has been most complicated, though, by their twinning. Both have switched dates on girls at parties "just for the fun of it."

Once Joe wished to date a girl, but couldn't get off from work. She, too, seemed to like Joe; so Willard took advantage of the situation. Willard dated her for several times before he revealed his true identity.

A similar situation occurred when Joe had a date with "Miss Nettleton High," while Willard had a date with one "who didn't look so good," as he phrases it. After the party got underway, Joe left his girl to get refreshments. Willard walked in and the two began having a wonderful time. Joe returned and as the girl's mouth dropped open, Willard calmly said, "excuse me," and left Joe to explain.

TO NEW LEVEL

Two men were discussing inflation in the public library. Said one, "I wonder where the dime novel has gone."

The other, who knew something of literature in its various phases, answered cynically, "It's gone to $2.50."

Three Hinds Girls Tell of 4-H Trip To N. Y. Meeting

Three Hinds girls and their 4-H leader — Fleda McElvoy, Barbara Brummett, Mary Will McKenzie, and Miss Mary Jane Hall — recently won a trip to New York as delegates to the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association.

Leaving Meridian around 11:00 a. m., Saturday, December 6, on the Southerner, they arrived in New York around 1:30 p. m. Sunday. They stayed at the Henry Hudson Hotel.

They were honored Sunday afternoon with a tea given by the former Norma Zeringue of Raymond, now living in New York.

They immediately launched into a whirl of events that continued throughout the week with one day set aside for work.

A "get acquainted" breakfast was served Monday morning for all delegates so they would get to know each other as there were delegates from all over the United States.

Among the places they toured were the Markets, Lower Manhattan, the R. C. A. Building where they saw a show, the American Export Liner, the U. S. S. Constitution, American Museum of Natural History, the Bronx Zoo, and the United Nations Building.

New York was just getting in the mood for Christmas. The girls and Miss Hall saw "Star of Bethlehem" at the Hayden Planetarium. They also saw the 85 foot Christmas tree being decorated.

Fleda said, "There were so many tall buildings, that my neck got stiff from looking up so much."

They saw the Statute of Liberty also. Fleda and Barbara are said to have walked to the top of it.

They attended two stage shows while there — "The King and I" and "South Pacific." They also saw Kate Smith's TV show.

Thursday was a climax for their stay in New York. The judging contest was held that day with a banquet that night. The awards were presented then.

They left New York Friday morning at 8:00 a. m. on the Pennsylvania and went to Washington. In Washington they saw many interesting places, such as Lincoln, Washington, and Jefferson monuments, Blair and White House, and they visited in the buildings where the various departments of the government are housed.

They arrived in Jackson "glad to see good old Mississippi again," Saturday night.

Fleda says, "New York is a wonderful place, but I like Mississippi."

Although neither of the girls won first place, they had a wonderful trip.

Tip For The Week: If you wear glasses and are tired of stumbling over chairs as you walk into a warm room from the cold outside, why not rub your wet fingers over soap, then over the lenses, and polish with tissue paper? You will then have clear eyeglass lenses that steam will not cloud.

Should The Game Room Re-Open?

There's been no effort made by those culprits who stole the seven decks of cards from the recreation room to return the lost property, and their hesitance is still keeping several hundred students bored with nothing to do. At least they didn't take something large like the couches or the ping pong tables. If they had, we would either be sitting on the floor or the recreation room would be closed.

No one is interested in the names of the people who "lifted" the decks, but only in getting the cards back. When you start figuring how much those decks cost, it runs into money, and they cannot be replaced every time any one of 52 cards disappear. Yet, we are not entirely concerned with the money angle as we are to the problem of having some thoughtless, students who think they are so clever by being able to pick things up without anyone's knowing it.

While the game equipment is gathering dust, students and teachers are debating whether or not the "rec" room should be opened again. Many students argue that we are better off now without any recreational facilities, whereas others complain of having nothing to do but sit in the grill, and that gets to be expensive. Still others agree that if you can get away with taking something and not getting caught, that's okay—more power to you. But can we stand the continuation of stealing?

If the Student-Faculty Council decides to take charge of the game equipment, can any of the students be trusted enough to be lent cards, checkers, and other games? Will the students return the games in good condition? If there is another chance for us to prove that we want a game room and facilities to fill our empty hours, will we succeed? The answers to these questions lie with the students themselves.

Perhaps the answer to this problem is in issuing tickets to each student to be presented at the door of the "rec" room. Those seen abusing the games should be reprimanded and their tickets taken away and they prohibited from entering the recreational room. Perhaps this seems childish and silly, but it appears that we are dealing with childish persons. Surely no adult would abuse the property as some of these smarties around here did.

No one can say when and if we can again check out the ping-pong game, checkers, dominoes, and quoits. Only time and concern of the students will tell.

First GI Couple Now Attending Hinds Under the GI Bill of Rights

Some several hundreds of G. I. Joes, conservatively speaking, have been through Hinds Junior College since adoption of the G. I. Bill of Rights, but Hinds has something new now, a married G. I. couple, both attending school on the G. I. Bill.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Nutter of the Veterans Apartments, H. J. C., who enrolled last semester after being released from Uncle Sam's Army.

The wife, Jo Nell Nutter was a student at Hinds during the 1949-50 session. A native of Flora, she enlisted in the Women's Army Corps, and was assigned to the Engineers' Corps. Thomas is a native of Fort Scott, Kansas, and attended Fort Scott High and Junior College before entering the regular army in August, 1948. He too was assigned to the Corps of Engineers.

Jo Nell attended drafting school at Fort Belvoir, and was then stationed there. Her boss was Nutter, but neither noticed the other particularly until a "section party" after both won promotions, she to the rank of private, first class, he to first sergeant. They began dating after seeing each other there, meanwhile working in the same office.

Six months later she "decided she'd like to be boss for a change," and they were married at her parents' home in Vicksburg.

Nutter was discharged three months before she was, but managed to find work in nearby Washington as an employee of a government insurance office. The couple had their own apartment, nine miles from their work, and had to leave at six in the morning and arrived home at six in the evening. "It was worth it, though," they both declare.

After she secured her release from the WACs, they headed South to Hinds Junior College. Here he is majoring in physical education and plans a career in that field in the Midwest. (She says, "in the South.") She is majoring in elementary education and, too, plans to teach. He's a freshman and she's a sophomore, and they plan to go on to some other school at the end of this year — which one they haven't decided.

EASIER METHOD

An old mountaineer and his son were sitting in front of the fire smoking their pipe, crossing and uncrossing their legs. After a long silence, the father said, "Son, step outside and see if it's raining."

Without looking up, the son answered, "Aw, Pa, why don't we jest call in the dog and see if he's wet?"

DIDN'T VOTE

"What party do you affiliate with?" the election judge asked the mountain gal.

"Has I gotta answer that?" she frowned.

"If you want a ballot you do."
"Wa-al, then I don't want no ballot, 'cause the party I affiliates with ain't divorced yet."

WRONG NICKNAME

When William was getting ready for college he told the family, "I wish you all would stop calling me 'Big Bill'."

"Why?" they asked.
"College names sometimes stick, and you know I am going to be a doctor."

Solemn Vows by Hinds Students Include Grades, Personality, Love Life

More studying, less socializing, making good grades, and eating more are some of the resolutions many Hinds students have made, according to a survey made on the campus.

The students who were interviewed and their "resolved resolutions" are as follows:

Taking a modern language? Then you will appreciate this one:

Fond Mother: "Yes, Jane is taking French and Algebra. Say good morning to Mrs. Jones in Algebra, dear."

The sofa sagged in the center;
The shades were pulled just so;
The family had retired;
The parlor lights burned low;
There came a sound from the sofa,
As the clock was striking two,
And the student closed his textbook
With a thankful, "Well, I'm through."

A very thin man met a very fat man in the hotel lobby.

"From the looks of you," said the fat man, "there might have been a famine."

"Yes," was the reply, "and from the looks of you, you might have caused it."

Sign in mess hall: "Don't kick about our coffee. You may be old and weak yourself someday."

HINDS JR. SAYS:

Work is something when we have it we wish we didn't; when we don't have it we wish we did, and the object of most of it is to be able to afford not to do any some day.

Don Soileau — I shall make an effort to study more in my school subjects and make an attempt to cut down on my social hours.

Orlando Hughes—I have none to make, none to break.

Margaret Holliday — I resolve to get that man before he changes his mind.

Joel Soileau — I resolve to cut down on my studying so as to get two good hours of rest each night, and to catch up with my love letter writing.

Jean Ainsworth — I'm 'gonna see this year out with the bang it came in with.

Clara Clement — I haven't got any, but I'm not going to be good.

Bill Graham — I resolve not to fall for any girl's lines.

Rita Faye Sowell — Get to classes on time, make good grades, eat all I want, but not get fatter.

Frank Polk — I resolve that when I lie to the ladies I shall do it with the utmost sincerity.

June Liss — Eat less, love more, be merry.

Carlo Fazzio — I resolve to take Peggy's ruling hand from over me.

Milton Wall — I resolve that in the coming year I shall start dating.

Waverly Liles — I vow to be true to the one and only.

Hollis Deen — I resolve to study even less in the future than I have in the past.

Moe Oglesby — To eat everything I can get my hands on.

Salvador Canahuati — To do my best next semester; the last one is done gone!

Lou Barrett — To lose 50 pounds by August, and to be nice and considerate to people.

Alfredo Handal — To be a good and nice person to everyone and to graduate.

Bobby Harris — I resolve not to eat too many roaches in the coming year, and not to date boys.

Raymond Tomlinson — I resolve to leave all women alone.

"Whoever taught you that dreadful word?" Willie's mother asked.

"Santa Clause," he answered righteously.

"Santa Claus?" his mother exclaimed.

"Yes, Mama," he explained, "last Christmas eve when he fell over the chair in the living room on his way to the tree."

A young doctor, who had hung up his shingle in a small town, waited for his first patient. Some days later one arrived—covered from head to foot with an angry, dangerous looking rash. The puzzled young medico hastily consulted his textbook but could find no help there. Finally he said to his patient, "Did you ever have this affliction before?"

"Oh sure, Doc," the patient replied. "I've had it twice before."

"Well," diagnosed the doctor, "you've got it again."

The lad was physically able to handle the job, but there was some doubt about his mental ability so he was being given a mental examination.

"How many ears has a cat?" asked the psychologist.

"Two," replied the lad instantly.

"And how many eyes has a cat?"

"Two."

"And how many legs has a cat?"

"Wait a minute, doc," said the boy. "I'll run home and get you a cat to look at, and then we can talk about this job you have open."

During the last day of the Christmas rush in a large department store, a frenzied clerk, overwhelmed by pushing women shoppers, was making out what she hoped would be the last sales check of the day. As the customer gave her name and address, the clerk, pushing her hair up from her damp forehead, remarked: "It's a madhouse, isn't it?"

"No," the customer replied angrily, "it's a private home."

COULD BE TRUE

A man who was keen on his garden was justifiably proud of his lawn. But one year the lawn had a heavy crop of dandelions. He tried everything he had ever heard of to get rid of them, but without success.

At last he wrote to a school of Agriculture. He gave a list of all the remedies he had tried, and ended his epistle with: "What shall I do now?"

In due course came a reply: "We suggest you learn to love them."

The young man wrote home from his new job, saying, "Made foreman—feather in my cap."

A few weeks later he wrote again, saying, "Made manager—another feather in my cap."

After some weeks he wrote again saying, "Fired — send money for train fare."

His father unfeelingly telegraphed back: "Use feathers and fly home."

"All the girls tote little cases
Designed for making up their faces.

I wish they had some other kinds
Designed for making up their minds!"

New Year's Bonus

Dentist: "I thought you said this tooth hadn't been filled before? I find traces of gold on my drill."

Patient (feebly): "Perhaps you have struck my collar button."

Magician (to small boy whom he has just called onto the stage):

"Now, young man, you have never seen me before, have you?"

Small boy: "No, daddy."

GOOD ADVICE

Mechanic: "My advice is to keep that car of yours moving."

Owner: "Why?"

Mechanic: "Well, if you ever stop, the cops will think it's an accident."

REALLY POTENT

Two soldiers were boasting about the potency of the moonshine in their particular part of the mountains.

"The white mule my uncle makes is so powerful you take one drink and you see colored pictures on your television," said one.

"That's nothing," said the other, "the moonshine my father makes is so powerful you see pictures on all twelve channels without a set!"

A reindeer walked into a restaurant and ordered a hamburger and soda. The waiter served him and kept two of the five dollars the reindeer had given him.

"Pardon me," said the waiter, "but I don't think I've seen a reindeer in here before."

"No," replied the reindeer indignantly as he picked up his change, "and you'll likely not see another—at these prices."

"How's Henry gettin' along at school, Si?"

"Not so well, Eph. They're learnin' him to spell 'taters with a P."

It was the custom of the congregation to repeat the Twenty-third Psalm in concert, and Mrs. Armstrong's habit was to keep about a dozen words ahead all the way through. A stranger was one day asking about Mrs. Armstrong. "Who," he inquired, "was the lady who was already by the still waters while the rest of us were lying down in the green pastures?"

Sam: "What is a caterpillar?"

Jane: "An upholstered worm."

You can tell the rugged sophomore 'Cause she never comes to harm;

You can tell the greenest freshman By her look of great alarm;

You can tell the stately senior By her manner, dress, and such;

You can also tell a junior, But you sure can't tell her much!

SELFISH FELLOW

Smith and his wife were sitting beside some palms on a hotel veranda one balmy spring evening, when a young couple came and sat on a bench on the other side of the palms. The young fellow at once began addressing the girl in loving terms, and Mrs. Smith grew uneasy. "I think he's going to propose, John, and he doesn't know we're here," she whispered. "Whistle to warn him."

"Why should I," growled Smith. "Nobody whistled to warn me."

Old wolves never die, their eyesight just fades away.

COMIN' OR GOIN'

Tommy: "Mom, is it true that we come from dust and will return to dust?"

Mom: "Yes, dear, that's what the Bible says. Why?"

Tommy: "Well, I just looked under my bed and there's somebody there, either comin' or goin'."

Many a girl dreams of making a millionaire stop, look and loosen.

MODERN VERSION

The 3rd grade was learning the letters of the alphabet.

"What comes after T?" the teacher asked.

Ella quickly replied, "V."

An argument is nothing but two people trying to get the last word first.

FUNNY FACES

It was lunch hour at the plant, and Pat's two buddies decided to play a little joke on him during his absence. They drew the features of a donkey upon the back of his coat. In due time Pat returned and presently hove in sight bearing the lime-decorated coat.

"What's the trouble, Pat?" asked one casually.

"Nothing much," replied Pat, equally indifferent, "only I'd like to know which one of yez wiped your face on me coat."

A publisher all his life had wanted to put out a book without misprints. Several proofreaders went through it, checking every word and letter. At last the publisher was satisfied. But only till he saw the book printed. For on the back of the title page it said:

IN THIS BOOK
THERE ARE NO
MISPRINTS

Classes in the second grade at school were facing the problem of addition. The teacher had put the question of the sum of ten and ten.

One boy jumped up and said: "I know how much that is."

"How much?" said the teacher. "Twenty-one," came the hesitant answer.

Whereupon another alert young citizen gave a cackle and exclaimed, "You don't have a Federal tax on second grade arithmetic!"

Professor: I would like a preparation of phenylisothiocyanate.

Drug Clerk: Do you mean mustard oil?

Professor: Yes. I never can think of that name.

She came to me at the close of day, when the lamps were being lit and a feeling of peace lay over the world. With cool fingers she caressed my forehead. Gently she took from me the volume of simple heartfelt verses which I had been reading. Softly she whispered into my ear: "I'll wash and you dry."

What was the theme song of the lonely volcano which Mr. Preston saw on his recent Hawaiian trip?

"Lava, Come Back to Me."

A small boy's head bobbed up over the garden wall and a meek little voice said, "Please, Miss Brown, may I have my arrow?"

"Certainly; where is it?"

"I think it's stuck in your cat."

Two of three girls who had grown up together were married, and thereafter they continually annoyed their spinster friend with tactless remarks about her unhappy condition.

The friend laughed off their comments good-naturedly until one day they went too far.

"Now, tell us truthfully," they twitted her, "have you ever really had a chance to marry?"

With a withering glance, she retorted, "Suppose you ask your husbands."

Just to make sure, the visiting sunseeker asked the native Floridian if there were any alligators around. Reassured, he dove in for a swim, only to hear the guy on the beach shout a footnote: "Alligators never come around here, the sharks scare 'em away."

Son: "Dad, I think I will settle down and raise chickens."

Father: "Better raise owls. Their hours will suit you better."

City Guide: "And that's a skyscraper."

Farmer: "What do ye know! I'd like to see it work!"

Little Miss Muffet sat on a tuffet,
Eating her curds and whey;
When along came a spider,
And sat down beside her,
And said, "Move over."

A pretty young girl applied for a job in the church office and was given an application blank to fill out. When she came to the line which read, "Last engaged," she hesitated a moment and then wrote:

"To Jack Miller."

A clergyman was spending the afternoon at a home in the English village where his church was located. After tea he was sitting in the garden with his hostess. Out rushed her little boy, holding a rat above his head.

"Don't be afraid, Mother," he cried. "It's dead. We beat him and bashed him and thumped him until . . ." and then catching sight of the clergyman, he said in a lowered voice, "until God called him home."

In a small village in Ireland, a mother of a soldier met the village priest, who asked her if she had had bad news. "Sure, I have," she said. "Pat has been killed."

"Oh, I am very sorry," said the priest. "Did you receive word from the War Office?"

"No," she said, "I received word from himself."

"But how is that?"

"Sure," she said, "and here is the letter; read it yourself."

The letter read: "Dear Mother: I am now in the Holy Land."

Edwards Boys, Utica Girls Victorious In Hinds County Tournament

The Utica girls and the Edwards boys captured the winners' trophies in the Hinds County High School Basketball Tournament held at Hinds last week, January 8-10, and the Byram girls and Utica boys won the runner-up trophies. COLD STORAGE PLANT PROCESSES FRYERS

The HJC Cold Storage Plant is processing 4000 fryers for the Hinds Junior College cafeteria. Mr. Grady L. Sheffield, manager, reports. The work on this began last week, he said, and is continuing this week.

TIP FOR THE WEEK:

Has your mind stopped ticking? Of course you realize that your alarm clock has to be wound up daily or it will run down. Your mind is a great deal like your alarm clock; it has to be wound up daily also. Special projects are necessary for alarm signals, and quite often minds, like clocks, have to be given a couple of vigorous jiggles to make them start ticking.

Hinds Classes Make Suggestions About Re-Opening of Rec Room

Seeking a solution to the problem of vandalism in the recreation room, Hinds Junior College classes met Tuesday to discuss ways and methods that the room might be kept open. It was closed recently after a series of thefts and acts of vandalism, and has remained closed since as the Recreation Council and recreational leaders sought an answer to the problem.

Meeting in the auditorium, the freshman class discussed recreational facilities at other junior colleges, bringing out the fact that Hinds is ahead of other schools in this respect.

Some of the suggestions the students brought up included: let each student be responsible for the equipment he checks out; set aside some money from the treasury to pay for the lost games, in this way the students would feel a more definite responsibility; have volunteers to be responsible for the job of checking the equipment in and out, and for a report to be given to the recreational committee listing the number of students willing to take the responsibilities.

At the sophomore meeting in the music auditorium the group listed eight suggestions, which include a freewill donation taken from the entire school to replace the lost games; have a group of workers selected to check the games in and out; use the equipment room in the lobby of the cafeteria building and remove the window so that the games can be

John Bell Williams to Send Inauguration Editions Of Washington, D. C., Paper

Hinds students will be able to read about the Presidential Inauguration from a Washington newspaper, in a few days, according to Miss Gertrude Rowzee, librarian. She has been notified by Congressman John Bell Williams of Raymond and Washington, that he is sending the Hinds library copies of the Inauguration editions of the Washington Star.

These editions will be available to students, faculty, and visitors in the library.

Progress On aGme Room Reopening

Since class meetings today, we think progress will be made on the recreation room situation. The classes are really interested in opening the room up and once it is open, I'll wager that there'll be no more trouble with the games.

Some of the suggestions brought up are very good, yet some present problems. If you haven't read the story on the meeting reports, do so; and if you can add some suggestions, don't hesitate.

If a freewill donation is taken up, can we be assured that the entire student body will donate—or will it fall on the hands of a few people. It is rightfully our duty to replace the lost equipment, not the school administration's. Even though some of us were not responsible for taking the games off, we should help in restoring the equipment.

We are going to be on our honor when the equipment room is opened again; and if we realize that what we do will reflect on others, that each of us is carrying a load of responsibility, we will not ruin our honor. Use the games and when you are through with them, check them in so others will have the right to use them next time.

Your reaction to this problem will be helpful to the recreational committee and to the Student Council. What you say will largely determine what action will be taken.

—Wadsworth.

Scrap Book Comment

For the past week or so there ought not to be a single person who hasn't gotten a letter, for TIME magazine sent letters to all college people, giving them a subscription rate. If you haven't received a letter from them, don't get anxious, you're bound to get one eventually.

CALLING ALL TENNIS PLAYERS . . .

Any of you boys who think you know something about tennis and are willing to practice diligently, should try out for the tennis team, under the direction of Mr. Morris. Last year we had a fine group of players who brought honors for the school. If you do make the team, you get a nice varsity letter for your sweater or jacket . . . Yesterday's classes were fine for some folks, so I understand. Instead of regular class work, the PA system was on and students listened to the Inauguration.

TELL THE HINDS GANG . . .

I received a letter from Sid White recently and he asked me to "find room for this in the paper, please."

"To all of Hinds Junior College:
To think we meet and then we part,
As night does from the day,
We find new friends then say good-bye
And each goes on his way.
And as we wander on through life,
And think of those we've met,
There always is a face or two,
We never can forget.
So if perchance we meet again,
As true friends oft times do,
I hope you will remember me,
As I'll remember you.

A friend in deed,

Sid White"

Sid, as you know was elected "Most Courteous" in the who's who elections recently. He added to his letter "Guess whom I took English literature under?" and it makes me wonder if he had memorized the poem before he wrote it (for the sake of Miss Boyd) or copied it . . . The next four years ought to be interesting to watch, now that the Republicans have taken over. There will be plenty of curiosity about what the President is doing and, frankly, just what he is thinking. Try to keep up with these four years and at the next inauguration, figure out what changes have taken place.

—Wadsworth.

PLAY CAST NAMED AFTER TRY OUTS

June Liss.

The plot of the play by Henning Nelms relates the story of a long suffering young lady who seems destined not only to lose her lover, but her life as well. The familiar characters of old time melodrama here are played up "to a hilt." The most thrilling scene, according to Mr. Hart, is "that in which dynamite (planted by the villain) is about to blow all the good characters to eternity, but Lucy picks up the dynamite just in time and throws it out the door."

Another exciting scene is in the sawmill, where Nellie, tied to a log, is approaching the circular saw which in a moment will tear her to pieces. The hero, who has been tied by the villain, is freed just in time to thrust aside the latter who draws a pistol on him and threatens to kill him if he dares to touch the lever that will save Nellie. The villain fires. The hero is wounded, and at this very instant, a friend opportunely appears to snare the villain, and lovely Nellie is safe in the arms of her hero.

The play will be presented in early March.

FRESHMEN NAME HART CO-SPONSOR TUESDAY

Former Ace Guardhouse Lawyer Reveals Lowdown on Soldier's Life

By CHARLES ADAMS

With the announcement that now 53,000 are to be called each month for Army duty, the draft is blowing a little stronger for eligible young men. For those who are hankering to fall into the lower 50% of freshmen class men and thus win a free trip to the induction center, we are passing on these few remarks about what you can expect after Uncle Sam says "I Want You."

This thing called the Army will be a new experience to most draftees. First comes that famous "Greetings" informing you that you have been selected by the President himself. Don't be smug; this is just an attempt at flattery. Next comes the physical examination to see if mother's little boy is up to the rigors of army life. Don't worry, if you can see anything and feel less you're in. Too, you'll find it's good experience if you ever decide to join a nudist colony.

Assuming that you pass your physical (did I say "assuming?"), it is usually several days or weeks before the final notification to report to the induction center. This will undoubtedly be a period of much merry-making. Most guys—knowing the jig is up—capitalize on their misfortune. Nothing is too good for Johnny since he's going away. You take the girl friend out every night and wonder who's going to take your place when you're gone. But then she tearfully assures you that she will do absolutely nothing but read books while you're away.

The day arrives when you have to bid all these pleasures farewell. As the train pulls out, some character shouts, "Don't let them get you in that infantry." That's like telling you to wade the Atlantic Ocean without getting your feet wet.

There is one thing that NEVER fails. Upon arrival at the induction center you will be greeted with a chorus of "You'll be sorry," coming from guys who've been in a week or two. (Old timers).

CHAPTER AID HIGH

Since 1943, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has returned more than $50,000,000 from its half of March of Dimes funds to county chapters which have "gone broke" paying for local patient care. Many of these counties are in Mississippi.

Time On His Hands

"Have you heard that one of the new prisoners has been made editor of the prison newspaper?"

Ed: "No! But he'll certainly be able to say a lot in one sentence."

Propinquity

A young direct mail enthusiast decided to court his girl by letter. He mailed her a proposal—by special delivery — every day for 65 days and, on the 66th day, the girl married the postman.

A young man called one evening on a rich old farmer to learn the farmer's story of how to become rich.

"It's a long story," said the old man, "and while I'm telling it, we might as well save the candle." And he blew it out.

"You needn't go on," said the youth. "I understand."

When you throw mud at somebody, you're the one that's losing ground.

If all railway employees who are equipped with police powers were to march four abreast at 10-foot intervals, they would form a marching column four miles long. Altogether, 7,000 railway employees are police officers or exercise police authority.

Nation of Phones

If the U.S. had only as many telephones in proportion to the population as the rest of the world, we'd now have less than 3,000,000 telephones in the whole country. Actually, there are more than that in service in New York City alone.

Things move rapidly at the induction center. With a little luck such things as shots, personal records, job-classification interviews, uniform issues, etc., will be accomplished in a few weeks. If you hear a rumor that you are to be inoculated with a square needle, don't worry about it. Although some of the needles may feel square, they actually are round.

The personal interview is another interesting experience. This is for the purpose of determining whether you are going to be a "Wheel" or just a plain ordinary dogface. The interviewer will likely be a scholarly looking Pfc with horn-rimmed glasses. Watch these guys. They're always drunk with power.

Always beware of the First Sergeant, especially when he's looking for volunteers. Don't even admit that you can breathe. For instance if you say you can drive, the chances are that you'll be told to grab a wheelbarrow and drive down to the rockpile.

Basic training will last anywhere from eight to thirteen weeks, depending on how bad replacements (fresh meat) are needed. This is definitely the roughest period of army life. Some prove

Raymond Squads Drop Jett In Pair

Winning their tenth game of their conference season, the Hinds Baby Eagles and Eaglettes dropped Jett High of Vicksburg here Tuesday night. The Hinds boys won 37-26, while the Eaglettes won 41-28.

Jerry Smith of Raymond and Jack Curtis of Raymond led the scoring with 12 points each. Melvin White of Raymond netted 10 for runner-up honors.

At the end of the first quarter Hinds led 13-2. At the halftime they had a 19-7 advantage; and at the third period, 29-20.

Frances Graham of Raymond netted 17 for scoring honors and Rosa Taylor, also of Raymond, was second with 12 points. High scorer for Jett was Dianne Ross with 8 points.

Quarter scores were 15-3; 25-11; 35-18; and 41-28, with Hinds leading each time.

The next games the Hinds squads will enter will be the Culin Invitational Tournament, Thursday-Saturday at Culin.

exceptionally adept at playing junior G-men and are made acting corporals. Others find the going too tough and come out horribly frustrated.

There is no bigger day in your army career than the end of basic training. The grind is over and you get a furlough and orders to report to your new assignment, which might be anywhere from the Pentagon to Pung Wung Woo.

With basic training over you can breathe easier. Not all phases of military life are as unpleasant as you might have been led to believe. Numerous women will throw themselves at your feet, especially around pay day. Toward the end of the month though, your romantic life may become a little dull.

The remaining months of your stretch will pass as quickly as years and you will be out before you know it. One last bit of advice—stay out of the mess sergeant's crap games, don't volunteer for anything, salute everything that moves—and you might make it.

4-H CLUBS PREPARE TO ENTER CONTEST

IN APPROACHING MONTHS

Four-H girls and boys are preparing for two further contests in the immediate future. At their last meeting girls judged exhibits of other members in preparation for entering the judging contests in April and June. At their last meeting the boys' club discussed livestock judging, in preparation for contests at the district livestock show in March.

Rescued Refrigerators

At one time manufacturers received complaints because children and grownups would bump into refrigerators with their toys and packages and the refrigerator coating would be chipped. To solve the problem, industrial finish designers developed a special finish that has extreme flexibility so that, when the refrigerator is banged, the finish bends with the metal.

Eagles Wallop Sunflower Trojans; Drop to Bobcats Over Weekend

Hinds Junior College's Eagles rolled over the Sunflower Trojans in a return match here Saturday night, but lost their Friday night game to the Jones Bobcats in the first appearances of the Hinds cage squads before home fans. The Hinds girls lost both their matches, although they led the Jones sextette during most of the game, and were within four points of victory in the Sunflower game.

The Eagles lost to Ellisville 96-83 while the Eaglettes lost 39-35. The Hinds boys defeated Sunflower 77-54, while the girls lost 31-27.

Next match of Eagles will be this weekend when they travel to North Mississippi to meet Fulton and Booneville. After meeting Southwest of Summit on January 27, the Eagles will begin an 8-game stand on their home court that will carry them through February 20.

In the Ellisville game the Jones squad led the Eagles throughout the game. At the end of the first quarter Hinds had 15 points to Jones' 26. At half-time Jones still led 34-72; and at the end of the third 72-57.

High score man for the game was Randall Boone of Jones with 30 points, six of them on free throws. High score man for Hinds was Julian Sandifer with 20 points, followed by Howard McKissack, 16; Tom Poe 14; Orville Wright, 13; and Billy Ray Thomas, 11. Hinds collected 23 fouls, while Jones drew 19.

In the girls game Mayme Rees of Hinds was high scorer for the losers with 14 points, while Peggy Herrington netted 22 points for the winners. Herrington sank six free throws in the final quarter to give Ellisville a victory margin after they trailed through most of the game.

SEVEN HINDS 4-H'ers ON CALENDAR FOR '53

Seven Hinds Junior College students, six of them from the Raymond area, have been honored by having their pictures appear on the 1953 4-H Club calendars.

The seven are Martha Gillespie, Mary Will McKenzie, Janie Mashburn, Rosa Taylor, and Julius Neal Russell of Raymond; Dorothy McNair of Learned; and Frank Polk of Puckett.

HONOR ROLL . . .

The high school honors list included:

Nancy Arnold, Jackson, 2.5; Gerry Beadle, Lena, 2.5; Robert Boyd, Raymond, 2.4; Angela Condia, Bolton, 2.2; Cameron Ferguson, Raymond, 2.2; Barbara Foster, Jackson, 2.2; Martha Gillespie, Raymond, 2.5; Frances Graham, Bolton, 2.2; William Lamkin, Yazoo City, 2.2; Florence Lilly, Bolton, 2.2; Harriet Russell, Jackson, 2.4; Carlos Safie, Central America, 2.2; Peggy Stubbs, Terry, 2.4; Rosa Taylor, Raymond, 2.2; Anne Waldrop, Bolton, 2.2; and Terry Worrell, Learned, 2.5.

Hinds girls led 11-0, at the end of the first quarter, 19-15 at the half. Jones forged ahead 27-26 at the close of the third on free shots, and then Herrington sank two field goals and her six free throws.

Sparked by the scoring of Poe and Julian Sandifer, the Hinds boys took an early lead in the game with Sunflower. At the end of the first quarter the Eagles led 23-11. At the end of the second period they were ahead 48-28, and at the end of the third 60-43. Tom Poe was high score man with 19 points, followed by Sandifer with 17. Howard McKissack netted 14 and Wesley McKinnie, 13. Larry Edwards was high scorer for Moorhead with 15 points, three of them earned on free throws.

The Hinds girls trailed 11-3 at the end of the first quarter, but pulled up to a 17-13 lag in the second on the scoring of Rees and Rita Faye Sowell. At the end of the third quarter they were behind only two points 19-21, but Norma Dykes Martin sank three field goals and two free throws in quick succession in the final period to hold the Eaglettes to a 31-27 disadvantage as the game closed. High scorer for the game was Sunflower's Martin with 17 points, while Rees was again high scorer with 12 for Hinds. McGuffee netted nine points, while Sowell sank six.

In the game with Sunflower Saturday night, Sunflower squad members attributed the size of the point spread to the absence of their star player, Ray Williams, six foot three inch forward, who is out with a brain concussion earned last Saturday night in a game when he slammed into a cement wall. In a previous game the Eagles defeated Moorhead by only five points, 76-71, although they led throughout the game.

Morris Seeks Candidates For Varsity Tennis Squad; Promises Athletic Letters

With tennis season close at hand, now is the time for all boys interested in tennis to contact Mr. E. E. Morris and try out for the Hinds squad.

Qualifications for the tennis team does not necessarily mean having played before, but only having interest enough to practice at regular periods.

Tryouts will be made among those participating, states Mr. Morris, and the winner will serve on the regular varsity team. At the end of the season team members will be awarded varsity letters.

Hinds Secretarial Students Receive Information On Defense Job Opportunities

Miss Virginia Keegan representing the U. S. Navy, lectured to the typists and secretarial students last Thursday at Hinds on employment with the defense department in Washington. She told of the chances of advancement employees had, and of the social life.

According to Miss Keegan, jobs pay up to $3,100 a year.

Draft - Eligible College Students To Be Offered Qualification Tests

With many terms of enlistment and draft periods coming to an end, the Armed Forces are expecting to increase calls for draftees, with 53,000 per month reported as a probable new rate of induction.

One of the sources of this increased number of men is expected to be college students, who will be among the first to feel the tightened draft situation.

Under these conditions, Miss Mildred Herrin, Hinds registrar, has suggested that all college men be sure to apply for the Selective Service College Qualification Test. Test scores of draft-eligible college men will furnish one of the bases for determining whether students will be given postponements to complete college. The other basis will be academic standing.

Under present practices the college men have been given students' classifications if they fell into the upper 50 per cent of the freshman class, upper two-thirds of the sophomore class, and upper three-fourths of the junior class; or if they have scored 70 or above on the College Qualification Test. A student scoring 70 on the test, but falling into the lower half of his class still remained eligible for continuing his college training. Students falling below 70 on the test but remaining in the upper half of the class on grades, too, remained free to continue college. The test does not "go against" the student if he fails it, but may prevent his being drafted if he falls below the established class divisions.

The next College Qualification test will be given in April, and applications to take the test must be filed by midnight, Monday, March 9.

Steps in applying to take the test are:

LAWRENCE NAMED

John Lawrence, Terry sophomore, has been elected president of the International Relations Club for second semester, according to the results of the election held last Thursday night.

Other officers for this semester include Billy Dungan, vice-president; Joree Brown, secretary; Jean

Hinds High Teams Drop St. Joseph

The Baby Eagles and Eaglettes ran their record to nine victories and one loss each Friday night by defeating the strong St. Joseph teams in St. Joseph's new gymnasium in Jackson. The Hinds boys won 41-26, while the girls won 46-37.

Jerry Smith, star Raymond guard, dropped in 13 points to win scoring honors for the game. He was followed by Garth Guy and Jesse Griffin of Hinds with 8 and 6 points, respectively. Tops for the losers were Kelty and Hudgins with 4 points each.

Martha Gillespie netted 16 points to lead the Hinds girls, followed by Rosa Taylor and Frances Graham with 13 and 12 points, respectively. Powers and Cripps, with 15 and 10 points, respectively, were high for the losers.

Lou Kendrick, one of the leading Hinds forwards, played guard in the absence of Peggy Stubbs, out with 'flu. Other girls who played outstanding games at guard position were Dot Gill, Mary Will McKenzie, and Mary Frances Bray.

1. Obtain an application card and mailing envelope from any draft board.

2. Mark the date of the examination.

3. Fill out the application in exact accordance with instructions in the bulletin of information.

4. Designate an examination center and its code number opposite the correct testing date. These centers are listed in the bulletin of information. You will be assigned to the center requested or the closest possible alternative center.

5. Your application must be postmarked before Monday, March 9.

After being notified of the date and center, the applicant will report at 8:30 a. m. The examination begins at 9 o'clock and ends approximately at 12:30 p. m. Admission to the testing room will be limited to those holding tickets of admission.

The test examines one's ability to read with understanding and to solve new problems by using general knowledge. Some of the questions are based upon reading passages, charts, tables, or graphs. In other questions one will have to solve problems based upon the meanings of words and their relationships to other words. There are also mathematical problems designed to test ability to understand and use numerical relationships.

Outgoing officers were Ted Dunning, James Newkirk, Lynette Collins, Bob Harleston, Bobby Trotter, and Gene Walker.

BOBO & COMPANY

Famous Magician To Perform Here As School's Fourth Lyceum Show

Bobo the Magician and his wife, another program in the Southern School Assemblies lyceum series, will appear here Friday, February 6, at 10:20 a. m. in the Hinds auditorium, Miss Thelma Prassel, assembly chairman, announces.

The program Friday will take place of the regular Tuesday assembly, and Friday's club activities will meet Tuesday.

According to a news release from the Southern School Assemblies Bobo is "one of the outstanding young magicians on the platform today, with ten years of brilliant success to his credit."

The name, Bobo, is his real name, derived from an old French name, Beaubeaux. He began learning magic as a young boy in his parents' restaurant in Canada, when traveling men and Chatauqua performers showed him some of their trade secrets. Magic became a hobby with him, and then a profession.

Specializing in sleight of hand and comedy, Bobo has become famous for his dexterity in handling cards, balls, coins, and thimbles.

His assistant, Mrs. Bobo, appears in costume during the act to add to the precision of his magic.

This is the fourth year that Southern School Assemblies has used Bobo and Company. The magician has an unusually high record, they report, for repeat dates.

Hinds To Be Host To 8 Debate Clubs

Hinds Junior College will be host February 3 to high school debaters from eight nearby schools, when the preliminary rounds of the high school debating competitions are staged here, Miss Ruth Boyd, Hinds debate coach, reports.

Visiting schools will include Carr Central, Forest Hill, Canton, Clinton, Brandon, Utica, Jackson Central High, and Terry.

The subject for debate will deal with the future role of the United States as a world-dominant power.

The debates will be held in several places on the campus, with several Hinds teachers assisting in judging, Miss Boyd said.

Cecil Yarbrough Named A Capella Choir Director; Norma Owen, Secretary

Cecil Yarbrough of Jackson has been elected student director of the Hinds Junior College a capella choir, Mr. Don J. Maxwell, Hinds choral director announces.

Other officers named at the last meeting were Norma Joyce Owen, secretary; and Howard Varner, property manager.

State B. S. U. Secretary To Visit Campus Tuesday; Available For Conferences

Mr. Charles Horner, state Baptist Student Union secretary, will be a visitor on the Hinds Junior College campus Tuesday afternoon, February 3.

Students who are interested in doing summer mission work or daily vacation Bible school work, and particularly those who have dedicated their lives to full-time Christian service are asked to avail themselves of the opportunity to talk with Mr. Horner, Miss Lurline Stewart, B. S. U. sponsor, said.

He will be available for individual conferences with students from 1 p. m. until 4 p. m. in Room 19, Administration Building, Miss Stewart said.

POULTRY CONTEST HELD JANUARY 29 AT RAYMOND COURTHOUSE

A poultry training school for poultry contestants of Hinds county will be held January 29, at the Raymond Court House. Following the training school, a Hinds County Poultry contest for all 4-H'ers will be held in Jackson, January 31. The four top placing individuals will judge at Mississippi State College in June for state honors.

Hinds county 4-H'ers have a high record in poultry judging. In 1940 they won first place in the nation and captured fourth place in the United States in 1950. Last fall they came up second in the nationwide contest.

Mississippi 4-H Clubs To Compete For Prizes Offered By Telephone Co.

Mississippi 4-H Clubs have been notified by the Bell Telephone Company that cash prizes will be awarded to the clubs with the best accumulated records. First prize will be $300 and second prize, $200.

This is the first year such a contest has been sponsored in Mississippi.

Vocational Teachers Join Educational Associations

All vocational teachers have become affiliated with the Mississippi Vocational Education Association, the Mississippi Education Association, and the National Vocational Education Association, Mr. W. H. Gibbes announces.

Stunt Night Set; P.T.K. Asks Clubs To Schedule Acts

Campus Stunt Night, sponsored by the Hinds Phi Theta Kappa, is scheduled for next Monday night, 7:00.

Miss Gertrude Davis, sponsor, is appealing to all clubs, classes, and individual groups to participate Monday night. Few conditions are imposed on the presentations:

Stunts are to be limited to five minutes; individuals or groups may represent their respective organization; stunts are to be registered with Bobby Trotter, PTK president, preferably by Friday; awards are to be given to the groups or individuals who rate "superior" by the qualified judges; and sponsors and presidents are requested to see that their groups are represented in the list of stunts.

Admission to the program will be ten cents. Proceeds will go toward the spring convention fund the PTK members are building.

Seniors Discuss 'Rec' Situation

Twelfth grade students joined other Hinds classes in voicing their opinions at their class meeting recently, concerning the recreation room.

Because most of the class members are day students, closing the rec room prevents them from having access to the game equipment entirely. During their vacant hours, all day students must report to the library. By keeping the room open all day, students would have a chance to use the facilities and also benefit the dormitory boys in getting their mail, class members said.

Some suggested that by having the room open all day, there would be smaller crowds. All agreed that the room should open again to give everyone a chance to enjoy their leisure time.

HJC Tennis Team Making Progress

Eight candidates have signed up for the Hinds Junior College tennis team, Mr. E. E. Morris announces.

The boys include Billy Ray Thomas, Billy Ray Clarke, James Shambelin, Johnny Durst, Bob Phillips, Ramon Lott, Bob Holcomb, and Kelly Waggoner.

Any boy wishing to try out for the team is requested to contact Mr. Morris.

Campus Briefs

The flu has plenty of Hinds folks down and out of school at the present time. This winter the flubug is bound to bite everyone, so we should take precautions and observe all health rules . . . This being the mid-six weeks, don't be surprised if you have a test in your classes, sometimes the teachers like to play cute tricks and spring "pop" tests on their students. "Be Prepared" should be our motto this week.

THREE CHEERS

The dormitory girls should be commended on the way they have been living for the past months. Because Westside was to have some facelifting, all the girls on the top floor had to move anyplace that provided a bed and room for their belongings. When the rooms upstairs were completed, the bottom floor moved and many are still living in cramped quarters. The Main dorm girls have been very nice to the new "roomers" and all Westside residents will never forget their kindness.

COUNT THOSE CALORIES

If you boys think the girls are cautious about their eating these days, don't be alarmed, they are trying to keep an account of their daily calories. One advantage this gives the boys (especially those who go with overweight girls) is the economy. There will be less candy, malts, hamburgers and other fattening foods to buy for these lassies. On the other hand if you men go with underweighters, you had better stock up on that "green-stuff." For four more weeks this will continue, as part of the health course the girls are taking. Possibly after this six-weeks the girls will slump back into their old habits, and boys can go back to their "steadies."

SPRING AROUND THE CORNER?

There's been such sunny weather, it seems that spring is springing out early this year. The weatherman has constantly predicted cold weather for this area and each time it turns sunny and warm. Maybe ole Man Winter is slowly making his way out . . . There are still new students coming in for the semester. If you see a wide-eyed person wandering around the campus lost, give him some help . . . There have been a number of boys who have signed up for the tennis team and many more who enjoy the game should go out. If any of you boys have time on your hands, see Mr. Morris about the tennis squad.

PAY THAT FIVE

All graduating seniors and sophomores that have failed to pay their diploma fee had better get a move on or they won't graduate with the rest of the classes in the spring . . . Look Ahead Dept.—The end of school is only 17 weeks away; those wishing summer jobs should start hunting now; and if you are planning to go to another school next year, now's the time to put in your application.

IS IT REALLY TRUE?

There's been a rumor that Hinds students will soon be viewing T-V, if the school purchases a set. As to the place it will be put, that's another question, but I'll wager the consumption of food will increase and the grill will make more profits . . . There are some good shows on T-V now, but the Mississippi station is far from variety. Perhaps before school is out all the Wild Bill Hickok and Space Patrol fans will be able to see their favorite programs on the screen.

PACK UP YOUR DUDS

Are you interested in traveling to the Amazon in search of the fabulous lost treasure of the Incas? If you are a man who has financial backing, preferably, knowledge of medicine, can work two-way radio and camera, get in contact with Joe Phair, St. Helens, Lancashire, London, England. Anybody willing to suffer the bites of snakes and heat of the jungle and can fill in the requirements, just go ahead, I'll stay home and eat a banana.

Wadsworth Recounts Doleful Story;
How To Publish Paper (Sometimes)

By VIVIAN WADSWORTH

Do you ever wonder how a newspaper gets to be a newspaper? Have you ever heard the words "beat," "copy," or "galley proofs"? Have you ever thought that being editor of a college newspaper was an easy job? Well, to all you people who have never had a drop of printer's ink in your blood, I'd like to explain the intricacies of getting out the HINDSONIAN.

The reporters on the staff have the job of hunting and haunting people for news that will interest the students as a whole. (Stories pertaining to John going home for the weekend or Susie buying a car are ignored entirely.) These weary and worn reporters, who don't take "no" for an answer, hand in their stories, whether written on paper or popcorn boxes, and with new tips, they seek new stories.

All rough copy is written in correct newspaper style, edited, and sent to the press in Raymond. The linotype operator, sets the stories in lead type which are collected into long trays called galleys. These stories are hand printed on a long sheet of paper called a galley proof. It takes at least eight of these proofs to fill up four pages of our campus paper. Two sets of galley proofs are sent back to school and Tuesday night the paper is "made up." One set of the proofs are used to correct (?) grammatical errors and mistakes.

The term "making up" the paper refers to placing the stories on the pages as they will appear when printed. One set of galley proofs are used to paste on the pages with the stories in the proper place. On the front page the most important story usually appears on the right hand side, the second important one on the left. The make-up must always be balanced. All current news is on this page; page two carries the editorials and features; past news and several features are on the third page; and sports are placed on page four.

When the pages have been made up, headlines are assigned and written by the staff members. All headlines must be written in good form and must tell a bit about the story underneath. There's quite a trick to writing these — just ask any staff member.

With headlining completed and page make-up finished, all work is terminated for the night, with only one job left to do — page proof reading. This is done Wednesday at noon.

Tuesday's work is sent to the press early Wednesday morning and the printers set up the pages according to the dummy copy. Ink is run over the metal forms and a proof of the newspaper pages are run off.

The editor proof-reads the paper, checking for mistakes, making adjustments or additions, then the rest is left with the printers.

All mistakes corrected and the pages set up, the metal forms are placed in the press and imprinted on 800 sheets of paper. Another machine, the folder, as its name implies, folds the papers. They are then delivered to the campus and distributed.

The circulation managers handle the mailing of copies to all state schools and colleges, former students, board members, and many out-of-state schools.

The following day, Thursday, starts the reporters checking their beats for new stories, and this begins again the cycle of putting out the paper.

Some of the terms frequently used by newspaper folks are confusing to those unfamiliar with newswork. A few of these words and their meaning include:

Beat—regular route taken by a reporter to gather news.

Assignment—a reporter's task.

B. F.—boldface or black type.

By-line—the author's name at the beginning of a story.

Caps—CAPITAL LETTERS.

Copy—all written material.

Cut—(1) a newspaper engraving or (2) to reduce the length of a story.

Editorialize—expressing opinion in a story. (You can't.)

Filler—short news or informational items used to fill up small spaces in a page.

Masthead—editorial page heading, giving information about the newspaper (listing staff members).

Are you convinced now that newspaper work is no easy job? Well, we have a bit of fun, too — just ask the staff members.

Teachers Discuss Annuity System At Morning Session

Mississippi's new retirement system for public employees and teachers was discussed at the meeting of the faculty here Wednesday morning, and forms to complete registration for the system were handed to faculty members.

Under the new system, which combines Social Security benefits and the state retirement system annuities, teachers and public employees are eligible for increased retirement benefits. Retirement benefits for retired single teachers range from $25 monthly minimum to a maximum of $85 for those drawing a salary of $300. A retired worker and wife or dependent husband after age 65 may draw from $37.50 up to $127.50 per month, according to years of service and amount paid into the annuity system.

Under the new system covered employees and the employers contribute equally toward the retirement annuities.

The combined Social Security and State Retirement Plan replaces the previous Teacher Retirement Plan, and an increased amount of retirement benefits is available under the combined system.

Hinds Jr. College -10 Years Ago-

Boteler's basketball team of high school emerged champions of Intramural Meet. High school squad managed to nose out the freshmen 15-14.

Prospective students took qualifying examinations for the Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy College Training Program.

Housewives and other potential war workers were urged to enroll as trainees in a school of vocational training.

The State Department of Education was in Raymond yesterday to make plans for further study concerning the survey of the relations of the junior colleges to the community.

In the boys' game Raymond led by four points at the end of the first quarter, 7-11. On the scoring of White, Griffin, Smith, and Conlee, the Baby Eagles drew ahead 21-9 by the half-time, as the Hinds guards held the Madison quintet scoreless except for two free throws.

Five field goals were the total scoring for the Madison crew in the third quarter, while Worrell, Guy, Russell, Smith, and Conlee all sank field goals for the Eagles to give them a 33-14 lead at the end of the third.

Raymond Girls Fall to Madison For Second Defeat

Seeking revenge for their previous lone defeat, the Hinds High Baby Eaglettes fell again before the Madison High girls here Tuesday night, to pull their conference record down to a 10-2 mark; while the Hinds High boys defeated the visitors to bring their victory record to the 11-1 mark.

In a previous game at Madison the invaders had defeated the Baby

Eaglettes 38-24. Playing on the Hinds hardwood they handed the Eaglettes a 52-40 trouncing.

The Madison girls took an early lead in the first quarter on the scoring of Carrie Nell Gaughf to hold a 7-11 advantage at the end of the period. Madison pushed the advantage in the second quarter to head the Hinds girls 27-11 at the half-time. Rosa Taylor and Frances Graham, with a series of field goals, brought Hinds to 25 points, but the visitors were at 37 at the end of the third.

High scorer for the game was Hattie Waldrup of Madison, who netted 25 points, followed by Gaughf, who scored 21. High scorers for Hinds High were Taylor and Graham, both of whom netted 19 points.

Top-Rated Junior College Squads To Invade Hinds Gym This Weekend

Two top-rated junior college teams will invade the Hinds Junior College gymnasium this weekend, according to Coach Troy A. Ricks. They are the Scooba girls and the Decatur boys, both outstanding junior college teams this year.

The Scooba girls and boys play Hinds here Friday night and the Decatur girls and boys oppose Hinds Saturday night.

The games this weekend begin an eight game home stand for the Eagles and Eaglettes, with the next home games scheduled February 3, Goodman; February 6, Fulton; February 7, Booneville; February 10, Wesson; February 13, Poplarville; and February 20, Summit.

According to Coach Ricks the East Mississippi girls of Scooba are the best in Mississippi's junior college league that he has seen in his trips throughout the state this year; while the East Central boys are without question one of the strongest squads in the conference, featuring their scoring star Denver Brackeen.

Red Lick and Walnut Grove schools, traditional rivals, will play a preliminary game Saturday night before the college games, according to Mr. Louis Boteler, high school coach. The two squads have chosen Hinds' gymnasium for some years now for their annual grudge tilt. The preliminaries are scheduled at 5 p. m. and 6 p. m., preceding the college games at 7 and 8 o'clock.

In their recent road trip to Itawamba and Booneville the Hinds boys and girls both lost their matches. The girls lost 23-45 to Itawamba and 29-43 to Booneville. The boys lost to Itawamba 62-93, and to Booneville 75-84.

Christmas Leaving For New Position

Mr. Don Christmas, piano teacher, has resigned his position with Hinds Junior College, effective February 1, to do professional accompanying for Accompanists Unlimited, New York City accompanist agency.

He will be succeeded at Hinds by Miss Maudine Thrash of Lake, a graduate of Hinds Junior College and the Louisiana State University School of Music. Miss Thrash was graduated from LSU in 1950 and taught one year before beginning her work on a Master's Degree from LSU, which she will receive this summer.

Mr. Christmas is a graduate of LSU's School of Music, holding the B. M. degree, conferred in 1949, and the Master of Music degree, conferred in 1951.

During summers he was accompanist for the Houston Light Opera Company and staff accompanist for the LSU School of Music. This past summer he studied at Peabody Conservatory of Music and accompanied for the Hilltop Light Opera Company of Baltimore.

In the girls game at Fulton quarter scores were: Hinds 3 — Itawamba 11; 13-22; 14-32; and 45-23. High scorer for Hinds was Anne McGuffee with 11 points, followed by Mayme Rees with 8. High scorer for Fulton was Camp with 22, followed by Wheeler with 11. Hinds girls made nine field goals and 4 free-throws and drew 13 fouls. Itawamba's girls made 19 field goals and 7 free-throws and drew 12 fouls.

The two teams were tied 26-26 at the end of the third, as both fought for advantage. Three field goals by Arnold of Booneville and four by Robbins gave the home team the final lead.

State Junior Colleges Change Tournament System; Hinds To Be South Host

A new system of basketball tournaments is being adopted by Mississippi's junior colleges this year, according to Coach Troy A. Ricks.

Under this system all teams south of Highway 80 will meet for an elimination tournament at Hinds Junior College, and top teams from this tournament will meet top teams from North Mississippi's play-offs.

The South Mississippi tournament at Hinds has been set for February 26-28, and will feature teams from Hinds, Ellisville, Wesson, Summit, Perkinston, and Poplarville.

Guffee with 12, followed by Rees with 10. Robbins of Booneville netted 21 points for scoring honors for the victors.

At Booneville the Hinds boys netted 20 points in the first quarter to Booneville's 25, then deadlocked the score, 43-43, at the half-time. A scoring spurt led by Tom Poe put Hinds ahead 63-61 at the end of the third, but Bryan and McReynolds of Booneville answered with a flurry of field goals that gave Booneville its victory.

High scorer for Hinds was Poe with 28, followed by McKinnie with 17. McReynolds with 30 points led the victors. Hinds' boys scored 29 field goals and 17 free throws and drew 21 fouls; while Booneville netted 31 field goals and 22 free-throws and drew 18 fouls.

Hinds High Cagers Suffer Defeats In Culkin Tourney

The Hinds High boys and girls suffered their second tournament loss at the Culkin Invitational Tournament last week, January 22-24.

In the boys game with Edwards the Raymond team came out short in a 43-20 score. The Edwards squad went on to win the tournament, principally on the scoring of C. T. Thornton, who netted 17 points against the Baby Eagles for scoring honors. Garth Guy led the Hinds team with 12.

In the boys game Edwards led 32-8 at the half-time, but the Baby Eagles rallied in the second half.

In the girls' contest Culkin Academy capitalized on its height and defeated the Hinds Eaglettes 41-31. Rosa Taylor of Hinds was high scorer for the game with 20 points. Tops for the winners was Birdsong with 14 points.

Next home game for the Baby Eagles and Eaglettes pits them against the Mississippi School for the Deaf here Thursday night.

Bearden Selected Business Manager; New Post at HJC

Mr. Edwin Bearden, graduate of Mississippi Southern in business education and more recently employed by the state department of education, is joining the staff of Hinds Junior College as business manager, Mr. G. M. McLendon, president, announces.

Employment of a business manager was recommended in the recent evaluation of Hinds Junior College by the Evaluative Criteria. Following this recommendation, a post of business manager was authorized with the manager to be responsible for the business operations of the college.

Mr. Bearden, who was working in the vocational education division of the state department of education, is married. His wife is reported to be an accomplished violinist. The Bearden family will live in the residence formerly occupied by the J. C. Treloar family on the old experiment station, according to Mr. Edgar Bray, maintenance superintendent, who is renovating the building at present.

Shrubs Set Out About 3 Buildings

Landscaping of the college's three new buildings has been completed this week, Mr. W. M. McKenzie and Mr. J. C. Treloar of the college agriculture staff report.

They were assisted by Mr. V. E. Graham of Hattiesburg, landscaping specialist. The placing of shrubs about the Administration, Academic, and Cafeteria buildings is one of many projects planned in a long-range beautification program. Members of the F. F. A. and 4-H Club have also helped with the setting out of shrubs.

In the project this week dwarf box hedges were set out about the circular porches of the Administration and Academic building. Legustrums have been planted at the corners of the buildings; the hardiest variety of azaleas grown today were planted at the ends of the buildings, and alternate plantings of amelias, nandinas, Chinese yews, Japanese holly, camelia japonicas, and bridal wreath were placed along the sides of the buildings.

Radio Log

The following selections by Mr. Don Christmas will be presented tonight over WSLI at 6:30: "Sonata in G major," by Scarbatti; "Prelude in e minor," Chopin; "The Little White Donkey," by Ibert; and the second and fourth movements from the "Sonata Number Three," Dell Joio.

MR. MORRIS GETS PET MONKEY "BO" TO SHARE QUARTERS

Now it's "monkey business" at Hinds Junior College.

Mr. E. E. Morris, economics teacher, has been "mighty lonesome" these past few months. The solitude of his bachelor quarters has preyed on his mind. To remedy that situation he has acquired a little dependent, Bo, a monkey.

Though Bo is still somewhat anti-social, Mr. Morris and he are becoming better acquainted all the time. "But the little rascal sho- do cuss when I catch him," Mr. Morris adds.

Housed in a large cage in Mr. Morris' living room, Bo is being promised his freedom, "if he behaves," but thus far doesn't find the outside world worth it.

LOST

An identification bracelet with the name "Frances" on the top and the letters M. L. B. underneath has been lost. If found, please return to Miss Frances Bratchi.

Hinds Delegation to Attend State Methodist Conference

Hinds Junior College Methodist students are planning to send a delegation of students to the state conference scheduled for February 13-15 at Mississippi State College.

Plans for transportation and registration were made at their weekly meeting Sunday night, and the meeting time was changed to Monday nights to give the students a chance to attend evening services.

Accompanying the delegation to State College will be Rev. H. B. Oliver, director of the group, Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee and Miss Mildred Herrin.

Brandon Debaters Take Top Place In Forensic Competition At Hinds

Debaters from Brandon High took first place in the regional high school debates held at Hinds Junior College, Tuesday, with Carr Central of Vicksburg taking second place honors in the finals.

Both teams will now enter the South-Mississippi tournament at Mississippi Southern, February 11.

The debate drew representatives from Clinton, Terry, Canton, Carr Central of Vicksburg, Central High of Jackson, Utica, Forest Hill, and Brandon.

Winning team members from Brandon included Mary Lou Kersh, Mary Ann Mobley, Thillis Myles, and Mary Jo Franklin. Coach of the team is N. E. Harper.

The runner-up team included Betty eJan Harper, Barrett Booth, Carol Barry, Gail Fielder, Bill Emmich, Davis Thames. They were coached by Miss Phillis Davis.

Pledge Cards Now In Circulation For Recreation Room Re-opening

Students began signing pledges Tuesday night, to cooperate with the Student-Faculty Council in re-opening the rec room, which has been operating for the past few weeks on the "bring your own game" basis. The pledge cards are one out of eight recommendations approved by the council and now being considered for action by the administration. If there is a majority of the student body signing the pledges then tentatively Monday will be the first day of reopening.

TELEVISION RECEIVER TO BE PURCHASED FOR HJC STUDENTS

The purchase of a T-V set for Hinds Junior College students will be made in the near future, according to a report from the Student-Faculty Council.

At the last meeting a proposal for the purchase was made and Mr. G. M. McLendon stated that the set would be bought as soon as the type of set and a satisfactory room for the machine, could be decided on.

54 NEW STUDENTS ENROLLED AT HJC FOR SECOND TERM

Twelve new students have enrolled for academic work for the second semester bringing the total of new students to 54, according to Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

The new students include Charles Knight, Flora; James Mouldin, Yazoo City; Carl Stribling, Vicksburg; John Hughes, Jackson; Frank Kimbrell, Jackson; Jasper Pullen, Vicksburg; Burnett Blackmon, Jackson; Lane Busick, Brandon; Harvey Harry Hudson, Texarkana, Arkansas; Laura Smith, Jackson; Charles Spell, Jackson; Ann Williams, Pocahontas; and Marvin Anderson, Vicksburg.

The other recommendations approved include: (1) having a group of students to stay in recreation hall at all times to check equipment in and out; (2) having the window in the lobby opened so that the games may be checked out through one person; (3) all persons checking out the equipment will be held responsible for it; (4) having the Student Council present these suggestions in general assembly; (5) taking up a free will collection to replace the original equipment; (6) posting a list of the requirements; and (7) withholding grades until equipment is replaced by the person who checked it out.

Home Ec. Building Now Underway; Old House Moved

Construction of foundations for the new home economics building at Hinds Junior College is now underway, and home economics staff members with President G. M. McLendon are reviewing recommendations made by the architect for interior paint colors for the new building, Miss Frances Bratchi reports.

Attention is being given color schemes in bedrooms, hallways, living rooms, class rooms, and laboratories. The colors to be selected must meet ideas of improved visual efficiency, the relief of tension, and the improving of student morale, Miss Bratschi said.

After this, other details, such as types of flooring, linoleum countertops and modernfold doors, will be approved.

Faculty Members Attending College

Seven Hinds faculty members are now taking courses at senior colleges near Raymond. Six of them are enrolled in educational classes at Millsaps, and one is taking guidance courses at Mississippi College.

The new students are Miss Mildred Herrin, Miss Margaret Smith, Mrs. J. R. Harris, Mr. L. C. Clarke, Mr. J. R. Harris, Mr. M. F. Her-ring, and Mr. A. L. Denton.

Unofficial and Official Debating

One of the liveliest debates I've ever heard and understood, was the one yesterday Carr Central of Vicksburg and Central High of Jackson had over some material Jackson used in one of their speeches. Those of you who weren't around certainly missed some good arguments. Even though it could have been a heated discussion, both teams were nice and considerate and not fussy, as some of us get sometimes. It was good to see these representatives from Mississippi schools do such a good job debating.

Anonymous Letter

An anonymous letter from Perkinston came recently concerning a story printed in one of the Jackson papers about Hinds' a capella choir. It stated that this choir is the first to be organized in Mississippi. Perk informs us that the college there also has a choir.

To the Perk students: We didn't know you had an a capella choir. We regret the error, but why doesn't your college get in line and let the world in on its activities? Also, let me remind you, an anonymous letter is the lowest form of literature—we didn't know your fine school had such.

What'll They Think of Next?

In Pennsylvania a new and completely different building is nearing completion, made entirely of aluminum. This includes all wiring, walls, windows, and everything else that goes into a building. There are around 20 stories to this aluminum "wonder" that will be the headquarters for (none other but) the Aluminum Corporation. . . . The new shrubs that have been planted around the buildings have given the campus a new look for spring, and speaking of spring, I think it has made its debut.

That Rec Situation

The opening of the recreation room is getting nearer, and the attitude of the students will contribute greatly. Each student will be requested to sign a pledge card and if three-fourths do not sign, the game room will be closed for the rest of the year. Sign, and do your best to obey the rules.

February 12 is an important date on the calendar for students at Holmes Junior College, for their annual Mardi Gras is scheduled then. This will be one of the highlights of the year. Already clubs have nominated and are supporting their candidates for king and queen of the event. Announcement of the winners will come at the intermission of the dance. A floorshow and a "parade of favorites" will be included also.

'CAMPUS MANNERS' DISCUSSION TOPIC AT CLASS MEETING

"Campus Manners" was the topic of the panel discussion held by the eleventh grade recently at class meeting. Members of the panel included Hinds instructors, Mr. J. C. Treloar, Miss Gertrude Davis, Miss Margaret Smith, and Mr. A. L. Denton.

Some of the topics included in the discussion were cafeteria manners, which Mr. Treloar believed could be improved; public "love making," which Miss Davis thinks love making is not for public show; grill manners, which Miss Smith still believes that "It's still good manners for a gentleman to offer his chair to a lady" and the furniture should be kept in good shape.

One of the questions brought up was whether or not it is against rules for a girl to meet her date in Raymond. The panel members believe that as long as they have a respectable place to meet and if the boy will be sure to meet her, it is okay.

As to manners toward older people, just make sure that you don't make them feel old. Some common bad manners are interrupting conversations, finishing up a joke or favorite story for someone, and slamming doors without thinking of those behind you.

Science Fiction Novels Forecast Man's Journeys, Problems In Space

BOOK REVIEWS

A little less than fifty years ago people were marveling at a strange invention, which would cut transportation time in half by flying, with little knowledge that later scientists would be sending experimental rockets to the moon.

Today, fiction writers are a jump ahead of the scientists, for they have set earthly man on the moon and other heavenly bodies, have invented new races, and new cities, and placed unexplored worlds in the space beyond.

Even though we are unable to make a rocket trip to the moon or our favorite planet, we can take an imaginary trip through the medium of scientific fiction books. Five of these novels have been received in the Hinds library and now are available for student's use.

When Worlds Collide by Philo Wylie and Edwin Balmer includes its sequel, After Worlds Collide. The former describes the crises which followed the discovery that the Earth was about to be destroyed by collision with another body approaching through space, and the design and launching of an atomic ship in which a few humans were able to make their escape. The latter continues the story of the pioneers on a new planet.

Son of the Stars by Raymond F. Jones is an electrifying story of Clonar, an alien from an astonishingly advanced civilization, who is found staggering away from a wrecked metal disk by Ron Barron. The reaction of General Gillespie and Mrs. Barron to an "interplanetary" situation brings the world to the brink of destruction.

Lester Rel Ray's novel, Marooned On Mars, is about Chuck Svenson, the only citizen from Earth's satellite, the Moon, to be selected by the United Nations' interplanetary commission as a crew member for the first ship to attempt a flight from Moon to Mars. How Chuck learned that his orders had been changed, that he was to be replaced by an earthling, started a chain of events that ended in the weird catacombs of Mars.

Five Science Fiction Novels contains five short stories. The weird and unexplored planet of Venus, on which an average American family is stranded, is the setting for Five Against Venus by Philip Latham. Unsure of the planet's oxygen supply, tortured by ultra-sonic waves emitted by man-size batlike creatures, faced by carnivorous plants, the Robinsons are the focal point of a science fiction novel which is unsurpassed in its field for its frightening and powerful reality.

How one man fights a strange conspiracy with control of the world as the stake is the plot in But Without Horns by Norvell W. Page. This fight is shrouded in the mystery of an awesome power that is more than a match for one man.

Three worlds exist in Destiny Times Three by Fritz Leiber, where only one should be, and two of them want revenge on the third. A super mechanism outside of spacetime is the key to the destiny of the three. Into the hands of eight men falls possession of the Engine—with the power of life and death over all three worlds.

The South Pacific is the setting for Crisis In Utopia by Norman L. Knight, where strange sub-sea men are being designed. For two centuries preparations were made to reveal the secret of the mutants to normal men. But it is not mankind alone which objects — the mutants too have their own ideas of independence.

The Chronicler by A. E. van Vogt takes the reader into a terror-ridden world; a world of savages in a city and philosophers in caves.

The Martians — hopping, scaly beasts in The Crucible of Power — are the descendants of an ancient civilization. It is no wonder that Earthmen, with their Big Business ventures, can create an explosive situation.

Spring Football Opens Early At Hinds; 36 Boys Out For Afternoon Drills

Spring football practice opened at Hinds Junior College officially Monday, with 36 boys reporting for the drills, Coach L. C. DeVall reports.

Usually held later in the year, the practice sessions are underway now to avoid conflicts with baseball and track season, he said.

Burnett Blackmon, Oran Renfro, Kenneth Bridges, Brent Vinson, Melvin Picou, Billy Ray Thornton, Punchy Velchoff, Billy Amis, Harry Geotes, David Franks, Bill Stribling, Larry Hudson, Tommy Foster, Billy Wright, Milton Wall, Bill Walker, L. R. West, James Gunter, E. Jones, and Don Soileau. Buster Warren and Raymond Tomlinson are serving as managers.

The drills are to stress both offensive and defensive playing for every team member, in accordance with the recent N. C. A. A. ruling abolishing free substitution, he said.

Abolishing of Platoons Will Help Junior College Football, Coach Says

By SYLVIA DEAL

"The new N. C. A. A. football ruling, which abolishes the two platoon system in college football, should help junior colleges in the long run," Coach L. C. DeVall of Hinds Junior College declares.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association in a surprise ruling abolished the free substitution ruling, which had allowed development of an offensive and defensive team and specialists who had one specific chore to perform on the football field.

Under the free substitution system coaches could, and usually did, substitute an entire new group of eleven men when the ball changed hands.

The new ruling provides that a player removed in the first or third quarter cannot re-enter the game during that quarter; and a player fourth quarter cannot re-enter the game until the final four minutes of the quarter.

Coach DeVall lamented the suddenness of the ruling, declaring that imposition of the ruling was too drastic, since the majority of colleges are and have been operating for some years under the platoon system. "It would have been better if they had gone into the thing more gradually," he said.

He pointed out, too, that in his opinion the rule is too drastic in its provisions for substitutions. They should have made some provision for limited substitutions, instead of benching players for an entire period, he said.

For instance, if one of the better players is stunned on the kick-off play and has to be benched for a few seconds while he recovers, he can't go back into the game until the next quarter. Too, it makes no provision for relieving tired players, who are more prone to injury when fatigued, he said.

He also said the new rule will slow down the game, since tired players cannot perform as well as rested ones. However, both teams will be affected by this, and it will be a fair thing. The team in best physical condition will have an advantage.

The junior colleges stand to benefit from the ruling in the long run, though, he says. Under the platoon system senior colleges needed so many men that they took almost every talented boy they could find. It was a difficult thing some years to recruit new team members against senior college competition.

With the demands of the senior colleges cut down, somewhat, by the new ruling, there will be more good football players available for junior colleges. This should improve the caliber of the playing throughout the loop, he added.

Asked if the new ruling would affect Hinds very greatly, he pointed out that many of his present team members played both offensive and defensive this year, rather than being specialists.

In addition to playing both offensive and defensive, many of the boys also played in several positions.

However, several of the boys have not played offensive ball before, and spring practice this year will stress that aspect, he said.

Eaglettes Take First Home Game Over East Central Here Saturday

The Hinds Eaglettes won their first home game here Saturday night, dropping the strong East Central Warriorettes 49-43, while the Hinds boys lost to East Central and Denver Bracken 96-63. On the previous night, both Hinds squads lost to teams from East Mississippi Junior College of Scooba. The boys lost 81-68, while the girls fell 52-25.

In the game with the East Central girls, Hinds led 14-10 at the end of the first quarter, 24-22 at the halftime, and 38-28 at the end of the third. High scorer for Decatur was Shirley Fancher with 20 points, with Jeannette Copeland second high for the Warriorettes. High scorer for Hinds and the game was Mayme Rees with 21 points, followed by Rita Faye Sowell with 16.

In the boys game the Warriors led 26-16 at the end of the first, 50-29 at the half, and 70-38 at the end of the third. Denver Bracken, celebrated East Central veteran, was high score man with 37 points, which he netted in 13 field goals and 11 free tosses. Hinds high scorers were Julian Sandifer with 19; Wesley McKinnie, 14; Orville Wright, 15; Charles Thrash, 13.

In the game with East Mississippi's cagers, the Hinds boys trailed 17-20 at the end of the first; 48-28 at the halftime, and 64-46 at the end of the third. High scorer for the game was Scooba's Covington with 30 points, followed by Johnson with 28. High scorer for Hinds

Hinds' Baby Eagles to End Season Against Utica Squads Here Monday

Hinds High's Baby Eagles and Eaglettes play their last home game here Monday night, when they meet the Utica squads in the Hinds Junior College gymnasium, Coach Louis Boteler reports. Prior to that they are scheduled to invade Utica's gymnasium Friday night.

The Baby Eagles in their 13 contests this year have scored 486 points to opponents' 385 points.

Tops in scoring for the Raymond boys have been Jerry Smith, first-string guard, and Garth Guy, first-string center, who has now left school. They dumped in 82 points each.

Billy Conlee, the other guard, has scored 76 points with his jump shot. Jesse Griffin, playing forward, has scored 59 points, particularly with his long shots. The other forward, Melvin White, who is developing into a fine floor man, scored 32 points, Coach Boteler said.

Through the season the Baby Eagles have lost 7 men six feet or over, leaving a starting line-up ranging from 5'5" to 5'9". Among the tall men were Garth Guy and Ralph Butts, who left school; Ray Boyd and Tommy Foster, who left the squad because of failures in their first semester work; and Hugh Gillespie and Joe Cox, who had insufficient grades in their studies. These tall men accounted for 217 of the Hinds squad's 486 points.

Despite these things, Raymond has racked their best record in several seasons and are aiming for Utica, who was runner-up in the Hinds County tournament.

The Raymond girls in 13 games have scored 481 points to their foes' 403. Rosa Taylor, leading pivot, has scored 199 points to take scoring honors thus far. Next is Martha Gillespie, fast forward, who has netted 106 points. Frances Graham, although playing in only four games, has scored 61 points with her breakaway crip shot. One of the most versatile members of the squad, Lou Kendrick, was shifted to guard in mid-season after scoring 50 points, mostly on long shots. Barbara Furness, Dorothy Gill, and Mary Frances Bray have also done well at forward, with Gill and Bray doubling at guard. Mary Will McKenzie, an excellent guard under the basket, was changed to a floor guard and has been doing well there, Mr. Boteler said. The other floor guard, Peggy Stubbs, has been in every game but one, when she was out with 'flu.

Hinds To Face Four Strong Teams In Two Home Games This Weekend

Cage squads from Northeast of Booneville and Itawamba of Fulton, four of the state junior college loop's strongest teams, will invade the Hinds Junior College gymnasium this weekend.

The Hinds cagers will meet Fulton in a double-header here Friday night, and the Booneville squad in a double-header Saturday night.

In previous games the Itawamba girls defeated Hinds 23-45 at Itawamba, behind the scoring of their pivot girl Camp, who netted 22 points. Their guards, Means, Taylor, and Everett, were able to hold the Hinds girls to a single point in the third quarter of the game, while their forwards scored accurately.

The Booneville girls defeated the Eaglettes 43-29 at Booneville, with their forward Robbins scoring 20 points in the second half of the game. Although outscored in the final quarter, the Hinds girls came within one point of the 1952 championship squad at the half-time break, and then tied the score at the end of the third.

The Hinds boys lost 93-62 to the Itawamba quintet, although leading them 35-34 at the half-time. At Booneville it was a similar story. The Hinds boys netted 20 points to Booneville's 25 in the first quarter, tied the score at the halftime, 43-43, and led 63-61 at the end of the third. However, Bryan and McReynolds saved the game for Booneville in the final period, scoring 16 points between them as the Eagle squad netted 12.

Modern Lighting To Be Installed On Hinds Campus

Dark spots on the Hinds Junior College campus will be virtually eliminated and the campus beautified with a new lighting system, bids for which were opened here Friday with City Electric Shop of Laurel successful bidder at a price of $9,293.90, the college administration reports.

Twenty-one street lights of a new mercury vapor type, which will not change reds to blues and blacks, are to be installed over the campus. They will be similar to those on the grounds of the New Capitol Building in Jackson.

Wiring for the new lights will be underground. Mounted on aluminum alloy posts, the lights will be controlled by a photo-electric switch on the back portion of the campus and a time switch on the fore part of the campus. The photo-electric switch will light the street lamps whenever the intensity of daylight falls below a certain point.

The lamps themselves will be sealed units, containing reflectors to disperse the light in a circular pattern or in directed patterns as the need may be.

Richard E. Cope was consulting engineer for the project, which is to be completed on or before May 1.

Religious Emphasis Week

Religious Emphasis Week—you may be hearing these words in the next few weeks; and when you do, make a mental check to remember the date.

Every year in Mississippi, colleges set aside a week or several days, in which one, two, three, or even seven outstanding speakers come to the campus and hold seminars, conferences, and conduct services for the students.

Just what is the purpose of this week? Just as the name says, it is a period of emphasizing the importance of religion on the campus, to renew our individual faiths.

A tentative date has been set on our school calendar, the first of March, in which to conduct a program of religious emphasis. Some of the faculty members and organizations will work together in making this week a successful one, if it is actually put through. At the present moment plans are indefinite, but if arrangements can be made, we'll have one or more outstanding speakers on the Hinds campus.

If you are making summer plans for mission work, church, Bible school work, or any type of religious work, you will have the chance to talk with the religious leaders concerning how, when, where, and whom to apply to in getting a job. If you do not plan to enter the religious field, you may still want to speak to the leaders.

Attend the services that are held, for the speakers will be here for your benefit and not theirs. The messages brought will increase your religious faith, and in this day and time, we need a spiritual uplift.

Help Open The Rec Room

Have you signed your pledge card? Perhaps the reason is that the hard-working Student Council hasn't gotten around to you yet, because each of these members is contacting Hinds students individually, giving everyone a chance to sign a card, which states that the student will cooperate to the fullest in taking care of the recreation room. There's one catch to this—if three-fourths of the students do not sign, the rec room will remain closed for the rest of the year. This means students will continue to furnish their own games, or use the grill facilities.

If you don't have your chance to sign a pledge, contact a council member and he will gladly give you an opportunity to do so. The more signed pledges, the sooner the equipment will be available. Act now!

'HOT TODDY' TOP TUNE ON HJC HIT PARADE; NINE OTHERS LISTED

"Hot Toddy" headed the list of top tunes for last week in the Eagles' Nest, campus grill, Mr. E. E. Morris states.

"Side By Side" and "I Don't Know" ran second and third, respectively, with "A Fool Such As I" in fourth place.

The other six tunes in order of their popularity are:

"Hold Me, Thrill Me, Kiss Me"; "No Help Wanted"; "Oh Happy Day"; "Why Don't You Believe Me"; "The Ruby and the Pearl"; and "In the Mood."

Morris Praises Students For Maintaining Clean Grill; Still Room For Improvement

"The grill and recreation room have been well kept," Mr. E. E. Morris announces, "although improvements can still be made." The grill employees along with Mr. Morris, would appreciate each student's cooperation on maintaining a clean grill and rec room.

Around the

By Vivian Wadsworth

Students at Miss. Southern recently thought they were seeing "flying saucers," but in reality they were viewing the planet Venus. One of the students even saw "turrets protruding from the side of the object."

Perkinston students are excited about the new outdoor swimming pool now under construction. This pool costing approximately $30,000, will be 35 x 75 and 10 feet deep. It will be enclosed by cyclone fence and include dressing rooms and a purification and recirculation water system, which will insure healthful conditions.

Rehearsals are now underway at East Central Junior College for "The Robe," a biblical drama adapted from Lloyd Douglas' book by the same name. The costumes, which are to be copied from the Roman and Palestinian dresses of the era, will be the highlight of the play.

The campus paper at Wood Junior College prints cute quips in each issue. Here are some examples:

Love is like an onion, we taste it with delight, but when its all over we wonder what made us bite.

A blotter is something you spend your time looking for while the ink is drying.

The "Lamp-Lighters' Club" was recently organized by the Hinds home economics girls. This name was chosen because it was in keeping with the idea that the women of the world are the lamp lighters—or those who light the way, in the home and in the world, to nobler living and thinking.

Less Flu Cases At Hinds Mrs. Robinson Reports; Hospital Statistics Given

"The flu epidemic has ceased," announces Mrs. Rachel Robinson, school nurse.

Since its opening on January 4 of this year, the school hospital has handled 75 patients, three-fourths being flu victims, and the other fourth having minor cuts and injuries.

Sue Webb was the first patient to be admitted, after becoming ill with the chicken pox, and Ray Boyd was the first flu patient.

A Whitehaven, Tenn., high school student recently hit the jackpot when he won $285 in prizes on a local radio program. To the student it was a "complete surprise" when his name was drawn and called out on the radio. There were seventy prizes in all including a man's jewelry set; six games, including electric baseball and football; three billfolds, six free dancing lessons, four fountain pens, a man's dresser set, and a week-end free hotel reservation for two in New York.

In a "What would you do if" column in the Tiger Talks, Jackson high school paper, some crazy questions and answers were given:

Q. You got into a bottle to build a miniature ship and couldn't get out?

A. Write to Believe It Or Not.

Q. You lost your voice and found a boy's?

A. Pull the Tallulah Bankhead act.

Q. You found a real ten thousand dollar bill, but, thinking it counterfeit, lit a cigarette with it?

A. Put the cigarette in my scrapbook.

Q. You were star of a water show but couldn't swim?

A. Set a world record for staying under water.

Q. Miss America was chasing you and you hit a dead end?

A. Oh, goody!

For the first time in Millsaps history the school has employed one of its own students as band director. The new man is a Biloxi boy who is majoring in music and is very capable of holding the position. The band students are quite happy about the new director, and there's going to be some progress made hereafter, I'll bet!

Students Seeking Easy Recognition

By RICHARD IMIG

"Fools names and fools faces, always seen . . ." so goes the old saw. We can't vouch for the faces, or for the intellectual standing — but we can vouch for the names; for a number of Hinds students, seeking to leave their mark behind them in an easy manner rather than through achievement, have spotted theirs in a variety of places on the campus.

There are those who put their full names; those who wish to declare their love before the whole world; and those who care only for recognition among the exclusive, their own circle of discriminating people.

Those egomaniacs who desire the whole world to know they had once slept in this very desk or chair include Bill Smith, Terry Worrell, Jean Evans, J. B. Middleton, Ralph Butts, Arlin Jones, Carlo Fazzio, Bill Chestine, James Hughes, Charlie Roberts, Shirley Green, Bell Star, Martha Nibley, Danny Brewer, Dale Bates, Carlos Zacarias, Ted Langford, Joe Allison, Bill Patterson, Bill Leach, John Cox, Durwood Graham, Bill Graham, Runt Walsh, Dirty Dirk, Larry Derryberry, Sid White, and Dale Bates.

Young lovers who wish to "shout it from the grill tops" include Burnett plus Betty; Ann plus Jerry; Mr. and Mrs. R. T.; J. H. D. plus B. F. G.; P. W. plus B. F.; and P. R. plus C. F.

Those seeking a slight degree of anonymity include W. J. H., M. H., J. K. N., J. P. C., J. M. B., C. W., Paul, Texas, Mickey, Hoover, Stegall, Joan, Tootsie, Chover, Henry, Billy, Rosa, Benny, T. Bone, Peggy, Connie, Bob, C. S., H. M., Louis, Kid Goves, Rudy L., Silly Stennett, Rub, P. F., and Dad.

Project Leaders, Committees Told For Campus 4-H

Leaders in six main projects of the Hinds Junior College 4-H Club and committees have been appointed by cabinet officers, meeting at the assistant county agent's office recently.

Project leaders are Janie Mashburn, clothing; Peggy Stubbs, poultry; Mary Smith, safety; Fleda McElvoy, gardening; Peggy Gallman, canning; and Helen Cowart, health. Committees include:

Program — Peggy Stubbs, Mary Will McKenzie, Martha Gillespie, Mrs. W. M. McKenzie, Mrs. Albert Mashburn, and Miss Mary Jane Hall.

Membership — Fleda McElvoy, Helen Cowart, and Barbara Furness.

Social — Mary Smith, Barbara Brummett, and Norma Owen.

Scarlet Pimpernel Still Popular At Hinds After 32nd. Printings

BOOK REVIEWS

By ANNE WALDROP

This book is not a new book by any means. The library does have a new copy, though, to replace the one worn out by the many Hinds students who have enjoyed it. This is the thirty-second printing of the book, which makes one realize just how interesting the public has found it for so many, many times.

During the French revolution a band of titled Englishmen under the bold and daring leadership of the Scarlet Pimpernel helped many royal sympathizers escape from France and the guillotine.

No one knew the identity of the Scarlet Pimpernel but the 19 men who worked with him. At every dinner table, party, or gathering the conversation opened, "Who is the Scarlet Pimpernel?"

France, too, wanted to know the answer to that question. Chavelin, a spy from the French Republic party, came to England to find the answer.

Seeking the answer, he came into possession of a letter from Armand St. Just, brother of Lady Blakeney, which connected St. Just with the Scarlet Pimpernel.

Blackmailing Lady Blakeney, Chavelin promised her that if she would help discover the identity of the Scarlet Pimpernel, her brother's life would be spared.

Lady Blakeney was in deep despair, but like other loving sisters she was willing to help the spy find the Scarlet Pimpernel.

Can you imagine her surprise and heartache when she learned the true identity of the Scarlet Pimpernel.

She could do nothing to stop Chavelin, but she could and did go to France to help the Scarlet Pimpernel escape. Her success in this venture is a vivid narration of suspense, which may help explain the 32 prior printings of this book.

Weary Band, Hi-Steppers Return After Interesting Mardi-Gras Trip

"That nine mile trek we made in the parade was about the climax of our trip," exclaimed Mary Jo Laird to a Hindsonian reporter, during an interview on the recent trip to the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. "But we had fun, even though we got tired," she asserted.

Leaving the campus at 8:00 Saturday morning, lunch was eaten in Hammond, La., and afterwards many went to the movies to pass off the afternoon. Southeastern Louisiana College played host to the band members for the night at their basketball game between Northwestern State. The boys spent the night at the college while the girls stayed at the Magnolia Hotel Court.

After departing from Hammond at nine the next morning, the eager group arrived in New Orleans two hours later. They made excursions around the town until assembly time at 1:00 p. m. The actual marching began at two in the Krew Okeanos Parade, in which the HJC band followed behind the King's float. This parade was one of three for the day, and the only one to march down Canal Street.

During the 70 block "hike" the band drank cokes to cool them off and to keep their spirits going. Some of the band members were up to their routine pranks. One guy, with a pin as a weapon, popped the spectators balloons as he marched by. Just as he savaged his seventh, he got trapped red handed (or should it be pin-handed?) and had to give up his toy.

After the long promenade up and down endless streets, the parade was over and these sore footed musicians sought the nearest curb to sit on. Many, not as worn out as others, toured the French Quarter, stopping at the Market for coffee and doughnuts. Bourbon Street was one of the fascinating streets they explored. One group of girls was pursued by a carload of boys, and down on those lonely and dark streets they found an excellent place to practice track. After all the running they did, they declared they didn't see as much of the quarter as they wanted to, but at the present time they were concentrating on "getting out of there."

New Orleans was interesting, exciting, beautiful, and other adjectives, but the only thing you could hear from the two-day travelers Monday when they arrived, was, "I'm so sleepy, what class am I in?"

Raymond High Cage Teams Journey To St. Joseph For Sectional Tourney

St. Joseph's gymnasium in Jackson will be the scene for the High School Basketball Sectional Tournament, to be held this week-end, February 12-14, in which the Hinds Baby Eagles and Eaglettes will participate.

The boys will meet Mississippi School for the Deaf Thursday afternoon at 3:15 and the girls will face Harrisville on Friday at 2:30 p. m.

Coach Boteler states that the boys' team has been weakened by the loss of its taller squad members.

QUARTETTE ENTERTAINS

The boys' quartet, Norma Owen, June Liss, Janie Mashburn, and Miss Thelma Prassel entertained the Jackson Optimist Club Monday, February 2. The program included three numbers by the quartet, three by the duet, and one by Miss Prassel.

HJC Faces 'Cats In Friday Games

Pearl River's Wildcats, who fell 65-60 on their own hardwood to the Hinds Junior College Eagles, will invade the Hinds gymnasium here for a return bout Friday night, with the double-header opening at 7 p. m.

Meanwhile, the Eagles have been practicing their defensive work after falling to Booneville here last Saturday, when they neglected the tactics that had given them victories over Holmes and Itawamba.

In 18 junior college games this year the Eagles have scored 1192 points, for an average of 66 points per game. Although they have won only seven of the 18 games, they have turned in several brilliant performances which have included victories over such conference leaders as Holmes and East Central of Decatur. Their lowest score this year has been 38, their highest 83, and a majority of their scores have been in the upper sixties.

In the previous game at Pearl River, the squad was led by Julian Sandifer, who netted 26 points, while Tom Poe and Wesley McKinnie netted 12. High scorer for Pearl River in that game was Durwood Speights, who netted 18 points.

Morris Still Scouting Tennis Team Candidates

Tryouts have already begun for the tennis team, states Mr. E. E. Morris, but it is not too late for anyone interested to enter. Because of the large number, team members will be chosen from the results of the try-outs.

Hinds Baby Eagles Overrun by Utica In 46-17 Defeat

The Hinds Baby Eagles and Eaglettes were topped last Friday night by the Utica Golden Waves, with the boys' team on the short end of a 46-17 score. In the girls' contest Utica came out on top by dropping in 47 points to Raymond's 29.

Jesse Griffin led Hinds with 11 points, while Utica's Minor Hines and Billy Templeton were top with 12 and 14 points respectively.

In the first quarter, Griffin hit for 4 points but at the end of the period the opponents were ahead with 6. At the end of the second quarter Hinds was behind, 20-9.

During the third period the Utica lead went to 34-13 and in the last quarter the Golden Waves scored 22 points while the Baby Eagles made only 4. This pushed the score to 56-17.

Jesse Griffin turned in an outstanding performance for Hinds as he out-jumped all of Utica's tall men on rebounds and continually broke in for cripshots.

Scoring honors for the girls' game went to Alice Starnes, who netted 19 points. Tops for Raymond was Martha Gillespie with 13.

The Raymond girls had trouble finding the basket until the last period when they dropped in 11 points to Utica's 3.

Raymond's record now stands eleven wins and three losses apiece, outside of tournament play. The combined record is 22 wins and six losses, one of the best in recent years.

Eagles Defeat Holmes, Itawamba; Lose to Booneville In Week's Play

Two invading teams fell before the Hinds Junior College Eagles this past week, while a third killed any hopes of a victory string of any importance.

The losing teams were loop-leading Holmes of Goodman and the quintet from Itawamba Junior College, Fulton. The successful invaders were Northeast of Booneville.

In all three double-headers the Hinds girls lost.

Holmes Junior College was defeated in a three-minute over-time period, after the regular game time ended in a 65-65 deadlock. Fulton's squad was defeated 82-60; while Booneville defeated the Eagles 77-67.

In the game with Holmes Howard McKissick netted 24 points to take scoring honors, followed by Julian Sandifer with 17. The Eagles trailed 14-9 at the end of the first quarter, and were still behind, 32-28 at the half-time. At the end of the third quarter they were within one point of the Bulldogs, 47-48, as the lead see-sawed back and forth. In the final quarter both teams fought for a definite advantage, but were deadlocked 65 all as the final whistle blew. In the overtime period Split Thomas netted two field goals, while Tom Poe, McKissick, and Wright added singles, and Gill added two free tosses. The Bulldogs missed six free throws in the three minutes, but netted four single goals. Leading the Bulldogs' scoring was Millard Davis, who netted 30 points.

In the game with Itawamba the Eagles led from the close of the first quarter, 14-13, and pulled further ahead at the halftime, 34-26.

A scoring spurt in the third quarter put the Hinds squad even further ahead 63-46 at the end of the third.

Top scorer for Hinds was Wesley McKinnie with 18, followed by Howard McKissack with 15. Tops for Fulton were Jimmy Scott and Jack Oslin with 13 each.

Booneville, in its successful game Saturday night, took an instant lead in the first few minutes of play to head the Eagles 19-4. However, the Eagles settled down to hard play and held the invaders to a 21-point half-time score, while the Eagles succeeded in netting 11 additional points.

After playing hard for the final five minutes of the first quarter and holding the Tigers successfully, the squad settled back in the second quarter to trail 43-36 at the half-time. At the end of the third the score stood 63-48 in favor of Booneville; and at the end of the fourth 67-77.

High scorer for Hinds was Poe with 19 points, followed by McKissack with 15. High scorer for Booneville was Wade Lindsey with 23 points.

Hinds' girls lost to Holmes 45-36, to Itawamba 30-18, and to Booneville, 42-35.

Leading the Hinds scoring was Maymee Rees with 15 against Holmes, Laura Smith with 6 against Fulton, and Rees with 13 against Booneville.

Students Offered Educational Trip To State College

College sophomores who are interested in or are making plans to attend Mississippi State College after completing their work at Hinds, and who wish to visit the campus on March 14, are requested to contact the registrar's office.

Arrangements have been made for the deans of the respective schools at State College to meet with and talk to Hinds students on Saturday morning. The deans have asked to be notified as to the number of students expected on this date. Therefore all interested students should have their reservations made by Monday, February 23.

This is a guidance service from both schools and not a soliciting agent for State College. The trip is planned only for those interested in attending the college upon completion of work here.

Personality Clinic Will Be Offered College Students

A "Personality Clinic," sponsored by the college freshmen and sophomores will begin February 23, and will extend over five or six class meetings, Miss Mildred Herrin announces.

Miss Betsy East, from the State Department of Welfare, will present the first talk of the series, which include personality, poise, dress, styles, beauty aids, hobbies, conversation, etiquette, and health. Miss Louise Mimms of Belhaven College will speak on the topic of poise at a later date.

Announcements will be made from time to time regarding the speakers for the other topics, Miss Herrin states, and all students in the college section should take advantage of the clinic.

Mahogany Closets Being Installed in West Dormitory

With the arrival and installation of California mahogany closets and storage space, renovations in West-side are nearing completion, Miss Gertrude Davis announces.

For several months floors in the rooms, lobby, and corridors have been tiled; walls have been painted in eye-ease pastel colors; and gas heaters have replaced the old heaters.

The blond mahogany closets provide room to hang clothes, shelf space, and room for storing baggage.

Plans are now underway to renovate Main Dormitory in the coming summer.

The choir was organized at the close of the first semester with 30 members selected by audition.

Hinds Student Returns to School In Search of Diploma for Ministry

By J. P. MERRITT

Most students find school a little difficult after their three months of summer vacation — they've forgotten so much and they've forgotten how to study.

Imagine the trouble and difficulties one would have after being away for 21 years and then walking into a classroom where such things as complements of infinitives, parallel structure, and methods of obtaining emphasis in sentences are being discussed.

That is the situation of G. P. Hughes, Jackson, who is preparing himself for the Baptist ministry. It was a year ago that Mr. Hughes felt the call into the ministry, and decided to return to school.

HINDS WILL BE HOST TO SCHOOL LEADERS AT CUSTODIAL MEETING

In cooperation with Hinds Junior College, the State Department of Education is sponsoring a custodial school in Mississippi to be held at the junior college March 30-April 2. Serving as consultant for the program will be Dr. N. E. Viles of the United States Office of Education, Washington, D. C., who will be the guest of Hinds Junior College during the session.

This is the first such school held in Mississippi since the beginning of World War II, according to T. H. Naylor, state director of school building and transportation.

Five superintendents from H. J. C.'s district — Warren, Rankin, Hinds, Yazoo, and Madison — will be invited by Hinds; while the State Department of Education will invite key personnel from throughout the state, so that benefits of the school may be diffused through other school areas.

According to Mr. Naylor, such

He had married when he was 17 and dropped out of high school. Now with four children, he has returned to complete his high school work, preparatory to entering college. Enrolling at Clarke Memorial Junior College last year, he transferred to Hinds, which is nearer his Jackson home. At Hinds he is taking four English courses and one history course.

When he receives his high school diploma, he plans to continue in the college division here, then go on to senior college.

"School is sort of hard, after being out 21 years, but I like it, and I like the teachers, too," he says.

Accepts Oil Job

Miss Margaret Smith, Canton, girls physical education teacher and director of the Hi-Steppers, has resigned her position at Hinds to take a job with a national oil company.

Selective Service Qualification Test Deadline March 9

Washington, D. C. — All eligible students who intend to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test in 1953 should file applications at once for the April 23 administration, Selective Service National Headquarters advised today.

An application and a bulletin of information may be obtained at any Selective Service local board. Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application immediately and mail it in the special envelope provided. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight, March 9, 1953. Early filing will be greatly to the student's advantage.

Results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student, according to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test.

School Purchases Hereford Calves For Class Project

In order that high school-vocational students and college students studying animal husbandry can see good beef animals grow, nine hereford calves, ranging in age from 8 months to two years, have been purchased by Hinds Junior College, Mr. J. C. Treloar announces. These animals include eight heifers and one bull calf.

Three of the calves were bought from Le For's Ranch in Texas, while the other six were bought at the Mississippi Hereford Association sale.

Mr. Treloar states that with this herd the agriculture boys will get a chance to help feed, fit, and show real beef animals.

Phi Theta Kappa Busy Arranging For Texas Trip

With convention time drawing near, the Hinds chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa is making plans to raise funds for the trip to San Antonio, Texas, in April.

Sandwich sales and rummage sales are among the many ways the members are building up the required finances.

Fifteen reservations have been made at the Plaza Hotel in San Antonio for the Hinds delegates. The convention will be in the Texas city during the famous Fiesta Week, held annually by the Texans.

Is It Wasted On You?

Somewhere in this issue is a story of a man who has come back to school after a lapse of 21 years. Now he is enrolled in high school, picking up where he left off.

Here you are in school getting an education—or are you? Perhaps you are here just to satisfy someone's wishes, attending on someone else's money, or playing around. You don't know the value of studying for a career; you're concentrating on having a good time with the opposite sex. Is it worth your time to attend classes, keep your teachers in a frenzy because you do inefficient work? If you have no ambition, who don't you quit and go home?

On the other hand, you may be the one who earnestly seeks more knowledge, who wants to learn more in order to help make the world a better place to live in. You are one of the people who will help advance some field of knowledge in this worn and tired world we live in. Don't quit now and think you will come back in a few years; you can't predict the future, as it may not be in a few years that you come back.

To see men and women coming back to school on their own free will should spur you on, should make you aware of the chance you have now; and most of all it should make you feel privileged to have the opportunity of learning.

In many foreign countries young people, who have such slim chances of obtaining an education, hold education high, and when they are one of the few who are able to attend school they study—all day and all night—because they are hungry for the knowledge they lack. They are amazed at the freedom of learning we have in America, but do they really know how much we run education in the ground? Do they think we are as sincere in our search for learning as they are? Wouldn't they be surprised to know how some American students act toward education. Would it take lack of educational facilities to make us appreciate the open opportunities? Let's hope not.

You may be studying to be a doctor, a lawyer, a farmer, a dairyman, a biologist, an engineer, a nurse, or a secretary. Whatever field you may be entering make the most of it. Plan to be the best in your vocation. Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today, for tomorrow may be too late.

You are growing to take some adult's place in the world. Your place will be just as important as the next fellow's and it is up to you to keep it that way. As a citizen of your town, of our world, are you going to let the place you live in become rotten, corrupt, and unfit for anyone to exist? No, you want the best in everything, like your neighbor. Well, do something about it—make yourself better by getting educated, then you can help the world to become better. Try it and see.

—Wadsworth.

Refrigeration Students Hear Lecture On Valves; Given Temperature Gauge

Members of the Hinds Junior College refrigeration day class visited the N. O. Nelson Company in Jackson to attend a lecture by Mr. Willis Stafford and Mr. R. L. Dingre, engineers with the Detroit Lubrication Company; while the two engineers visited Hinds that night to lecture the evening refrigeration class.

They discussed thermostatic expansion valves and presented each member of the classes with a pressure temperature calculator, Mr. A. G. Liss, instructor, reported.

Old Faculty House Has Served Many During 36 Years

By RICHARD IMIG

Not a log in this building but its memories has got

And not a nail in this old floor but to cherish a tender spot.

—Carleton.

A house, large or small, contains memories for someone, and Miss Lola Allen recalls some of them that are contained in the old frame house that has been moved across the highway from the campus.

In 1917 the first president of Hinds, Mr. W. N. Taylor, became first occupant of this house. Later the second president, Mr. R. E. L. Sutherland lived there. Then in 1931 the over-flow of boys—along with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McKenzie—spent their school days there. The house was used during 1938-39 by the faculty and was called the Frat House. Later this structure was used as a music studio then as an art studio. Last year it housed visitors on the campus and was used as veterans' apartments this summer and first semester of this year. Now the house is being remodeled into a duplex apartment for teachers.

This old frame dwelling, along with Shangri-La Dormitory, Main Dormitory, and the old administration building that recently burned, were the first buildings composing Hinds Junior College in 1917.

As time progresses a house may change but the events and thoughts enjoyed within will live on, even though the house may perish.

HINDS JR. SAYS:

An inferiority complex would be a blessing if some people we knew had it.

Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin spoke to students at Jones JC recently and challenged them to "stay in Mississippi." He pointed out that Mississippi used to be looked down on by the other 47 states, but now the state possesses some of the nation's finest highways, a good educational system, and industry is moving in rapidly. Lt. Gov. Gartin was formerly a student at Ellisville.

An inspection of Millsaps' girls dorms reveals "comforts of home" in many of the rooms. One girl has a washing machine, and now she declares "I can study now." There are miniature stoves—complete with oven and toaster, irons with steam attachments, phonographs, down comforters, electric percolators, and hair dryers, some the floor models like those found in the beauty shops. One gal has a swivel desk-chair, which is the envy of many dorm girls.

If your pencil eraser is leaving black or pink marks on your paper when you try to erase those wrongly written words, (?) try rubbing the eraser gently with sand paper (if not available try the window screen or an emory board!)

The Villian

Bobby Turnage of Raymond, a returned veteran, plays the part of the wicked villain in the old-fashioned melodrama, "Only an Orphan Girl," scheduled March 5 by the Lendon Players. Some of his wicked ideas include attempts to dynamite and buzz-saw Little Nellis, the orphan heroine.

The Vamp

Playing the "most seductive vamp this side of New Orleans, Nancy Arnold of Jackson will have an important role in the forthcoming melodrama, "Only an Orphan Girl," scheduled March 5 by the Lendon Players of Hinds Junior College.

'Son Of 100 Kings' Tells Story of Boy Finding New Home

By ANNE WALDROP

Ludar, a little boy who made a trip from England to Canada to see his father for the first time, is the story Thomas B. Costain wrote in his Son of A Hundred Kings. Another of Costain's historical romances, this has the same narrative skill and rich characterization that has made his other books so delightful.

The little boy had never seen his father and throughout the long voyage Ludar looked forward to the day when he would meet him. He didn't remember much about his people except an aunt that had never been kind, and he lived in dread the first few weeks after he arrived in Canada, for he feared all the people would be like his aunt.

William Christian and his wife took Ludar into their home, when the boy arrived in the small Canadian town a few hours after his father had killed himself.

Because of the kindness shown to him by the Christians, Ludar took care of them in their old days, and when he married a Canadian girl from the same town, he really felt he belonged there.

CUSTODIAL SCHOOL . . .

a school is badly needed at this time, because of current efforts to renovate and repair older school buildings and because of the necessity of knowing how to treat many new construction items, such as plastic-type floors.

"It is our belief that administrative personnel need to know the problems and methods of good maintenance and renovation, so that they may secure the most from the school dollar," President G. M. McLendon of Hinds points out.

Some of the things to be considered at the clinic will include the chemistry of cleaning; special problems in cleaning tools and supplies; plumbing, lighting, and sanitation; lawn and yard care; special problems in care of buildings and grounds; problems and schedule in renovations the training of building custodians; organization of staff and employment practices; purchasing problems; budget procedures heating and an evaluation of custodial services.

IN THE HINDS LIBRARY

Library Information Files Contain Useful Material

Would you like to do a bit of investigating? Then go to the Hinds library and investigate the pamphlet and clipping collection. There are three separate files: one on vocations, another on health and diseases, and a third containing material on different subjects.

The vocations file has information on a number of professions and businesses. These include doctor, lawyer, dentist, nurse, secretary, accountant, florist, and aeronautical work. One of the newest pamphlets is "Opportunities in Atomic Energy." There are also booklets on the bakery business, grocery business, social, work, and garage management.

Many students have become familiar with the health and disease file through their health classes. This includes cancer, tuberculosis, heart disease and rheumatic fever. There are also pamphlets on influenza, sinusitis, blood, allergies, and weight.

One of the most fascinating of the three files is the one containing miscellaneous information. Following are some of the questions which can be answered easily through the use of this particular file:

1. What are the names of the pictures behind the desk in the library? A list of all the paintings on the walls and the artists' names is filed under Art.
2. What will take iron rust out of your blouse. A stain removal chart is in the section under the heading Cleaning.
3. Where can a person get information on the history of Raymond and Hinds Junior College? See the file.
4. You need a driver's handbook to pass the driver's license test? A Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol Driver's Handbook is found under Safety.
5. You're writing a paper on some phase of negro education in Mississippi and you need some information? Look for the file labeled Negroes.
6. Where can you find something on good grooming for a class program? See the "Good Grooming Portfolio" under the heading Toilet.

These are only a few of the varied subjects which the miscellaneous file contains. Both librarians are ready to help students who are seeking additional information in the library.

Six Raymond 4-H boys are trying out for the crops judging team for the county contest, which will be held soon, according to Mr. J. C. Treloar, 4-H sponsor.

selection; Mike Safie, accordion solo; Miss Thelma Prassel, vocal solo; Mr. Don Maxwell, vocal soloist; and the Hinds Boys Quartet. Admission will be 15 and 25 cents.

Hinds In History —10 Years Ago—

Our "Little Quartette" composed of Miss Thelma Prassel, Miss Clara Beazley, Miss Mary Ruth Holliday, and Miss Gloria Cockerham were featured in assembly yesterday.

There has been a marked increase in the Trades School Division of the college. Even girls are enrolled in the department — approximately a dozen were observed busy in the welding shop one night last week.

HJC served a barbecue supper in the Optimist club house at Raymond Lake, Monday night to approximately seventy state and county dignitaries.

15 YEARS AGO:

One of a series of concerts that are being given by the HJC Band and Orchestra will be presented at Canton High school next week. These concerts are to consist of overtures, marches, novelties, and popular swing.

Professor J. B. Patrick, now principal at Lebanon school, gave one of the most stimulating addresses we have had this year in Chapel yesterday. "Making the Most of Our Opportunities" was his theme, and he advised us to "Let Down the Bucket Where We Are" in order that we might fill it with the opportunities that crowd before us every day.

NEW P. T. K. MEMBERS TO GET CERTIFICATES FOR MEMBERSHIP

Membership certificates for newly installed Phi Theta Kappas have arrived and will be presented Friday at activity period. Those who will receive the certificates include Paul Duks, Lemuel Piggott, Lawrence Cheatham, Billy English, Ethelda Oaks, Vivian Wadsworth, Lamar Selby, and Ted Dunning.

NOT THAT OLD!

Young James wanted to write a suitable inscription on the fly-leaf of the Bible he'd purchased as a gift for his grandmother, but thought and thought in vain. Then suddenly he recalled that his father had a book with an inscription of which he was very proud, so he decided to copy that. Grandma received quite a surprise when she opened her gift, a Bible, and found neatly inscribed "To Grandma, with the compliments of the author."

HORRIBLE EXAMPLE

Two friends were discussing their automobile troubles. "What model is your car?" asked one. "It isn't a model," retorted the other, "It's a horrible example."

Final Home Game Pits Hinds Eagles Against Summit

Hinds Junior College's Eagles and Eaglettes close their conference season with a brace of games this weekend, one at home and one away.

Closing their home play, they meet Southwest of Summit in a double-header in the Hinds gymnasium at 7 o'clock Friday night. The following night they invade the Jones Junior College gymnasium at Ellisville.

With the South Mississippi Junior College tournament only a week away, Coach Troy Ricks' Eagles are reaching their top form, and are expected to turn in a better performance than they offered the Southwest squad at Summit, where they lost 58-33.

Playing somewhat erratically this year, with constant changes in the team roster, the Eagles have won nearly half of their games, usually defeating the teams that had defeated them earlier.

In recent weeks, though, the squad has settled down and is playing as a team.

Possible starters for Friday night's game at Hinds include Tom Poe, Julian Sandifer, Wesley McKinnie, Howard McKissack, Grady Gill, Orville Wright, and Billy Ray Thomas.

South Mississippi Hardwood Meet Scheduled at HJC

Mississippi cage fans have an exciting basketball tournament in store for them at the close of February. Hinds Junior College of Raymond will be host to the South Mississippi Junior College Basketball Tournament, scheduled here in the Hinds gymnasium February 26-28.

An entertaining session is promised cage fans as the six boys teams and six girls teams take the floor. The teams will include squads from Hinds, Co-Lin of Wesson, Perkinston, Jones of Ellisville, Pearl River of Poplarville, and Southwest of Summit.

Each of the squads is capable of defeating almost any other team in the tournament, according to conference play records and statistics, although there will be favorites.

According to Coach Troy A. Ricks of Hinds, the northern section of the state, before this year, had been considered the strongest basketball territory in Mississippi. However, southern Mississippi teams this year are as strong, if not stronger, than the northern squads.

A specific schedule of brackets and hours of play is to be announced next week.

GOOD EYESIGHT

The draft board doctor was examining a prospective recruit.

"Read that chart," he commanded.

"What chart?" asked the draftee.

"That's right," said the Doc, "there isn't any chart. You're in, boy!"

Intra-Squad Game Will Climax Spring Football Practice Drills

Trying hard to mold a team as powerful as last year's state junior college champs, Head Coach L. C. DeVall and Backfield Coach Joe Renfro have been making the leather pop in the spring football drills that will be climaxed February 28 with an intra-squad game.

Bringing the biggest smiles to the faces of coaches is the rugged line featuring all-state tackles Durwood Graham, Vicksburg, and Burnette Blackmon, Jackson. Fighting for position behind these two are John Bryant, Larry Hudson, and Earl Sullivan.

At guard are 250-pound Charlie Dees and Donald Soileau, both named all-state honorable mention in the season's regular play. Joel Soileau, all-state honorable mention at both guard and tackle, is demonstrating his ability to block and back a line with equal skill.

Seeking a berth at center position is Earl Izzard, a member of last year's top-ranking squad. The terminal position has Lettermen J. B. Middleton and Jack Dryden, with Ray Peavey, 190-pounder from Canton, and Carter Buford, letterman from Vicksburg.

Backfield Coach Renfro will have a difficult time replacing Bob Smith and Larry Troxler at halfback, as well as his other outstanding backs, who have gone on to senior college. Putting in a strong bid is Carlo Fazzio, 150-pound scat back. Other candidates in the backfield are Jimmy Ray from Pearl, Clyde Little, Forest; Harry Geotis, Jackson; and Ray Boyd, Raymond.

Seeking the quarterback slot are Letterman Durwood Martin, Byram; Bobby Harris, Jackson; and James Velchhoff, Jackson.

Filling in at fullback is Mike Chatlanotto, who has been grinding out yardage in scrimmage. Expected to add to the strength here is Oran Renfro, who has been out because of a recent knee operation.

Hinds High Squads Lose Early Rounds In Sub-Regional

The Baby Eagles and Eaglettes participated in the Sub-Regional Tournament last weekend, held at St. Joseph Catholic School in Jackson, with the boys winning one and losing one, and the girls losing out in the first game.

The Raymond boys defeated the Mississippi School for the Deaf Thursday afternoon by a 34-31 score.

Billy Conlee was high scorer in the game with 15 points, and Frank La Rosa was tops for the losers with 10.

Friday night, the Baby Eagles lost to the Harrisville five by a close score of 44-40. During the first half the Raymond quintet led the scoring but Harrisville edged ahead in the last half of the period. Hinds tied the score in the last few seconds of play, but the Black and Gold players took the lead with a field goal and a pair of free throws.

Jesse Griffin and Melvin White each racked 14 points to take scoring laurels in the game, while the tall Harrisville center scored 13 points for his team.

Friday afternoon the Baby Eaglettes played the Harrisville sextet but lost the game by ten points. This game, with a 42-32 score, eliminated the girls from the tourney.

Harrisville's Ainsworth was top scorer with 28 points and Rosa Taylor dumped in 16 to lead Raymond.

Sociology Students Visit Gateway Rescue Mission

Sociology 60 students and Miss Lula Mae Fowler toured the Jackson Gateway Rescue Mission yesterday.

Those making the trip included Chester Jones, Thomas Jones, Jackie Tyson, Jo Nell Nutter, Carolyn Hall, Shirley Beadle, Mrs. Sauceman, and Lynette Collins.

HJC Band Plans Concert Itinerary; Reports Features

Plans for a concert tour by the Hinds Junior College Eagle Band are underway, and an itinerary is being worked out, Mr. W. S. Swinney, band director, reports.

This tour will be the best in the history of Hinds, Mr. Swinney asserts, declaring that he would put the present band up against any in the state.

Some of the numbers to be featured in the concert tour are "Trojan Prince Overture," "Carnival of Roses Overture," and "Nell, the Farmer's Daughter," a musical melodrama.

Members of the clarinet quartet and a pantomime "Spike Jones" band will be featured in the concerts, too. Clarinet quartet members include Roy White, George Schultz, Jerry Terry, and Barbara Furness.

Raymond Teams Win One, Lose One From Utica Group

The Hinds High Baby Eaglettes defeated Utica's Yellowjackets 51-48 here Tuesday night to close their home and conference season, while the Hinds boys fell 22-57.

In the girls game the Eaglettes, on the scoring of Frances Graham, Rosa Taylor, and Martha Gillespie netted 19 points to the Utica sextette's 13 in the first quarter. At the halftime the Eaglettes had pushed their advantage to 30-21.

The Utica girls, sparked by Alice and Lillian Starnes, rallied in the third quarter, to pull within three points of the Eaglettes 34-31. Continued scoring by Gillespie, Graham, and Taylor though put the Eaglettes ahead by three points in the final quarter.

HJC Eagles Beat Pearl River Team; Hinds Girls Lose

In the boys game the Eagles took an early lead behind the scoring of Julian Sandifer, to head the Wildcats 22-13 at the end of the first quarter. Tom Poe netted four field goals, while Orville Wright got two and Sandifer and McKissack accounted for one each to put the Eagles ahead 38-27 at the half-time. With several of the second team in during the final quarter, the Eagles continued scoring to take the game 62-48.

In the girls' game the Hinds squad fell behind 11-8 at the end of the first quarter; then dropped 26-16 at the halftime. Frances Gipson of Pearl River continued scoring to bring the invaders' score to 39 while the Eaglettes score stood at 27.

Top Hinds scorer in the boys game was Sandifer with 17, followed by Poe with 15. Other Hinds scorers were McKinnie, 11; McKissack, 11; Wright, 6; and Gill, 2.

Eaglettes scorer was Rees with 15, followed by Laura Smith with 14. Rita Faye Sowell netted 7, while McGuffee scored 2, while substituting as forward.

were Graham and Taylor, who netted 19 each, while Gillespie sank 13 points.

Top scorer for Utica was Alice Starnes, who netted 18 points, followed by June Moulder and Lillian Starnes, with 12 points each.

The Hinds girls drew 15 fouls, while Utica drew 22 fouls.

In the boys' game the Sub-Regional Championship Utica squad netted 14 points in the first quarter to the Baby Eagles' 5 points. At the intermission the Yellowjackets were ahead 24-13, and at the third 41-18.

High scorer for Hinds was Jesse Griffin with 8 points, followed by Melvin White and Billy Conlee with 5 points each. Billy Lancaster netted 3 points, while Jerry Smith scored one point.

'Only an Orphan Girl' Scheduled Thursday

Melodrama Has Old-Time Flavor

"Only an Orphan Girl," an old-time melodrama complete with boos and hisses for the villain and cheers for the hero, will open here Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the HJC auditorium.

Under the auspices of the speech department headed by Mr. Leonard Hart, the play is being presented by the Lendon Players as their second major production of the season.

The four scenes of the play are entitled "Ruined, Ruined!", "Marry Me, and the Mortgage Shall Be Yours," "Don't Despair, Pa, It's Not Midnight Yet," "This Time There is no Escape, and "You have Balked Me Once Too Often."

The audience is being asked to take an active part in this play, Mr. Hart pointed out. "We've even told them on the programs to boo and catcall," he said. One of the other characters is also expected to draw a few long, low whistles.

Mr. Adams will discuss wills and the law of descent and distribution of property according to state law when one does not leave a will.

Last Friday Mr. H. V. Watkins of the Watkins-Edwards and Ludlam law firm spoke to the class on income tax. He led a discussion and gave the fundamental basis of income taxation. He will bring another lecture soon concerning income tax forms.

J. C. Choral Meet Slated on Campus; Davidson, Director

Hinds again will be host to the state junior colleges on Friday, March 13, when the choruses from the respective schools assemble for the annual Junior College Choral Festival, Mr. Don Maxwell announces.

Mr. Loren Davidson of the vocal music department at L. S. U., will assist the program as guest choral conductor.

Each school will present a 20 minute program; that evening a variety and mass program will climax the festival.

Eagle Staff Announced; Doris Wilson, Editor; Varner, Assistant Editor

Doris Wilson, Anding, and Jack Varner, Canton, have been named editor and assistant editor of the Hinds annual, the Eagle, Mr. T. T. Beemon, sponsor, announces.

Other staff members named include Catherine Brown, Bob Holcomb, and Bobby French — sports editors; Roy White and Cecil Yarbrough — club editors; Qujette Greenlee—feature editor; and John Earl Sullivan, Gerald Russell, and Barbara Herring—business managers.

The last shipment of the annual was scheduled to be shipped last week, Mr. Beemon states, and "should be ready and returned by the last week of school."

What a Life!

No one can say life was dull last week, with all the basketball teams down for the tournament. And being able to skip classes with an excuse, was unusual for some people. The visiting teams seemed to enjoy our campus, especially the grill, which was always full to the four corners. Maybe Hinds should be host to the tournament every year, but aside from giving the students something different to think about, there are other people who suffer headaches in keeping the school together during the period.

In just a few weeks Hinds again will be host to visitors, this time to the Junior College Choral festival. There probably won't be any excused absences to listen to the music, but if you have any free time, drop around and listen to the good singing which the various junior colleges will be offering.

ORCHIDS TO YOU

There's a heroine on the campus who saved two fellow students from dying from asphyxiation (gas poisoning). She entered the room just as the girls were about to take a nap, smelled the gas and cut it off. If you want to meet this young lady, I'll be glad to supply her name.

I CAN'T GO HOME, NOW

Report cards are out and the shock and pain or the joy felt when the "yellow sheets" were handed out is almost over. Maybe you didn't make the Honor Roll but pulled up your grades. Keep a' going; you'll do better next time. 'Course if you actually made horrible marks, it's your own fault; don't blame it on the teacher. Does anyone want a one way ticket to Pakistan?

PEEK-A-BOO

The sun and the rain insist on playing peek-a-boo and no one ever knows whether to carry a raincoat and boots or not. The sunshine was a relief recently after eight days of hard downpour but just as a poor body was beginning to enjoy the sunbeams, dark clouds would begin to form and cover the bright ball in the sky, and before long the drops would hit the already-soaked-earth and once again raincoats would be donned. In a way it will be a comfort to have the warm sunshine, which makes me wish summer were already here.

IT'S TOMORROW NIGHT!

Members of "Only An Orphan Girl" will take their formal bow tomorrow night and not a soul should miss seeing this play. This will not only entertain the audience, but also give the people a chance to participate in the play itself. In this particular "drah-ama" you can boo the villain, whistle at the hero, and sing. In-between-acts there won't be that dull waiting, for there will be plenty of entertainment until the curtain rises again. Make a date to see Nellie, the orphan girl, get out of the awfulist situations. Don't forget to boo the villain.

Pakistan Student Shows Surprise At Locker Plant

"At home we kill the oldest animals first because the meat has to be eaten right then or salted and dried," Malik Mohammed Sadig of Pakistan told employees of the HJC Cold Storage Plant as he toured the plant and marveled at the conveniences of everyday American life.

Other things Sadig commented on included the bringing of mail to individual homes, bookmobiles, cheap electricity "all over the place," paved roads "everywhere," the humane treatment of prisoners in our jails and penal institutions, and maintenance and cleaning facilities.

"Americans live like kings, but don't realize or appreciate the value of these things in their life," the visitor declared, "they just take them for granted."

Sadig is visiting the United States as an exchange student to the United States Department of Agriculture, assigned to study the 4-H Clubs and agricultural work in America.

Among the students at Wood Jr. College is a Japanese woman, who married an American soldier. She is living in Mathiston and attending Wood J. C. Her nickname is Scarlet, given to her by her Japanese friends when they read Gone With the Wind. Her native name is Yorika Matsusima Booth, she is an American learning the customs and language. She admires the democratic way in which Americans conduct their affairs. But she thinks that American women could learn something from Japanese wives about the treatment of husbands. She says that she never thinks of saying to her husband "Do this!" or "Help me with the dishes."

Scarlet Booth is popular with the students at Wood J. C. and frequently speaks to civic groups.

Whitehaven High School now has an alma mater song, written by one of its students. With the music director's tune, the senior boy wrote some pretty words that are in part "There's a spot I'll always cherish down in sunny Tennessee, where the warmth of school day friendship means so much to me . . . "The words are quite good. Congratulations to the young boy who composed them. He will always be remembered at Whitehaven.

The Black Hills Passion Play will be presented at Southern March 12 and 13. This play is now in its 17th year of production and is acclaimed as the greatest presentation in religious education. It depicts the seven last days of Christ of earth. Originally the play began in Luenen, Westphalia, in 1242. Josef Meiser is the main character, Christ, and his wife plays Mary.

The company carries more scenery, electrical effects and costuming than any other legitimate theater.

Language Club Gives Reports

Members of the Modern Language Club visited two famous cities through the reports of JoAnn Marshall and Carolyn Milton, at the last club meeting, February 26.

In Paris, JoAnn described such places as the Arc of Triumph, the Eiffel Tower, and the Louvre, a large museum. She stated that in going through the Louvre, a visitor could walk for three hours looking at the pictures and could not see the entire building. JoAnn also brought out the fact that Paris is not all a "sparkling fantasy," for a person could spend quite an interesting evening at one of the ever-popular cafes.

Buenos Aires is the main educational center of South America Carolyn pointed out in her report. She told the club members something of the modernistic buildings found in the city.

SELECTIVE SERVICE

National Headquarters of Selective Service today reminded college students that applications for the April 23, 1953 Selective Service Qualification Test must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 9.

Mississippi's outstanding junior college basketball teams from the northern and southern play-offs will meet at Hinds Junior College, Raymond, this weekend, March 6-7, to play for state title honors.

Southern and northern district champions and runners-up will meet in the Hinds gymnasium, beginning at 3 o'clock Friday, with the state championship games opening at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night.

In the northern district play-offs at Booneville this past weekend, East Central rolled over Holmes 80-68 in the finals and the Scooba girls defeated Itawamba 45-40. Sparking the East Central Warriors is Denver Brackeen, while Melvin Gibson leads the scoring

Baseball Practice To Begin Monday

Baseball drills will begin at Hinds Junior College, Monday, and the first conference game will be against Co-Lin of Wesson here April 1, Coach Joe Renfroe announces.

Coach Renfroe, seeking catcher and pitcher material, is asking boys interested in these two positions to report to Room 16 of New Administration Building, Thursday at activity period.

Others interested in seeking positions on the team are asked to report Monday afternoon at 3:45 in the gymnasium, he said.

The conference schedule shows 10 games, and in addition, several non-conference games with teams from other schools will be announced, Coach Renfroe said.

The Hinds diamond teams have won three state championships and tied for another in the past five years. However, there will be no championship game this year because last year's play-offs ran so late. The conference will be divided into northern and southern districts for season play, though, he said.

The schedule will be as follows:

for Holmes this year.

East Mississippi's girls entered the northern finals with a record of 27 consecutive victories, but were held to one of their lowest scores by the Fulton squad in the finals. Betty Spears netted 38 of her team's 45 points in the final game.

In the southern tournament, held at Hinds Junior College in Raymond, the Co-Lin Wolves went through without a bobble, behind the scoring of Bernard Riley and the floor and backboard work of Milton Robichaux. They defeated squads from Pearl River, Perkinston, and Jones to bring their southern district victory string to 13 wins.

Seeded third in girls play, Perkinston defeated the Hinds Eaglettes in the semi-finals and Pearl River in the finals. Katherine Gangloff and Ellen Pierce sparked the Perkinston victory.

HJC Baby Eagles To Begin Practice For Track Season

Hinds High's Baby Eagles and Eaglettes began their track season Monday with workouts at which 24 boys and 15 girls reported.

Co-Lin Boys, Perkinston Girls Victorious in Tournament Here

Behind the scoring of Bernard Riley and Milton Robichaux, the Co-Lin Wolves, top-seeded team, won the boys title in the South Mississippi Junior College tournament here Saturday night, while the Perkinston girls defeated Pearl River for the girls' title.

In the previous day's games the Hinds Eaglettes fell to the championship Perkinston squad in the semi-finals. The Hinds boys were defeated by Jones of Ellisville in their first game.

Opening the tournament, the Hinds Eaglettes defeated second-seeded Jones, 28-27, in an action-filled game that kept Hinds supporters screaming. The Eaglettes took an early advantage, as the Hinds guards allowed the Jones cagers only a single point in the first quarter. The half-time score showed Hinds still ahead, 16-10; but Jimmie Mae Rogers sparked a Jones flurry in the final quarter that brought the score to a 25-25 deadlock. A free throw and a field goal restored the Hinds lead, but after Jones scored again the Hinds girls were forced to freeze the ball for the last 45 seconds of play.

High scorer was Laura Smith with 13, followed by Mayme Rees with 12. Rogers was high scorer for Jones with 14.

Game at Summit Completes Work For Football Team

Climaxing spring football training, Coaches L. C. DeVal and Joe Renfroe will get a preview of their 1953 season prospects tonight when the Hinds Eagles meet the Southwest Bears of Summit at 8 o'clock on the Summit field in an intersquad scrimmage session.

Probable starters will include ten members of last year's strong squad, which placed third in the nation and won Mississippi's co-championship and Laurel Lions' Bowl.

Durwood Martin will quarterback, while Carlo Fazzio will play left halfback and Mike Cattalanotto will open at right halfback. Durwood Graham will play at fullback position.

The game with Southwest will end practice sessions for a majority of team members. However, coaches are expecting to continue drills for some team members three times a week until they are in condition to play 60 minutes of football. The additional practice is necessary, they said, in view of the new college football rule limiting free substitution.

but lost Howard McKissack on fouls before the quarter was over. With Randall Boone shooting unhampered, the Jones squad led 17-22 at the half-time, 43-36 at the end of the third, and 68-54 at the end of the fourth as Orville Wright and Julian Thomas joined McKissack on the bench.

Playing its first game against Pearl River, the Co-Lin girls were defeated 41-33 without difficulty. However, the Co-Lin boys evened the score, eliminating the Pearl River boys with a 74-62 score as Riley, Robichaux, and Bob Huckaby starred. Emerson Ladner led the losers with 21 points.

In their second round the Hinds girls fell easy victims to the Perkinston girls, as the Hinds forwards stayed clear of the goal and attempted all their shots from far out on the floor.

Mayme Rees led the Hinds scoring, netting 14 points, with Laura Smith taking second honors with 12. Katherine Gangloff and Ellen Pierce led the Perkinston scoring in the slow-moving game.

Most exciting game of the session was the Jones-Summit game in which the Jones Bobcats successfully overtook the Southwest Bears after trailing 12 points at one time. Southwest's squad took an early lead to head the Jones Bobcats 21-13 at the end of the first quarter. With L. D. Ready scoring heavily, assisted by Randall Boone, though, the Bobcats stayed in the game and were trailing by six points at the end of the third. As Southwest relaxed in the final quarter, Carmichael and Moore joined in the scoring for Jones. At the mid-point of the fourth quarter the Bobcats overtook Southwest and then pushed ahead to their 72-68 victory.

Pearl River's girls made short work of Southwest, after a close two quarters. The Co-Lin boys had a hard time defeating Perkinston's boys. After a close first quarter the Co-Lin squad pulled ahead 39-32 at the half, but a fourth quarter rally by Perkinston's substitutes nearly spilled the favored Wolves.

Hinds Thinclads Begin Training

Track and field champions five times in the past six years, the Hinds track and field teams will begin work for the state competitions at a series of invitation meets held in conjunction with the tennis and baseball games this coming month.

The first of the track meets will probably be held at Jones Junior College on April 18 at a four-way meet. When Perkinston comes here on Saturday, April 25, a three-way meet is planned and another three-way competition is planned at Perkinston on May 1.

The bedroom will have three walls of pebble pink and one of blue, while the bathroom will be entirely yellow.

Two of the walls in the foods laboratory will be pink, and the other two green, while the classroom will have two pink and two green walls.

Textbook Group To Meet At HJC

Members of the Hinds County Textbook Committee, which includes four Hinds Junior College teachers and two from the Raymond Consolidated School, will meet on the Hinds Junior College campus Saturday to select textbooks for use throughout Hinds County.

The county committee will select one of three books approved by the state textbook commission in each of the subject fields. Within this choice of texts, each school is permitted to choose its own preferred book. However, the county committee was set up to select one text in each field, so that all schools in the county would be using the same book for each course, facilitating the transferring of students from class to class or school to school.

Appointed by County Superintendent R. M. Mayo, Hinds Junior College members of the committee include Miss Ruth Boyd in the field of English, Mr. T. T. Beemon, science; Mr. J. B. Patrick, social studies; and Miss Lurline Stewart, mathematics. Consolidated school members of the committee include Mrs. L. C. Spann and Coach Guynes.

Hinds Adopts New System Of Fees To Replace Present 'Special Fees'

As a step toward more complete equality of opportunity in the special fields of education, Hinds Junior College is abolishing almost all "special fees" and announcing a totally new system of fees for its student body next year, President G. M. McLendon reports.

Under the new system all students will have the opportunity to take courses in such fields as music, business education, and the sciences without fees that penalize those interested in such studies.

The new system does away with the three pages of "special fees" previously listed in the catalog and substitutes two fees to be collected from every student. One of the two is the $5 matriculation fee required by law in all colleges. The other is the "institutional" fee being adopted.

This institutional fee replaces the multiplicity of fees now being collected: athletic fee; health fee; room fee; and course fees in accounting, office machines, shorthand, intermediate shorthand, advanced shorthand, typing, advanced typing, music practice equipment, zoology, botany, biology, inorganic chemistry, organic chemistry, qualitative chemistry, and physics; and fees for private lessons in band, voice, and piano.

"The new system gives the students interested in science, business, or music the same opportunity as the one interested in English or history," President McLendon said.

Since much of the material used in vocational-technical instruction is consumed by the student and has to be replaced for each succeeding class, it was found necessary to continue the $10 fee for part-time students in this field, to help pay part of this expense. Full-time vocational students will continue to pay the $35 tuition now being charged.

Room and board, which averages approximately one dollar a day, will remain at the same figure, $28 per school month.

Upon entrance next year a student will pay a $5 matriculation fee, plus a $7 institutional fee. Dormitory students will pay a deposit of $28 for board, making a total of $40 for them the first month. Thereafter, dormitory students will pay $28 for room and board, plus a $2 institutional service fee, making a total of $30 per month.

This means that the year's total expenses for dormitory students will be an initial payment of $40, plus eight payments of $30 each, or a total of $280 for the year.

Communism Doesn't Sit Back

We "ooh" and "ahh" at the statements made by persons who have seen the inside workings of the Communists, but it seems we never want to do anything about spreading the word around. We think that Communism will never overtake America, so we sit back on our rockers and let the "comrades" in our state and in our nation go through with their plans.

There are several persons touring the United States and speaking to civic clubs, schools, club groups, and other organizations about the dealings of the Party, their scrupulous works, and their so-called policies and promises. They tell how many persons fall for the Party promises and believe that when the Communists take over America and the world, peace will come and citizens will be able to do as they please. This thinking is exactly what the Commies are striving for.

Matt Cvetic, who for nine years was an undercover agent for the FBI, is one of the spokesmen who are trying to show why Communism should not overtake the world. His work with the Party has revealed that the communistic group has one objective: to overthrow the American government by force and violence, to establish a dictatorship, and liquidate or put into labor battalions — millions of Americans. They are now working toward their goal.

This FBI agent stressed that it took only a few Party members working in a city or state to spread communistic ideas. "Thousands of communists are placed in particular places in the United States where it is best for them to operate. They are chosen on the basis of strategic places, such as government, industry, education, and agriculture." He further pointed out that these people are trained as leaders before they are placed in a specific place, therefore, there is no need for a large group of trained persons in one area.

If a person is a Communist he believes there is no God; his freedoms (speech, religion, press, etc.) are taken away; he becomes a worker for the "big chief"; and for his work he receives no compensation; he is no longer a member of his family; he has no friends or relatives anymore; and if he ever slips up on his job, he is "liquidated," quickly and quietly.

"Politics is your government; and if it doesn't run any better, it's your own fault," warned Mr. Cvetic when he spoke at Central High School recently. "By taking interest in the governmental works and in your Constitution, you can help make the American government better, and if you don't run it some one else may."

In summarizing, Mat Cvetic, who gave up the respect of family and friends and knowing that he might lose his life to become a spy on Communists, stated, "the future of America belongs to you—remember that."

The University of Texas, which last month congratulated students for their record of honesty, has now provided instructors with a list of suggestions to "help guarantee student honesty." The suggestions are:

"Do not leave questions in offices overnight . . . The least possible time should elapse between construction of the examination questions and using them, with questions in the personal possession of the instructor in the interim.

"Greater care in the supervision . . . in the selection and training of proctors . . .

"Request students to refrain from bringing books and notes into the examination room . . ."

One young man at Southern, who apparently is in real need, figured he could "earn" some money right quick. He went over to one of the dormitories, sat down on an empty sofa in the lobby. The couples sitting around thought him strange, not to have called his date. Suddenly he put his hands behind him and felt down under the cushions. Finding nothing, he slid over to both sides of the couch and delved into all the cracks. A boy, who was sitting with a girl across the room, asked, "Did you lose something?"

"No," remarked the strange young man, "I'm just looking for money!"

He left as quietly as he came, but the couples found he had a good idea, and proceeded to investigate the sofas around them. This student reported finding over a dollar in two of the campus dorms.

There's a bookie at the University of Vermont, and his present headquarters are in the student lounge. He takes bets on most of the state and national basketball games, according to The Vermont Cynic.

The paper says that the University is taking steps which will "nip in the bud the book-making activities." The bookmaker, a sophomore, has taken bets from about 60 students.

A University spokesman says this is "but an isolated incident," and promises action "to prevent a similar situation from arising in the future."

NO SICK—NO EXCUSE

Any boy who is ill enough to miss one or more classes must report to the campus infirmary for medical attention, Dean A. L. Denton announces.

No boy can get an excused absence for missing classes without a note from the school nurse.

In the Iowa State Daily, Ken Stein has written a platonic dialogue. If you don't catch on the first time, read it again.

My roommate told me it was time for me to get a date. He called down the name of a girl from his perch on the chandelier. I telephoned a number.

"Hello. Can I please speak to Nancy?"

"She just started shaving."

"I'll wait." Seventeen minutes passed.

"Hello. Who's there?"

"Is this a girl?"

"What can I do for you?"

"I'm a boy . . . I thought maybe that . . ."

"You want to take me out?"

"Yes."

"I'll meet you at the Union at eight. How will I recognize you?"

"I'll wear a red-striped suit."

"But how will I recognize you?"

"I'll be revolving around."

"See you!"

She was an hour late. I was grateful, because I made $5 attracting business to the barber shop. I had a miserable evening. We went out and ate spaghetti. I got vertical spaghetti on my horizontally striped suit . . .

Closing hours for women's houses at Kansas State College have been extended a half-hour to 10:30 p. m., on week nights. The ruling was made despite strong opposition from frosh coeds.

The freshmen feared a time extension might hurt scholarship, result in less sleep. Upperclassmen had no such doubts — they voted for extension.

For instance: the cutest couple will receive show tickets; "Most Likely to Succeed" seniors will get, for the girl, a gold bracelet, and for the boy, 10 gallons of gasoline; the best dressed boy will get a hand warmer and the stylish girl will receive a haircut. Other winners receive nice gifts, too.

Southern's Symphonic Band To Appear Here March 23

The Mississippi Southern College Symphonic Band, shown above, will appear at Hinds Junior College during its annual spring concert tour which begins on Monday, March 23. Law Students Tour Jackson Bank To Study Departmental Working

The Business Law class, accompanied by Miss Mildred Herrin, instructor, visited the Deposit Guaranty Bank and Trust Company recently. Mr. James Cow met the class and served as guide through the different departments of the bank.

The class was shown how a deposit passes through the various departments, going from the teller's window to the vaults. After leaving the teller, they were shown the proving department, where the correctness of the amount deposited was proved. They were shown how the complicated proving machine worked and how the checks were classified as to origin of bank, city, and state.

The second department visited was the accounting division. Here the class saw how deposits were recorded in the various accounts of the banks' customers. Probably the most interesting feature of this section was the "recordograph," the machine used for photographing the checks, class members reported.

The vaults were shown next and the students saw how money is wrapped and sorted. Also, the mechanism of the vault alarm was explained.

Bonds, explained by Mrs. Louise McFadden, were found to be the most interesting phase of banking. She showed the class several bonds and commented on the various ways in which bonds are used.

In the note section a new system was explained and its advantages in collecting notes shown.

After the tour the class had a question and answer session, with Mr. Vaughn Jones presiding. Each person was given a desk note-pad and pencil as a gift from the bank.

NEW FEE SYSTEM

Total expenses for day students will be the initial $7 institutional fee and the $5 matriculation fee, or a total of $12.

The new system is expected to be of particular interest to those interested in such fields as music. They will have the opportunity to learn to play a band instrument or the piano or to take voice lessons, without paying such penalizing fees as practice fees or private lesson fees. The courses will be open to all and private lessons will be available to those meeting requirements.

Calling All Irish! Grab Shamrocks For St. Pat Day

Don yourself in green
Polish up your Irish brogue
St. Patrick's Day is March 17.

St. Patrick's Day, Ireland's national holiday, is the anniversary of the death of the patron saint of Ireland. This day expresses the patriotism of the Irish wherever they may be, and is observed in that country and abroad with parties, dinners, and parades.

Everywhere the shamrock is worn on this day to commemorate its use by St. Patrick. In an effort to explain to the Irish people the mystery of the Trinity he plucked a shamrock, a plant bearing three leaves upon one stem, and said that the three leaves represented the three persons.

The wearing of the green is significant of the undying gratitude to his memory.

St. Patrick, who preached, taught, and founded churches for many years in that land, died on March 17, 1493. One of the traditions that has grown up about St. Patrick is that he drove all the snakes and similar vermin out of Ireland. He banished them all except one old serpent, which refused to leave. St. Patrick made a box and invited the serpent to enter. The serpent objected on the ground that it was too small to hold him, but St. Patrick insisted. Finally the serpent entered the box to prove that it was too small. When he did the saint fastened the lid and threw the snake into the sea.

As you can see St. Patrick was indeed a hero of Ireland, whose memory we should commemorate with gratitude.

"I suppose now that you are married you will be taking out some insurance?" the agent asked the bridegroom.

"Oh, no," he replied. "I don't think she's dangerous."

Aviation Class Inspects Airport

Members of the aviation flight class and of the aircraft and engine class visited Jackson Municipal Airport recently on a field trip, where Bob Neblett, manager of the airport, conducted members on a lecture tour.

After visiting the airport departments, the group was conducted through a Chicago & Southern Constellation, 65-passenger and 5-crew member plane that is used to fly from Chicago to Venezuela, South America. They also went through a DC-3 belonging to Southern airlines.

After visiting the airport proper, they were guests of the U. S. Weather Bureau station located at the airport. Here officials explained all phases of weather reports and weather predictions. From the radio control tower the group then watched as control workers gave instructions to planes taking off and landing.

Aviation Student Makes Flight To Pine Bluff, Ark.

"Was it romance that drew Allison Wade to Pine Bluff, Ark.?" members of the aviation flight instruction class are asking, after Allison returned this week from his first cross-country instruction.

Wade and Mr. Kennis Bryant went on a cross-country, 550-mile flight, to Pine Bluff, Ark., and returned by way of Monroe, La. On the trip Wade put in four of the required five hours of cross-country instruction, Mr. Bryant said, declaring that "Allison really did well at it."

The two worked out their flight schedule before the trip, and their times of arrival at check points were accurately adhered to. Wade will be making the same trip soon, solo, Mr. Bryant said, adding "I think Allison has found a girl up there that's interested in aviation."

An Adopted Slave Boy's Adventures Is Setting of Thomas Costain's Book

By ANNE WALDROP

An adopted son who finds himself a slave in a silversmith's shop instead of ruling in his father's court is the setting for "The Silver Chalice," by Thomas B. Costain.

Basil, adopted son of Ignatius, was sold as a slave after Ignatius' brother claimed that Basil wasn't a legal heir. Basil then worked in a silversmith's shop.

About the time the Christians were being persecuted in Jerusalem, Joseph of Armanetha heard of Basil and had Mark the Physician and the follower of Christ, come to Antioch and buy Basil from the silversmith.

The Chalice, the cup that Christ drank from at the Last Supper, had fallen into the hands of Joseph. He wanted a frame made for the cup, but before he would trust basil with the knowledge of what he was to do, Joseph had him make a picture of himself (Joseph). He was pleased with Basil's work and trusted the boy enough to tell him what his work was to be — the making of the frame for the Chalice.

Aaron, Joseph's son, was not a Christian, and when Joseph became sick, Annanias demanded that Aaron turn the Chalice over to them as soon as his father died, and also the money that was in Aaron's name because Deborah, the daughter was a Christian.

To prevent Aaron from getting the money, Deborah and Basil married and left for Antioch when Joseph died.

After a period of time, Basil went to Rome where he saw Peter, Paul, and John, whose pictures were to be on the frame of the Chalice. In a little while Basil succeeded in making the frame and all the Christians were happy.

This book is one of the best books Costain has written and is accessible in the library for checking out.

"Since I bought a new car, I don't have to walk to the bank to make my deposits."

"Now you drive over?"

"No, I just don't make any."

"Good morning, ma'am. I'm from the gas company. I understand there's something in the house that won't work."

"Yes, he's upstairs."

"I won't get married until I find a girl like the one who married grandpa."

"Huh! They don't make women like that today."

"That's funny. Grandpa only married her yesterday!"

Legionnaires Ask Band, Hi-Steppers To National Meet

Hinds Junior College's Eagle Band and the Hinds Hi-Steppers, girls precision dance and drill corps, have been invited to represent Mississippi in the national American Legion Convention in St. Louis, Mo., August 31-September 3.

The invitation, accepted by Director W. S. Swinney of Hinds, invites the Hinds groups to lead the Mississippi delegation in the parade; and, if Mississippi continues to hold its lead in national membership, possibly the entire national parade.

The parade band and the sparkling girls drill corps will take part in two parades at the convention. On Sunday, August 30, they will be in the 40 et 8 parade kicking off the convention; then they will parade again Tuesday in the national convention parade.

In addition they will stage a number of "lobby shows" to advertise the Mississippi delegation.

The parade band and the Hi-Steppers have won a national reputation during the past two years for their parade shows and half-time football shows.

Catalog Off Press; New Issue Features Student Life Scenes

The Hinds Junior College catalogue is now off the press, according to Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

On the maroon and white cover, is a modernistic design, drawn by Betty Brooks, Hinds art student, depicting school supplies.

The contents of the catalogue is divided into seven divisions, introduced with a full page picture, typical of the section to follow. On the reverse side is a montage of campus activities.

On simulated wove linen paper, the printing is done in Carona with Erbar Bold Linotype face. Pen and ink drawings done by the art department illustrate the campus activities and student personnel.

"This catalogue is a departure from the traditional catalogues of previous years," states Miss Herrin.

HINDS PAPER TAKES FIRST CLASS HONORS IN NATIONAL RATING

The HINDSONIAN, student newspaper of Hinds Junior College, has again won first class in national competitions conducted by the Associated Collegiate Press, according to notification from the A. C. P.

The newspaper scored 855 points out of a possible 1000 in the ratings, which evaluated student papers throughout the country. The "excellent" rating was the fifth such rating the Hinds publication has received in the past six years.

The publication was evaluated on news coverage, balance, vitality, creativeness, and treatment; news writing and editing; headlines, typography, and make-up; and department pages and special features.

Chief criticisms were that the paper had a tendency to stress past events rather than future events and that the paper did not carry enough off-campus news of importance to students.

In every phase of evaluation, though, the judges rated the Hinds paper either "very good" or "excellent."

Have You Planned Your Career?

Are you planning to be a restaurant manager, an accountant, a psychologist, or a secretary? Or do you know what field of business you are suited for? If not, see Mr. Knox Broom and take an occupational test to determine the fields you are best suited for, then follow it up by pursuing the prescribed course of study.

There are hundreds of pamphlets and leaflets on numerous vocations, including jobs in nursing, social welfare, interior decoration, machine shop work, architecture, railroading, metal trades, and medical technology. Those of you who wish to be a mortician, telephone operator, dental hygienist, sales clerk, waiter or waitress, radio operator, theatre manager or ship rigger, should consult booklets dealing with your particular job.

Investigate the opportunities offered in the different fields as described in the pages of the occupational guides. Visit the library and browse through the books concerning job opportunities, then plan your course of study for next year. Any teacher will be glad to help you prepare for your future occupation, so don't hesitate to call on them.

Another Honor Is Added

We've done it again! The HINDSONIAN staff members have helped put the paper in the First Class group of the Associated Collegiate Press evaluation, just another of the many honors to add to Hinds' list.

Last year, one of the biggest eents for staff members was winning the cup for the outstanding junior college paper in the state. For the five years previously, the publication had placed second in the evaluation, and to be first was really a gain.

People who only read the paper for the news content and for laughs (when there are laughs), do not realize what these honors mean to a staff member who has contributed his time and effort to getting the issue out each week. Only those who had the patience to check their beats diligently and earnestly, can truly say they've helped gain the honor. So you who cannot share in this win, at least tell the staff members what a nice job they have done.

40 ADMINISTRATORS ON HINDS CAMPUS FOR CUSTODIAL MEET

Approximately 40 school administrators returned to the role of students Monday, when they convened at Hinds Junior College to study ways of improving janitorial and maintenance services for their institutions.

Hinds, in cooperation with the State Department of Education, is sponsoring a "custodial institute," which opens March 30 and continues through April 2. Twenty school superintendents and business managers from Hinds' five-county area and 20 other administrators from the state-at-large will attend.

"Since it is almost impossible to keep a good janitor, the purpose of this school is to train someone on the administrative staff in care and maintenance of buildings, so that he, in turn, may be in a better position to instruct his janitor in methods and procedures that

East Mississippi Jr. College is proud to claim that one of its own faculty members has had a book published recently. Dr. James Dean, professor of social science and economics, is the author of "Keys That Unlock the Scriptures," a result of more than 20 years of work, and is designed to help readers agree as to what the scriptures teach.

This is not the first book to be published for Dr. Dean, and certainly not the last. His first book was out in 1935 and he is presently working on his third.

'Grow Spiritually' Rev. Oliver Tells Wesleyan Group

As the Easter season approaches, the thoughts of Wesley Foundation members were turned to the Cross and the Resurrection, recently at their weekly meeting. A question-answer program, prepared by Rev. H. B. Oliver, director of the group, led approximately twenty students to contemplate preparation for life after death.

Excerpts from Rev. Oliver's message are as follows:

"Sow an act, reap a habit; sow a habit, reap a character; sow a character, reap a destiny," brings out the fact that what we make of our essential self in this life now, will determine in a large measure what we are in the next.

"Our spiritual lives must be developed now, if we expect to live with a and enjoy God in the next life. The secret growth of our spiritual lives here in this present life is continual association and spiritual food and drink. Jesus said, 'I am the bread of life,' and 'I am the living water.'"

Four HJC Staff Members Attended National Meeting In Dallas, Texas Last Week

Three faculty members of Hinds Junior College accompanied Mr. G. M. McLendon to the national convention of the American Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, held in Dallas, Texas, last week.

The program was divided into four discussion groups — the administration, the curriculum, student personnel, and teacher training — which the Hinds delegates participated in to gain new ideas for HJC.

a music program rather monotonous the other day.

Station staff members were accidentally locked out of the control room while a turntable went round and round playing the same record.

Here's a fad for the books: Female students at the University of Maryland have now begun to wear dog collars over thick bobby socks. The girl wears the leather collar on her left leg if she is pinned, engaged, or in any other "steady" status, and on her right leg if she is singularly single.

Students of Carleton college have compared women to newspapers in this way:

1. They have forms; 2. They have large circulations; 3. A back issue is not in demand; 4. They stack up well; 5. They come in all types; 6. Some can be picked up on street corners; 7. You can't believe half of what they say; 8. They aren't worth much; 9. You should have one of your own and not borrow your neighbor's.

Can anyone do a better job?

There's always something brewing around campuses concerning discrimination. Here's an example:

A Negro couple, both graduate students of Louisiana State University, have had their windows shattered in a recent rock-throwing incident. The couple lives in a campus area called "the hutments."

A University spokesman calls the incident "unfortunate and inexcusable."

He adds that "it was a tribute to the other 6,000 students that only one person saw fit to do such a thing." This is the first time a Negro couple has lived in the hutments.

A problem child was becoming too well-acquainted with the principal's office. One day the principal showed her annoyance. "This makes the fifth time I have punished you this week. What have you to say for yourself?"

"I'm glad it's Friday."

Students Invited To Visit Colleges Of Their Choice

Students who are making plans to continue their education upon graduation here, and who would like to make a visit to their prospective college in Mississippi, should contact Miss Mildred Herin concerning arrangements for the trip.

These trips, which are intended as a student personnel service, are sponsored for the purpose of visiting the deans of the different departments to discuss the course of study, self-help jobs, and other questions the students may have.

Two trips have already been made, to Mississippi State College and Mississippi Southern College, and were termed successful by the students who went.

At the recent convention for junior colleges that Miss Herrin attended in Dallas, Texas, a student from Kolby Junior College in New Hampshire reported on the survey he made on student personnel services. This survey revealed that the students best liked the orientation to senior colleges, and Miss Herin declares, "There is no better way for this orientation than by group visitation."

Library Features Baseball Books As HJC Students Take Up Bat, Ball

By ANNE WALDROP

With warm weather approaching and signs of spring abounding on the campus, the yen for some good baseball enters Hinds students' minds. The library has on display a table with the essential equipment — baseball, bat and gloves — in pictures, suggesting the theme for reading articles and stories about one of the nation's top games.

Some of the books now available include:

Young Razzle written by John R. Tunis is the story of a young boy who left home to play baseball in the big league, as his father had done many years before. He had been brought up to believe that his father was a "no good." Young Razzle has troubles in becoming a big league player and one of the highlights of the story is the reunion of him and his father.

Jackson Volmey Scholtz in Batter Up tells how Marty Shane won the title of one of the greatest baseball batters that was ever known. Marty and his brother own a big league ball club, the Quakers. After Marty returns from overseas he decides to play baseball and joins a ball club, the Bantams, just to prove to his brother that he can be a success. Marty is filled with pride when he is bought by his brother to play for the Quakers.

For fans who know very little about game rules and regulations, Daniel E. Jesser has written Baseball, a book of the fundamentals, told in story form.

The Baseball Story by Frederick G. Lieb is just what its name signifies. A complete and authentic account of the game has been written by Mr. Lieb after his contact with such famous players as Connie Mack, Babe Ruth, and Ty Cobb.

The Kid From Tompkinsville by John R. Tunis tells about Roy Tucker, who, although a newcomer to baseball, pitched the Dodgers right into the World Series. At the end of the season, the Dodgers were in third place, and the last game of the season found them battling with the Giants for first place.

Another of John Tunis' books and a continuation of the above book is The Kid Comes Back, relating further adventures in the career of Roy Tucker. Roy's leg is injured when his company was making a landing in France during the war. After he came back home the doctors finally let him play ball again. His heroic playing, in spite of his lame leg, caused his team, the Dodgers, to win the pennant.

Boteler, Alfredo Handel, and Johnny Durst. Members of the 2nd T-Th group were Ramon Lott, Billy Stennett, Billy Dungan, Anhuar Canahuati, Mike Canahuati, and Carlos Zacarias.

Bob Harleston and Freddy Smith served as officials.

The Kid Who Batted 1,000 by Bob Allison and Frank Ernest Hill is the story of how another baseball player came to be famous. After getting 299 walks, Dave King knocks a home run to bring his ball club the winning pennant.

In Pitchers' Duel Clair Bee tells how Chip Hilton, in his senior year at high school pitched his team to the finals where they won the championship. The day that Chip became "mayor" for 24 hours has the big officials' faces turning red.

These books are just a few of the collection in the campus library. There are stories such as, Play Ball, Son, Bert V. Dunne; Strike-out Story, Robert W. A. Teller; Big Stretch, Duane W. Decker; Shotgun Shaw, Harold Keith; and Jackie Robinson, My Own Story, John Roosevelt (Jackie) Robinson.

Library Expands Into Old Offices; Accents Vocations

The library quarters have recently been expanded to include what were formerly the offices of the president and of his secretary. An open double doorway now connects the library with these offices and all books and pamphlets in the section classified as 300 are housed in these rooms. This class includes all material, books and otherwise, on sociology, statistics, political science, economics, law, public administration, commerce, etiquette and customs, and vocations.

Special emphasis will be placed on vocations with books, pamphlets, and other material on this subject occupying one entire side of the room. Two vertical files have been added for filing and making convenient for use the pamphlet material on vocations.

New books on the subject are being catalogued for addition to the shelves, and a great deal of pamphlet material on the subject, including that published by the federal government, has been acquired. New material on the subject will be added continually.

50 Actors Needed For New Movie; Talent Scouts To Visit Campus Soon

Two talent scouts from the Republic Studios of Culver City, Calif., will be on the Hinds campus next Thursday, April 9, to interview students for roles in the studio's forthcoming movie, The River Is Home, written by a former student, Pat Smith.

According to the scouts, Mr. J. S. Macwelden and Mr. T. A. Johnson, the movie will be filmed in Vicksburg on the Mississippi River, and the cast calls for approximately 50 men and women. Of this number, 12 will be leading roles and fill-in parts will go to the citizens of Vicksburg.

Letters already have been sent to three Hinds students requesting them to try-out for, the role of bus driver. They are Bob Harleston, Bill Toles, and Billy Langston.

Production will begin May 16 and those who qualify for the roles must be at the Mississippi River Bridge at 4:00 a. m.

All actors and actresses will stay at Hinds during the entire filming and will be transported to and from Vicksburg each day, except when filming is done during the night. HJC students will receive $400 each for the eight week production time, plus free room and board. Lunches, however, will not be provided, but can be bought at Vicksburg at nominal rates.

Those not receiving a leading role will be used, in addition to their assigned parts, as stage boys, water boys, Indians, horsemen, life-guards, bathing beauties, and as part of the crowds that will appear throughout the movie. Also many of the girls will be requested to work with the departments of advertising, costume making, and make-up.

Frank Polk, president of the Lendon Players and cousin of Humphrey Bogart, has written the famous screen star to personally coach the actors.

Director and producer of the film will be Cecil B. De Mille, and Pat Smith. Perc Westmore will handle the make-up.

Prince Chosen Over 500 To Address Joint Congress; Will Vacation In Bermuda

Tommy Prince, Hinds student, has been selected out of 500 college men, to address the joint session of Congress, May 12, on "Corruption in Government," Congresswoman Marta Hayes, chairman of the committee, reports.

The HJC student was unanimously selected by the committee after they heard a tape recording of one of his I. R. C. programs. The recording was made without his knowledge and forwarded by Mr. J. R. Harris to Congresswoman Hayes in Washington, D. C.

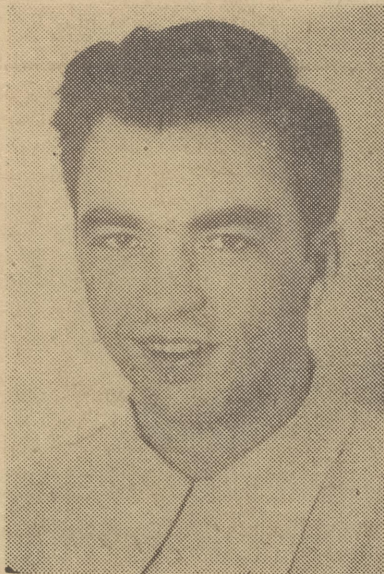

Tommy was notified by telephone that he was chosen speaker, and when he heard the news, he exclaimed, "My word!"

The winner will be flown to Washington in a sabre jet, which will take only 30 minutes flying time. After his speech he will be flown to the Bermuda Islands for a four weeks vacation.

When last seen, Ferguson was wearing red sneakers, a fuscia checked shirt, and carrying a black umbrella. He was last spotted in a Seattle, Washington bar by the bartender, who immediately contacted the state police.

While the manhunt is on, Robert's three wives are in individual cells in Jackson, to prevent any murder among them. When Sheriff Robinson last saw the outraged women, all they said was, "He's mine! He's mine!"

At Hinds, Robert was an outstanding student and former co-editor of the HINDSONIAN. Before he escaped Sunday, he was attending Mississippi State College.

Student Selected To Play 'Flatop' In Tracy Movie

A notorious Hinds student, William "Flatop" Toles, has been selected as "The sharpest article on the HJC campus," by John Robert Powers, famous beauty and style expert.

Mr. Powers, in a surprise visit to the campus last week, in search of Hollywit talent, explained that he had decided to film the life of Dick Tracy and was looking for someone to play the part of "Flatop." Mr. Powers, in an interview with the Hindsorian, declared that, "Never in all my vast experience have I seen such a haircut as young Toles is so bravely sporting." Those who say the American boy is losing his courage, has only to look at this extra red-blooded kid for a renewal of faith. "Gadzooks," he exclaimed, "I just can't get over it."

As the Hindsorian goes to press, news has just been received that Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus is also frantically trying to reach Toles. We don't know what for.

Asked by a Hindsorian reporter to comment on his good fortune, William replied, "Duuuhhhh."

$2500 Awarded To Campus Group

For outstanding achievement in 4-H work, the Raymond 4-H Clubs of the college and consolidated school will be presented with a 25000 dollar check at the Hinds County Rally Friday. The Southern Oil Company is giving the money to the clubs to pay for an educational trip through the northwestern states. Officers of the clubs will make the tour, leaving Raymond, May 25. Since some officers will be unable to make the trip, part of the fund will go to a banquet the latter part of April. Barbara Brummett, who is in charge of the singing, will be unable to make the tour because of her recent engagement to a Georgia fellow, so Joy Zeringue of the consolidated school will take her place on the tour. Joy and Peggy Stubbs have been asked to take some coops of chickens to the newly organized 4-H national camp at Seattle, Washington.

The pool will be constructed behind the Westside dormitory, and will have two both houses, a refreshment stand, and a patio for outdoor dancing. The pool will be completely tiled to insure safety.

Welcome, Seniors!

Welcome, high school visitors, to Hinds Junior College! We of HJC hope you find the type of school you are looking for right here in Raymond. We are proud of Hinds and the opportunities and advantages we have received here. We pay only a small tuition, which includes room and board, and follow our selected course of study.

Certainly we don't study all the time; we have a lot of fun, too. The Student-Faculty Council, which is only two years old, schedules parties throughout the year; then there are club and class parties and picnics. Between classes or after school the Eagle's Nest is open if we yearn for a coke, a malt, a hamburger a la HJC, or just to gab with our friends.

Educational trips to Whitfield, the Oakley Training School, and other institutions are planned by the psychology and sociology classes. If you take zoology or botany, you may take nature trips to study bugs, trees, and bear-tracks.

To take our mind off studying, there are opportunities to join clubs, which meet once a week, giving you a chance to join several. Many of these activities are helpful to your selected career, for instance: the Future Teachers of America, the Art Club, the International Relations Club, the campus newspaper, the band, and the chorus or a capella choir. Also you can participate in dramatics, the Y. W. or Y. M. C. A., the Hi-Steppers (for girls, only), the Gavaliers, or the Modern Language Club.

If you find you'll need to work part of your tuition off, you may apply for a work scholarship, and all attention will be given to your application.

One thing you'll like, and that is our semester system. The school work is divided into two semesters with 18 weeks to each semester; these weeks are sub-divided into six weeks. Every six weeks the tests come, and at the end of 18 completed weeks, there is an examination. This system works very well, and does not tax the mind so much as yearly examinations. Once you have taken your exam, you start on new material and at the end of the next 18 weeks, you only take an exam on the work you have studied during that period, and do not have to be re-examined on the work the weeks before.

There will be a counselor when you register in September, to help you plan your course of study. If you have no idea as to a career, you can take a general course until you decide. If you do know what you want to be, you can follow the guides in the catalogue and the suggestions from your counselor. Here in a small school you receive guidance and interest from your teachers, who are eager to help you plan good study habits. You'll always find a classmate who will help you with your math or English problem.

Upon graduation from Hinds, you will be well prepared to continue your schooling in a senior college or in pursuing a job in the business world. With its high rating, Hinds will always be a good recommendation for you. Attend school here and find out.

—Wadsworth.

The Sophian, Smith college, Mass., made a thorough investigation of the school's honor system last month and found that it has one big loophole: Few students care to tattle on their friends.

About two-thirds of the students polled thought it was better to talk things over with a violator of the honor system than to report her.

Declared the Sophian: "Children and adults are leary of 'informing.' It is not just a characteristic of the anti-stool pigeon underworld. Particularly when telling concerns an act which involved only the person doing it, people dislike reporting another individual.

"... When something in a system, such as double reporting, it undermines the whole thing." The Sophian advocated the dropping of the "tattle" system and the encouraging of students to report themselves voluntarily.

A Texas paper claims it has "found" the ideal professor. He is: One who can laugh with his class; a guy who has a sense of humor and uses it in the classroom.

A well-prepared lecturer who thoroughly understands his subject.

A friendly, enthusiastic person who is really interested in his class and who is aware that ideas contrary to his own may be just as sound.

One who does not use the curve system of grading, but rather rates each individual on effort as well as achievement.

Hinds To Be Host To Magnolia State Scheduled May 30

Hinds Junior College will be host to Magnolia Boys' State, annual citizenship training camp, here May 30-June 6, according to John Virden, director of the American Legion sponsored affair.

Approximately 40 posts have already indicated that they plan to send delegates to Boys State this year. With the group meeting at Hinds space will be available for approximately 350 boys, rather than the 200 it was possible to accommodate in previous years.

The young citizens direct state, county, and municipal government by electing their own officers while at Boys' State. The boys are divided into two parties, usually known as the Federalists and the Nationalists. Upon arrival each citizen is assigned to one of the political parties, a county, and a city. Each boy runs for the office to which he aspires.

Sworn in by a member of the State Supreme Court or some state official, the junior official is shown the same respect that his office demands in a life situation. The conventions, caucuses and elections conform to the actual procedure in state government and the political sub-divisions.

Air Safety Clinic At Hinds Airport Draws 100 Pilots

Hinds Junior College joined the Civil Aeronautics Administration and the Mississippi Aeronautical Commission in staging the nation's first air safety clinic for private pilots last week. The clinic was held at the school's John Bell Williams Airport and drew over 100 pilots and 36 airplanes.

Private pilots were given an evaluation of their flight techniques with suggestions for eliminating safety flaws. They were also given a "tip sheet" evaluating their airplanes and suggesting preventive maintenance and repairs. As a final phase of the clinic, CAA and U. S. Weather Bureau officials gave lectures on up-to-date flight aids now available to private pilots, such as radio facilities and weather reports.

The clinic was sponsored by the CAA and the MAC with Hinds acting as host for the meeting. It was attended by CAA officials from Atlanta who came to study the program with the view of staging similar clinics in other states.

GI In Korea Lauds Hinds Democracy, Says School Example for Free World

What are Americans and the United Nations troops fighting for in Korea? That question was given a partial answer this week in a letter from an Army private in Korea, who read the recent story "The Long Road from Korea" reprinted in the Army newspaper, Pacific Stars and Stripes, from the feature section of the Times Picayune.

The letter, from William D. Perkins was as follows:

Dear Sir:

Having read a recent article in the Korean edition of the Stars and Stripes concerning your fine institution, it is with great pride as an American citizen and also as a member of the United Nations fighting forces in Korea, that I write this letter. By your acceptance of the young Korean lad, Hyun Kui Lee, into your homes and your fine college, you have extended the hand of democracy to all the free peoples of the world. You have challenged all those who have entertained doubts as to the liberality and integrity of Southern institutions.

I am desirous of reentering college upon relief from active duty in the United States Army in September, 1953. I have many relatives and friends living in the vicinity of Jackson, and it is their desire that I continue my education there. They have said - I, being Northern born and reared, have never experienced anything like "Southern Hospitality." I would sincerely appreciate any information as to the procedures for gaining admittance to Hinds Junior College.

I am certain that I speak for many thousands of men fighting under the flags of America and the United Nations when I say, "We are proud of you, Hinds Junior College. You are an example of our purpose in Korea today. You make us proud to be American citizens."

I would consider it an honor to be a student at Hinds Junior College. You are fighting for democracy at home, just as I am in Korea. The eyes and ears of the world are on you.

Admirably yours,
William D. Perkins

Frank Polk Named 2nd Vice-President Of State Y.M.C.A.

Frank Polk, Hinds freshman, has been named as second vice-president of the Mississippi Y. M. C. A. for the coming year, as results of elections held at the "Y" conference in Castalian Springs last weekend.

At the conference, Vivian Wadsworth, second vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. for 1952-53, served as co-chairman of the weekend meeting along with Billy Champion, former Hinds student now attending Mississippi State College, president of the Y. M. C. A.

"Why the 'Y'" was the theme of the meeting, which drew representatives from nine junior and senior colleges in the state.

Harold B. "Pete" Ingalls, whose addresses were the highlight of each program, was the guest speaker for the three days. Also included in the program were group and panel discussions, workshop meetings, worship and group singing, and recreation.

New officers for next year for both "Y's" include:

Jimmy Ewing, Co-Lin, and Patricia Colmer, Perkinston, president Sidney Everett, State College, and Joyce Morton, M. S. C. W., first vice-president; Frank Polk, Hinds, and Betty Jo Powell, Millsaps, second vice-president; Ed Williford, Ole Miss, and Imogene Sones, Co-Lin, secretary-treasurer. This is the third such honor Cobb has won during his scholastic career. He served as president of his class in high school at Louise for three years and as president of the school Beta Club. He was also elected "Mr. Louise High" by his fellow students.

At Hinds he was president of the International Relations Club, sports editor of the HINDSONIAN, and Mr. Hinds Junior College.

At Delta State he has worked with H. L. Nowell in publicizing the college, assisted Wig Reiley in planning the college's intramural program, and has served as boys' athletic editor of the BROOM.

Hinds High School Athletes Receive Jackets For First Time In 1953

For the first time in history, Hinds High School is awarding jackets in athletics, Coach Louis Boteler reports. Awarding of the jackets was authorized by President G. M. McLendon this week, he said.

The jackets will be awarded for participation in football, basketball, track and field, Coach Boteler said.

Proceeds Of Ball Game Will Help Send Delegates To Y-Teen Conference

With proceeds of $20 made from the ball game held recently, the Y-Teen Club announces that this money will help finance two delegates to the Mid-South Y-Teen Conference at Gulf Park College in June.

Members of the Y-Teens wish to express their appreciation to every one who participated in the ballgame, held between the faculties of Hinds and the Raymond Consolidated school.

The club will have their annual overnight camp at the lodge at Raymond Lake on May 8.

After-Supper Recreation To Feature Girls Softball

Girls' softball is played every night after supper, Mrs. L. K. Clark announces. Betty Brooks is in charge of the equipment and arrangements, so anyone interested in playing should contact her.

Requirements for winning the jackets were set up as follows:

Football and Basketball

Any student making the first string in football or basketball will be eligible for a jacket. The term "first string" to mean those who take part in and play a leading role in half or more of the scheduled conference games.

Others than first string:

Any Raymond Consolidated School graduate who has gone out for football or basketball for three years consecutively will be given a jacket on completion of his participation during his senior year.

Any Bolton student who has gone out for two years consecutively will be given a jacket upon completion of his participation in football or basketball when he first enrolls in Hinds High in either the 10th or 11th grade, and serves for three years if in the 10th or two in the 11th will be eligible for a jacket. Those enrolling as seniors may earn a jacket by participating in all varsity sports during their senior year.

The same requirements listed above apply for girls seeking jackets in basketball.

Track and Field

Winning of a first place in Class B-BB competitions makes a student eligible for a jacket.

Managers

A student must serve as manager for two consecutive years in all boys or girls sports to be eligible for a jacket.

Further Awards

A student may not win more than one jacket. However, further participation and achievement will be recognized and rewarded by the giving of stripes and emblems of the sports in which the student has met qualifications for an additional jacket.

Unpleasant Answers About Draft

Editors of Student Life, Washington University, Mo., asked a Selective Service official last month some jackpot questions about the draft—and got some unpleasant answers.

The officer was Lt. Col. Irving W. Hart, chief information officer for Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the U. S. Selective Service System.

Question: Is any change likely to be necessary in the student deferment policy?

Answer: "Nearly all eligible men in the older age group have already been inducted and we are now starting to take 19-year-olds in many states. The manpower supply is running short. We cannot, therefore, afford to be as liberal with student deferments in the future as we have in the past."

Question: If drafting of students is found necessary, what consideration, if any, will be given students who are married or are fathers?

Answer: "Under current regulations a student who is drafted at the end of an academic year receives no consideration for deferment on account of a wife . . . Under current regulations fathers cannot be inducted."

Question: Is any change likely to be made in the policy of deferring students enrolled in Reserve Officer Training Corps units?

Answer: "Students enrolled in ROTC units are deferred by law . . . ?"

Question: Speculation has been that if the need for draftees increases, the government will be forced to begin drafting students or fathers. Which group is likely to be called upon first?

Answer: "The office has no way of knowing . . ."

Question: How many men are now being drafted and what change in the number is likely?

Answer: ". . . The secretary of defense has announced publicly that he expects to call approximately 50,000 men per month for the balance of the fiscal year. Should it be decided to increase the size of the monthly calls, that decision will be made by the department of defense."

Question: How many students are now being deferred on the basis of the Selective Service Qualification test and on ROTC enrollment?

Answer: "On December 1, 1952, Selective Service had deferred approximately 185,000 college students on the basis of class standing or test scores, while upward to 330,000 ROTC students were deferred . . . In addition, there were many more students who had not yet reached the age of liability (18 1/2) or who were rejected for service."

Old Enough to Fight . . .

From time to time the question of lowering the voting age to 18 comes up for discussion . . . So far only one of the 48 states—Georgia—has taken this step, which places several thousand new voters on the books.

The idea has wide superficial appeal. The most popular argument in its favor is that anyone old enough to fight for his country is old enough to vote—a high sounding, though not necessarily logical deduction.

If we were forced by a manpower shortage to start drafting 16 and 17-year-olds, as some countries did in World War II, would that argument still hold true?

What about the girls? They aren't drafted at 18. Shall we tell them to come back in three years or just throw them in as a bonus?

The eligibility to vote boils itself down to the question of whether or not a person is able to exercise this right in a wise and intelligent manner. The average 18-year-old is still in high school, usually his last year. He is about to graduate from America's greatest training ground in democracy—the public school.

Many of these youngsters are serious-minded and mature beyond their years, but the majority, as we all know, are rather carefree and limit their profound thoughts and observations for the class room.

Since their teachers' interpretations exert a great deal of influence on their thinking, most of their ideas are formulated in the class room. But again, the class room should be a training ground for citizenship, not a final test.

There should be a period when these academic ideas have time to fall into their proper relation to actual conditions, a period of crystallization, or adjustment to reality as opposed to theory.

We all see big changes in our attitudes and our beliefs since we left high school. Some of them we recognize as juvenile . . .

Around the

Collegiate Loop

By Vivian Wadsworth

High Standards . . .

You have to know how to write if you want to graduate from Michigan State college. A new ruling there states that seniors can't graduate until their "writing technique is improved to a point where they can write legibly."

Currently 418 students are enrolled in a non-credit writing course, designed to improve literacy among future degree holders. MSC officials have said nothing thus far about any reading requirements.

From the "Pitt News," University of Pittsburgh:

Every year some talk of cheating comes up. In the last issue of the Panther (Pitts magazine) there was an article on cheating as seen here at Pitt.

. . . The basic conclusion reached was that the student is to blame for cheating. The article then implied that it's the teacher who should change his ways.

This may be one way of reducing cheating. However, I'd like to stop one moment and pity the poor instructor and not excuse the student so quickly.

Assuming that all students have no sense of honor or integrity (and many of them do), the teacher could attempt to forcibly reform them. He could bring in a few paid proctors and . . . carefully watch each student . . . Then, this, say many, is the only solution.

They claim this in spite of the fact that the honest student may resent such action. Furthermore, many professors are trying to instill faith in students by trusting in them.

For a teacher to make up a new exam for every section in hope of hampering cheaters, is a big undertaking — remembering that he usually has three, four or five sections to handle.

First of all, time is not available. Many lecturers and instructors have to hold other jobs outside the University to support a family and continue teaching. A young instructor one jump away from his Ph.D., teaching four sections of a course, working on a second job evenings and making only $2600, has little time — to sit up nights and make up four different exams.

In addition, most of them don't have the services of a secretary and must type up and run off all their own exams.

If a teacher gives an essay test, the glib student can write smoothly at great length with little true knowledge of the subject. The one with less writing ability then suffers.

An objective test gives the student a better chance to show his knowledge of facts, but at the same time gives the cheater a fine opportunity and doesn't allow the thinker to interpret and correlate what he's learned.

(Teachers) are pursuing an honorable profession and deserve in return honorable cooperation from their students here by choice, not force.

The source of the cheating problems is in the students. We can't throw that blame off quite so easily.

Leaving the protection of home and class room, we find ourselves reassessing, taking a new account.

I'm sure that the people advocating the 18-year-old vote are guided largely by their conscience and their intentions are the very best.

But issues are easily confused when viewed in the light and the shadow of war, valor and death. It is therefore doubly important that the issues be lifted out, carefully scrutinized and evaluated on their own merits.

IN THE HINDS LIBRARY

Two New Novels in Hinds Library Deal With Southern Folk, Scenes

By ANNE WALDROP

One of the newest books in the Hinds library is "Whistle, Daughter, Whistle," a humorous story written by Herbert Best.

Gramma Truttle makes her neighbors do as she wants them to do, and always entertains them with such tales as her scalping an Indian.

Her granddaughter, Shirzy, comes to live with her because Shirzy's parents caught her kissing a boy and thought that sending her to her grandmother's would be cruel punishment. But Shirzy finds a truer friend in her grandmother's mother.

A distant relative, Martin Tanes, comes to stay with Gramma Truttle and falls in love with Shirzy.

When Martin and Shirzy get married, it takes Gramma to handle the situation, which moves at an amusing pace.

This book is only for those who enjoy humor.

HELEN TEMPLETON'S DAUGHTER

Here again is another story of a family in the Mississippi delta, written by a Southern writer.

"Helen Templeton's Daughter," by Louise Eskriggs Crump, is about Ann Templeton, who had been away several years in Chicago studying painting. She had never liked the delta and by going away, she hoped to break all ties with that section.

Ann's grandfather called her home because of her grandmother's serious illness, and soon Ann became the manager of Fall Leaf Plantation. Unless the plantation flourished, it would have to be put up for sale.

Shortly after Ann's arrival, Michael Donahoe came back to the Delta to live. In him Ann found a loyal friend who stood by her through all the troubles with the negroes and the sick cows.

Once the crop was harvested, Ann declared she would go back to Chicago, but Michael changed her mind, and she married him to settle down in the Delta.

Any Mississippian will enjoy this story, with its rich description of his native state, as well as others who just like good books.

Hinds Yearbook Placed on Sale; Extras Available

Hinds Junior College's yearbook, the Eagle went on sale here Wednesday afternoon, and Mr. T. T. Beemon, sponsor, reports that "a few" extra copies were ordered and will be disposed of on a "first come" basis.

Members of the yearbook staff dedicated the volume this year to Mr. Beemon. The annual is divided into seven sections — faculty, administration, clubs, athletics, and advertisements — Mr. Beemon reported. Snapshots have been scattered through the advertisement section. On duotone paper, the pictures in many cases have reproduced much better than previously, he said. The design this year for the cover features the name in a silver block under the school eagle. The book cover is maroon and white.

And So, '30'

This issue of the Hindsonian concludes another year of writing for you, students and faculty, for whom we especially printed each edition. Bound together, the papers are a history book, relating the progress, achievements, and adventures that have happened on the Hinds Junior College campus during the 1952-53 session.

No scrap book, photograph album, or publicity clippings can better tell about Hinds than these papers. In each issue there has been a sincere effort to cover all the news that was being "made" on the campus — that is, important news. If you have kept each edition, you will have a year's history of Hinds that you can always refer to, and memories you can always recall.

With sighs of relief we staff members say, "Thank goodness, this is the last one." But, in reality we are sorry we cannot serve you anymore. Of course, there were times we were unable to attend activities scheduled on Tuesday nights (our work nights), but looking back over the year, we don't regret it too much, for our work was made easier when you complimented us on the paper.

With the final reading of this issue let me say, "and so 30," with sincere hope that next year the staff members will have less trouble than we had, and that they can serve you and other students who will enroll at Hinds better.

—Wadsworth.

Sophomore Privileges

If you see a certain "air" about sophomore girls that hasn't been present before now, and if you hear a boy making a date for a movie, don't be alarmed. No one is breaking any rules, for the sophomores are making use of their new privileges. For two years sophomore girls have looked forward to the time when they would have the legal right to keep their lights on longer than usual; of going to town anytime they were free; of attending a movie; of going to Jackson; and walking out to the lake.

In a sense, boys will be enjoying these liberties, for they will be able to accompany the girls to the movies, and socialize with them for a longer time.

One thing we sophomores must remember, and that is to adhere to all rules, not to abuse them, lest they be taken away. It takes only one girl to "mess up the works" for the rest, so don't think the rules are elastic and can stretch to cover anything.

This year our rules are more advanced than they have ever been, and it is all through the efforts of girls who have come before us. They realized that their actions would affect girls in the future, and faithfully stuck close to their liberties. This is what we must do, so the freshman girls this year will have even better privileges next year.

To you senior girls: Perhaps you think you are being slighted on your liberties, but take it in stride, for when you become a sophomore here, you'll want to wear the dignified airs, too.

—Wadsworth.

Around the

Collegiate Loop

By Vivian Wadsworth

Here are five commandments for freshmen, as imagined by the Daily Californian, University of California:

No high school paraphernalia will be tolerated, and thou shalt not bluster ostentatiously about childhood achievements.

Thou shalt religiously pack as much wood to all rallies as any puny muscles can uphold.

Thou shalt not pose as a "Big Man on Campus."

Thou shalt learn that saddles, levis and such do not constitute the proper full dress and should be worn only at brawls.

Thou shalt live in most reverential awe and undiluted admiration of thy superiors, the all-powerful class of 1955.

The Texas state senate threw Texas A & M into an uproar this month when it passed a resolution to make the school co-educational. It's been all-male for 75 years.

A & M President T. H. Harrington declared, "I am convinced there is . . . an important place in the Texas higher educational system to be filled by a strong technical senior college for men only . . . Such colleges as Harvard, Princeton and Yale have operated quite successfully for a number of years as dormitory schools for men."

The alumni are also against the move. "It would ruin A & M," said one alumni. "It just wouldn't be the same school. The spirit would decline, although the extra-curricular activities would be interesting."

Asked by a reporter if the sight of pretty coeds in the Aggie cheering section wouldn't inspire the team, an alum snapped back, "We can yell all right without any—girls to lead us."

FRANCE: FOOR LODGINGS . . .

The lodging committee of the Paris student community, fed up with student housing conditions, is distributing a film short to Paris movie houses showing the conditions under which 5,000 students have to live.

The committee hopes the film will arouse public interest in student housing conditions. Many students in Paris have no room of their own and others are living in unhealthful quarters.

ENGLAND: LONG HIKE . . .

Two students walked 60 miles in 12 hours, from London to Cambridge, and arrived just in time to keep a date with a girl from Girton college.

A State 'Withers' Away . . .

Students at Hillsdale College, Michigan, find themselves with no student government — and it's their own fault.

Voting on a double-ballot, students repealed the old government constitution then failed to pass a new one. As a result, "a state of nature exists on this campus," according to the Hillsdale Collegian.

All activities under student government sponsorship, points out the Collegian, have automatically ceased to exist. The activities include the paper. Commented one student leader, "We've committed political suicide."

Dull And Soporific . . .

"College," complained Henry W. Wriston, president of Brown University, R. I., "is not only dull but often soporific . . . and most text books are hardly worth reading. If they are not barren of ideas, they are impoverished . . ."

Last month Wriston announced plans to brighten things up at Brown. An experimental curriculum for freshmen and sophomores will be launched next fall. Students will have no regular lectures and will not use textbooks. They will spend their time "tracking down ideas."

"The emphasis will be upon discussion, not lecturing," said a university official; "on analyzing, not memorizing . . ." The experiment will be open only to volunteers from the top half of the freshman and sophomore classes.

Three Lemons At North Carolina

Life at a North Carolina State College fraternity house changed abruptly from cherries to three straight lemons recently when police confiscated a nickel slot machine in the basement.

A student operating the machine was convicted and made to pay court costs. The alumni group which owns the fraternity house was soaked $50. Everyone else was acquitted, except the slot machine, which was junked by court order.

Could Be Serious . . .

Readers of the University of Cincinnati Record got a shock recently from the headline, "Dr. Altemeier Gets Chair." It turned out to be the Christian R. Holmes Chair of Surgery at UC.

Keep It Public . . .

The era of hotel room parties has ended at Ohio State University. Officials have banned the use of hotel rooms by students for private group parties.

Violation of the rule will mean a minimum fine of $25. Under the new ruling, student social functions "may be held only in public rooms." A social function is described as "all dances, parties and entertainment of any nature where both men and women are present."

The Columbus Hotel Managers' association says the rule's a good one and promises to help enforce it.

60 HJC Students See Court System, Hear Dignitaries

Sixty business law and government students from Hinds Junior College with Mr. J. R. Harris, sponsor, made a tour of the state judicial department in Jackson from 9:00-4:30 Thursday, April 23.

The purpose of the tour was to familiarize the students with the judiciary system of Mississippi and to see it in action.

Governor Hugh White, Judge Harvey McGehee, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Secretary of State Heber Ladner, and State Commissioner of Agriculture S. E. Corley welcomed the group to the capitol building.

Judge Fred J. Lotterhos, justice of the Supreme Court, spoke to the group in the Supreme Court Room. His topic was "The Organization and Function of the Regular and Special Courts of Mississippi." He placed special emphasis on the duties of the justice of peace and the function of the Supreme Court.

Mr. P. H. Eason, of the State Tax Commission, discussed the various taxes and incomes of the state with the students.

Information about "Present School Facilities and Future Problems of Education in Mississippi," was provided by Mr. Tom H. Naylor, of the State Department of Education.

Early in the afternoon Mr. Hermon Adams, mayor of Raymond and attorney at law, talked about the various courts and explained the functions of the circuit, chancery, and county courts. He emphasized the court procedures and the jury system. He then conducted a tour of the county jail.

The students were welcomed by Sheriff Carroll Robinson and Deputy Moore to the Hinds County Courthouse in Jackson.

The group then toured the new Jackson Municipal Court Building, observing the jail and administrative departments. The students attended the Municipal Court, presided over by Judge Noble. The prosecuting attorney was Mr. Leon Hendrick.

Other points of interest were the museum, State Senate, House of Representatives, State Library, and the Woolfolk State Office Building.

The tours were directed by Mrs. Echols, receptionist of the State Office Building and New Capitol.

According to Mr. Harris, "The trip was profitable and worthwhile to all that participated. Many of the students saw things that they never would have seen in their life, or taken time to visit. The tour is an educational event which all citizens should experience."

Phi Theta Kappas 'Bust' on Jaunt; Gas Is Cheaper in Lone Star State

By BOBBY TROTTER

"Texas or Bust" was the motto of five Hinds Phi Theta Kappa members and their sponsor as they headed toward San Antonio for the national convention April 23-25. "Bust" it was for the delegation, as their car ran out of gasoline a mile on the Louisiana side of Texas. (Texas has a lower gas tax). The trip wasn't all like this, however, for national convention was held during San Antonio's famous Fiesta Week, and the Hinds group joined in the celebration like native Texans.

Fiesta Week is San Antonio's answer to the New Orleans Mardi Gras and the Memphis Cotton Carnival. The week of celebration honors Crockett, Travis, Bowie, Bonham and the rest of the 180 odd men who fought until death in the defense of the Alamo.

LOST

From the girls' day room, one white sweater with two letters, a band letter and a basketball letter. If anyone knows the whereabouts of this sweater, please notify Jackie Andrews.

Some of the week's activities included a band festival, the Battle of Flowers Parade, a Mexican supper at Brackenridge Park, a tour of the city, a banquet and formal dance, and a barbecue at San Antonio College, which was host to the convention.

During their stay the Hinds group saw the Chinese Sunken Gardens and some of San Antonio's ancient missions, in addition to the Alamo and the Alamo Museum.

All was not sightseeing, however, for there were business meetings to attend. Joree Brown of Hinds missed by only a few votes being elected national historian.

Others making the trip besides Joree included John Durst, Lawrence Cheatman, Billy English, Bobby Trotter and Miss Mildred Herrin, co-sponsor of Gamma Lambda Chapter.

Rees, Franciskato Wedding Slated In Jackson Church

Two former Hinds Junior College students, Shirley Ann Rees and Jerry Franciskato, will be married at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Jackson, June 6.

Miss Rees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Rees of Kickapoo Road, Clinton, attended Clinton High School before coming to Hinds. While she was here, she was a member of the Dramatic Club, the B. S. U., the chorus, and the C. Y. O. She is at present employed by the Vestal and Vernon Insurance Agency in Jackson.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Franciskato of Atlanta, Ga., Jerry graduated from Oak Ridge High School, Oak Ridge, Tenn. While attending HJC, he participated in the band, the Boys' Quartet, the Glee Club, the Dance Band, basketball, and served as football manager. At present he is attending evening classes at the University of Georgia where he will graduate in January. He is also employed at Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, in Marietta, Ga., where he is a structural inspector in quality control.

Miss Rees has chosen her sister, Mayme, as maid of honor, and Betty May and Alice Raney will serve as bridesmaids. Tom Franciskato will serve his brother as best man.

Following the wedding, a reception will be held in the home of the bride's parents.

All friends of the bride and groom are cordially invited to the wedding ceremony.

Dormitory Residents Asked to 'Clean Out'

Residents of boys dormitories are being asked to clean out all possessions in their room at the close of school, Dean A. L. Denton announces. Even though students are planning to attend summer school, it will be necessary that they vacate the rooms, he said, since Hinds will be host to 350 boys attending Boys' State here May 30-June 6, and the rooms will be needed.

Hinds Track Girls Ready for Finals At Clinton Friday

Hinds High's girls track team, after placing in the South Mississippi track and field events at Brookhaven, is preparing for the state finals to be held at Clinton, Friday, May 8.

Under the coaching of Louis Boteler, the squad includes Mary Will McKenzie and Martha Gillespie, veterans of last year's squad; Frances Bray; and Louise Varner. Coach Boteler reported that Bray and Varner, although newcomers to the squad this year, have strengthened it in several respects. Bray has given the team some depth in the broadjump competitions, while Varner has pushed contestants in the baseball throw.

Wesley McFarland of the Hinds boys squad will also be competing in the event at Clinton in the running broadjump. At Brookhaven he placed third in the contest. Boteler expressed his regret that McFarland has competed in no other sports than track this year, declaring that he would have been one of the high school "greats" if he had. This is McFarland's first year in track competitions.

In the Brookhaven competitions, the Hinds High girls placed second in the 200 and third in the 300 yard relays.
